CONGRATULATING HON. MORTON WITKIN

Mr. BLUMBERG offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, April 25, 1935.

To have arrived at the age of 40 years is not necessarily an outstanding accomplishment;

But when, within that brief span is crowded service with the armed forces of his country in the late war, and ten years active service within these Halls, it is indicated that the mature existence of such a man has not been inactive.

A leader of the party of his choice during the period when that party dictated the policies of this Commonwealth. even greater as the fighting spearhead of the minority, keen of perception, quick of thought, incisive of speech, courageous in attack or defense, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania congratulate the Honorable Morton Witkin on this his birthday, and be it further

Resolved, That the good wishes of this body go with him over the long broad highway of success, which so obviously lies before him.

GIFT PRESENTED TO HON. MORTON WITKIN

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the year eighteen hundred and ninety-five was conspicuous for three events: the first was the assassination of the Bulgarian premier; the second the Cuban revolution, and the third the birth of Mort Witkin. Whether or not the latter had any bearing upon the other two is an open question which I submit to the House.

Mort Witkin upon passing through the early stages in the kindergarten, attended the local schools in Philadelphia, where it was necessary to burn down the school building to get him out of the seventh grade. After doing that he proceeded to the University of Pennsylvania, where he became famous as a member of the debating team. That team's most outstanding combat was with the members of the Deaf and Dumb Institute of Philadelphia from which the famous Mort Witkin emerged with glorious colors flying. After graduating from law school, he was admitted to the bar and has become one of Philadelphia's really prominent lawyers.

Today he is forty years of age and in those forty years I think you will agree with me that there has been crowded much work, labor and success and because forty years is not far removed from fifty—which is the brow of the hill—we the members of the Republican caucus have decided that we would mark this event in some fitting and appropriate style.

The Republican members of the House would like to have Mort remember this day not only because it is his birthday, but also because it is his birthday in a year in which he has served his party so well.

You of the Democratic side of the House admire a good Democrat and we admire you for admiring a good Democrat, and we of the Republican side of the House admire a good Republican and we feel sure that you admire us because we admire a good Republican.

Because Mort Witkin has served his party, served it well and conscientiously and with a fine devotion to duty, it is my pleasure and indeed my privilege to present this hand painted shaving mug (golf bag and clubs) to our good friend Mort Witkin in honor of the day.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we on the Democratic side of the House have no playground apparatus to offer, but we do heartily congratulate the gentleman from Philadelphia on his birthday and our well wishes go with him for many years of useful service in this House and in his community.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I certainly want to second or third, or whatever it is, the congratulations to the honorable gentleman from Philadelphia, and I want to extend the congratulations further by saying that from the many experiences we have had in this House and last evening, I think he can put on a better show than we had last evening any day, and that without any reflections, of course, upon the gentleman of the press.

I want to say, further, that it is my fervent wish that the gentleman from Philadelphia shall continue to be the leader of a minority party in this House.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House and over here on my left my wife and daughter—and I will put my daughter's name in the record if you do not object, Marjorie E. Witkin—I want to say to you that I deeply appreciate a number of things.

First, I think it was very gracious and very nice and generous of your Speaker on this my birthday to permit me for the first time in the ten years that I have been a member of the Legislature to preside over the deliberations of this House. For that honor I want to thank him personally, and then for the resolution that was passed by this House I want to thank each and every one of you.

I seldom find myself lacking for words and I seldom find myself somewhat embarrassed in addressing you, but I want to say to you most seriously that at this moment I do so find myself.

I want to thank the Democratic party, through their leader, for having taken the trouble to congratulate me on this my birthday. I want to thank the party that will forever remain the minority party, through their leader the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, for joining in congratulating me and for wishing that I might remain on the bottom forever and aye. However, I do want to say this, that it is symbolical of a change that has taken place in this House. When we first met there were a few bitternesses and there was a sort of one looking upon the other as if because we were of opposite political parties, we were not human but we were inhuman, but a feeling of friendliness has now pervaded this House and it grows from day to day in spite of the fact that we are fighting on opposite sides in a political battle. So much for the Democratic members of this House.

When I turn to my Republican colleagues who have been so generous as to give me this lovely gift, I can not help but say that it was awfully nice of you; it was awfully nice of you to remember me in the way you have. I deeply and sincerely appreciate the gift both for its real value as well as for the thought that is behind it and I shall throughout my life—and at my age I never expect to need another set of golf sticks—I shall keep this gift with the fondest remembrances, that it has come from a splendid group of men who have stood behind me in my humble capacity in the most unselfish way possible; who have always been loyal and faithful through thick and thin, And I hope that I have proved so far to have been worthy of their trust. I want to say, individually and collectively, that no man has ever had the privilege of being the leader of a finer group of men than I have of being your leader.

I thank you from the depths of my heart and I hope I shall continue to merit your confidence.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to remind the members that the Governor's and Mrs. Earls's reception to the General Assembly is on Wednesday evening, May 1st, which is next week, at 8:30 Eastern Standard Time—not Daylight Time.

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 1916 (Senate Bill No. 141) on page 29, of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. O'KEEFE.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1916 (Senate Bill No. 141), entitled:

An Act authorizing the statement of certain tax penalties and interest on county city except city of the first class borough town township school district except school district of the first class and poor district taxes

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 21, by adding at the end of the line, after the words "thirty-nine," the following: "and, Provided further, That the respective current taxes for the years during such installment periods shall be paid before they become delinquent"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker, I move that the time on House Bill No. 473 Printer's No. 620, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph (a) one of section forty-one of the act approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 447), entitled "An act relating to the administration and distribution of the estates of decedents and minors, and of trust estates; including the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, liabilities, accounts, discharge and removal of executors, administrators, guardians, and trustees, herein designated as fiduciaries; the administration and distribution of the estates of presumed decedents; widow's and children's exemptions; debts of decedents, rents of real estate as assets for payment thereof, the lien thereof, sales and mortgages of real estate for the payment thereof, judgment and executions thereof and the discharge of real estate from the lien thereof; contracts of decedents for the sale or purchase of real estate; legacies, including legacies charged on land; the discharge of residuary estates and of real estate from the lien of legacies and other charges; the appraisement of real estate devised at a valuation; the ascertainment of the curtilage of dwelling houses or other buildings devised; the abatement and survival of actions, and the substitution of executors and administrators therein, and suits against fiduciaries; investments by fiduciaries; the organization of corporations to carry on the business of decedents; the audit and review of accounts of fiduciaries; refunding bonds; transcripts to the court of common pleas of balances due by fiduciaries; the rights, powers, and liabilities of non-resident and foreign fiduciaries; the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, and liabilities of trustees durante absentia; the recording and registration of decrees, reports and other proceedings, and the fees therefor; appeals in certain cases; and, also, generally dealing with the jurisdiction, powers, and procedure of the orphans' court in all matters relating to fiduciaries concerned with the estates of decedents," as amended; further defining the nature and kind of investments of trust funds to be made by fiduciaries.

The motion was agreed to.

STATEMENT BY MR. McCREARY

Mr. McCREARY asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, will you kindly give me your close attention for just two minutes?

You will remember that yesterday there was an announcement that the baseball enthusiasts would meet some time this next week. You will also remember that two or three weeks ago I had the honor of being appointed umpire—whether I was elected or appointed I don't know which, but I was delighted with the honor until my life insurance agency told me that that was considered a very hazardous occupation, and that if I persisted in acting as an umpire, they would have to do one of two things, either cancel my insurance, or raise the premium by one-half.

Now, that is an important matter for a man of my years, because that insurance will pay my mortgage when I die, so he said that there was a method by which I could overcome it, by equipping myself with such apparatus, as would decrease the hazards. He said that one of the great hazards was that the ball was too hard. If they agreed to play with a softer ball and would equip myself with the necessary equipment that they could pass it up.

So, I equipped myself with the apparatus, and I am therefore glad to say that I can act in the capacity of a baseball umpire. Now, will the Captain of the Baseball Club, please come forward and take charge of this equipment?

ANNOUNCEMENT BY MR. BARNHARD

Mr. BARNHARD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a short announcement. Unless something unforeseen happens, the baseball game between the Republicans and Democrats will be played on the Island, the home ground of the Senators, on Tuesday, May 14th, at 3:00 P. M.

Mr. McELROY from the Committee on Municipal Corporations reported as committed, House Bill No. 2476, entitled:

An Act providing for the incurring or increasing of indebtedness by counties, cities, boroughs, towns, townships, school districts and poor districts, for the purpose of financing public works projects from the proceeds of loans or grants or both from the federal government or any agency thereof, prescribing the procedure to be followed in authorizing the issuance of bonds as evidence of such indebtedness, and their disposal at public sale or at private sale to the federal government or any agency thereof; authorizing counties, cities, boroughs, towns, townships, school districts and poor districts, to accept grants and enter into any contracts required in connection with the acceptance of any loan or grant or both or the construction of any project from the proceeds thereof; and providing for the expiration of the power conferred by this act on the thirtieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. LONGAKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. LONGAKER. Mr. Speaker, in the Legislative Journal of April 11th, 1935, Pages 2033-2034, and 2035, my name was not included among those voting on House Bills Nos. 1153, 1689, and 766. I wish to be recorded as voting "aye" on those Bills. I was present and voting on that day.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

STATEMENT BY MR. HALUSKA

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, the Democratic members of the House, who wish to take part in this baseball game have not as yet turned in their names. I request that all members who wish to take part in this baseball game on May 14th, turn in their names along with the position they wish to play, so that I might have it ready for the press on Monday afternoon.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. Van ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. Van ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker, I was present and voted in the affirmative on the final passage of House Bills Nos. 1153, 1689 and 766, as recorded on Pages 2033, 2034, and 2035 of the Legislative Journal, for April 11th, and wish to be so recorded.

The SPEAKER. The remarks from the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 11:28 A. M.) the House adjourned until Monday, April 29, 1935, at 9:00 P. M.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Vol. 18. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, APRIL 29, 1935 No. 53

SENATE

MONDAY, April 29, 1935

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Deepen our reverence for Thee, our Lord and our God. We are prone to honor them to whom worldly honor is due. We are careful to bestow proper titles upon the persons with whom we come in contact and to acknowledge their influence and their positions in life. We even feel gratified and proud when those with whom we associate show us honor by their words and actions.

Yet how empty are all those obsequious words and deeds. The greatest man on earth is, after all, merely a man and could not long live without his fellowman. Much less could he live without Thee.

How careless we often are concerning our attitude toward Thee. How frequently we fail to honor Thy person and Thy name, accepting Thy favors and benefits in silence. Yes, we at times take Thy name in vain and drag Thy honor in the dust.

Forgive us, O Lord. Make us jealous of Thy honor and less anxious about our own. Tune our hearts to exclaim, "Holy, holy, holy Lord God of hosts, all the earth is filled with Thy glory."

May these men, our law-makers, and may all of us show forth the majesty of Thy great name in the desires of our hearts, the words of our mouths and the activities of our lives. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BAUMER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. GELDER asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Lackawanna, Mr. Howell.

I estimate that six hundred (600) additional men, with an adequate appropriation for transportation and equipment, would make the Pennsylvania State Police Force strong enough to handle any situation that is likely to occur outside of the Cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, last Friday and Saturday, my home in Philadelphia was picketed by a number of men carrying posters stating in effect first, that I should support Governor Earle's program; and secondly, that the tax program of the Republican Organization was socking the poor and neglecting the unemployed. I spoke to these pickets and found that their resentment arose chiefly from the fact that they were hungry, and also from the fact that they were told and they believed that Governor Earle's program would relieve their hunger and unemployment, and that the Republican program would give them neither food nor work but was being proposed for the benefit of the monied interests of the State.

I am a Republican Senator. I was elected on a Republican ticket. I am still a Republican. What I am about to say, however, is not intended to be and should not be understood as criticism of any person or group, but is being made to express and explain by attitude and convictions on a subject which is of vital and pressing importance to me and the people whom I represent, and therefore, although I am a Republican, I cannot, no more than I can support the administration program in its entirety, conscientiously approve the program advanced by my Republican colleagues. In my opinion, both programs, whether intentionally or otherwise, are either unduly oppressive to one class of our citizens, or unnecessarily favorable to another. I am making this statement because I believe, and I know that both my Republican and Democrat colleagues will agree, that relief must not be a political issue and that any tax program, to be successful and accepted, must be wholly free from any taint or suspicion of political or party advocacy or atmosphere. For this reason I cannot and will not be bound by any program, irrespective of whom its sponsors may be. In this emergency the crying needs of our hungry and unemployed rise paramount to any political loyalties or exigencies.

Approaching the problem of taxation from this viewpoint, I feel compelled to say, first of all, that my discussion and correspondence on the sales tax has convinced me not only that the majority of our people do not favor it, but that it may impose an unnecessary burden on the poor man and that it will create a definite sales resistance that will reduce the volume of business and consequently increase unemployment. While it is true that these harmful effects can to some degree be alleviated by a proper and carefully planned sales tax, it is obvious that this tax should not be levied if there are other sufficient and more equitable taxes, and my study of the subject has convinced me that there are such taxes. I am therefore unalterably opposed to and will not vote for a sales tax, whether it be for the purpose of relieving taxes on real estate, or for any other purpose. [I am, however, in favor of relieving real estate taxes by means of a graduated income tax].

Taxes on cigarettes and soft drinks are not only nuisance taxes, but are also a levy on two of the few pleasures that the needy of the State should still be permitted to enjoy, and I am therefore opposed to such taxes.

The suggested increase from 6% to 10% on corporate net profits is unecessary and dangerous. It may tax out of existence or drive from the State the businesses which provide revenue for the State and employment for our people. In addition, it contemplates the continued unwarranted exemption of manufacturing corporations from a capital stock tax—an advantage that they today unjustly enjoy.

A mileage tax on foreign trucks will of necessity lead to retaliatory legislation from our sister States, and no one can tell what form or extent that retaliation will take. I am therefore opposed to such a tax.

The adminisration program contemplates a two year plan. This I believe is unnecessary. We are living in a period of uncertain and changing economic life and should therefore plan for no more than one year. At the end of that time we will be better able to estimate and determine the source and probable extent of our income and the nature and requirements of our extraordinary relief expenditures. We will be able to take advantage of any economic changes. We will know in precisely what manner and to what extent the relief activities of the Federal Government, including its contemplated expenditure of five billion dollars, will aid our people and decrease our present burden.

It is of course true that the best way of providing for the present extraordinary emergency is by spreading its burden over a number of years. This, however, is made impossible by the present Constitutional limitations on our borrowing capacity. I am therefore in favor of a Constitutional Convention for the purpose, among other things, of creating, under proper limitations, a greater borrowing capacity for the State. Likewise, at such convention, provision should be made for a graduated income tax, now deemed unconstitutional.

A one year program, according to the Governor's estimate, requires the raising of $101,500,000. From this should be deducted $27,500,000 representing unexpended relief funds ($7,500,000); unnecessary immediate returns to Special Funds ($13,000,000); and an arbitrary estimated reduction in normal income ($7,000,000). During the coming year, therefore, we must raise $74,000,000. The acceptance of four of the twenty-two taxes suggested by the Governor, together with a transfer of a portion of the Motor License Fund, will yield this necessary sum.

These five sources of revenue are as follows:

(a)	A 5 mills capital stock tax on manufacturing corporations, estimated by the Governor to yield	$17,500,000.
(b)	A 2 mills increase in the personal property tax to be collected by the counties and transferred to the State, estimated by the Governor to yield	17,500,000.
(c)	A 6% tax on the net income of corporations, estimated by the Governor to yield	12,500,000.
(d)	A documentary stamp tax at the rate of 5 cents per $100.00, estimated to yield	2,500,000.
(e)	A transfer, temporary, if not permanent, from the Motor License Fund of	25,000,000.
	Total	$75,000,000.

Objection has been made to the diversion from the Motor Fund on the ground that it is sacred since it has been collected from motorists and should be returned to them in the form of highways. This, of course, is no argument to the citizens of Philadelphia who, during the twelve year period ending 1933, contributed $81,000,000 out of a total of $540,000,000 collected by the State, and who only received during that period in return from the State the sum of $7,900,000. In addition, the argument that these funds are sacred to roadbuilding falls when we consider that millions have contributed to this fund from taxes levied on gasoline used in machines which have never used or seen a State Highway, like stationery engines, railroad gasoline engines and tractors. Certainly, no cry of sacredness should be made at this crisis where there has already been diversion on three prior occasions. It has also been said that diversion will result in the withholding by the Federal Government of the road building funds heretofore contributed by it. The records show, however, that there is on file with State Department of Highways, a communication made on the occasion of the last diversion to the effect that if the transfer act carries with it a provision for repayment at some future date, Federal funds will not be withheld.

These statements represent my honest convictions, after careful deliberation. The suggestion made may not solve the problem with certainty; but of this I am convinced: that the situation is of such paramount importance that it demands prompt consideration and action freed from political atmosphere.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth which was read as follows: and referred to the Committee on Finance:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 29, 1935.

Newspaper Information
Release 9:00 P. M.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I beg to transmit a letter received today from Federal Emergency Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins. The letter follows:

"April 26, 1935

"My Dear Governor:

"I wish to repeat that the Federal Emergency Relief Administration intends to make no further contributions for unemployed relief for the State of Pennsylvania unless and until the State contributes $5,000,000 a month towards the total cost of relief in the State.

"As I have stated to you before, this seems to me to be a reasonable amount which Pennsylvania should contribute towards this problem, and it in no way exceeds the amounts and percentages contributed by other states of similar economic status.

"We should be glad to make our funds available at once, if and when Pennsylvania acts.

Very sincerely yours,
HARRY L. HOPKINS,
Administrator."

The Federal Emergency Relief Administrator's letter constitutes formal notice that Pennsylvania must contribute $5,000,000 a month for unemployment relief before any Federal aid is given.

Inasmuch as present unemployment relief funds will be entirely expended on May 15, I again call your attention to the urgency of the crisis which confronts this Commonwealth, and earnestly request your expeditious action in this situation, to the end that we may avert a complete breakdown of unemployment relief on May 15, with resultant inevitable hardship amounting to catastrophe to our 1,750,000 unemployed needy.

GEORGE H. EARLE.

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. THOMPSON (Centre). Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. THOMPSON (Centre). Mr. President for the first time since this Session opened on the 15th of January, the Republican membership in the Senate, which last week Senator George Reed compared to the Spartans at Thermopylae, has definitely shown its hand. The attack upon the Relief system in Pennsylvania and the Senate's partisan treatment of tax measures have brought about this disclosure.

Relief in Pennsylvania has had an interesting history from the standpoint of the State Senate. In 1932, the first Talbot Act was passed, appropriating ten million dollars for direct relief. Twenty-eight Spartans of this Senate who were in that Session fell all over themselves to pass this act. The Act provided that local Poor Districts should have the distribution of ten million dollars of Relief funds but specifically prohibited any of the funds from being used by the Poor Districts for administrative purposes. There is no question but that at the time the first Talbot Act was passed, everyone who had anything to do with its passage knew that Relief was not a transient problem which the appropriation of ten million dollars would solve, but this ten million dollar trial balloon was put up and the distributors of this Relief were prohibited from setting up an organization such as was really necessary to take care of Relief distribution. In other words, Mr. President, the whole purpose of the Talbot Relief Act was to discredit the operation of local Poor Districts in order that the Relief structure might eventually be placed in the hands of a centralized organization amenable to political influences.

The distribution of Relief had hardly begun until it was apparent that centralizing influences were definitely at work and more and more the functions of the State Emergency Relief Board and its Executive Director encroached upon the affairs of the local Poor Districts. After the first Talbot moneys were expended, the Department of Welfare was not slothful in getting out damning reports, a few of which had a factual basis, concerning the inefficiency of local Poor Districts in the distribution of direct Relief and we embarked on an era of centralization of Relief activities. Eric Biddle, the State's champion peanut-eater, became the willing tool of Mr. and Mrs. Pinchot.

In 1933 the Legislature was again regularly in session, but were any of the 28 self-styled Spartans who now sit in this body active in promoting the decentralization of Relief administration? No; not a single voice was raised. Then in the Winter of 1933 and 1934, we had a long Special Session. The Federal Government was beginning to put Relief funds into the State of Pennsylvania in substantial amounts; the C. W. A. program was under way and all the available office space in Harrisburg was being utilized to provide accommodations for the growing central Relief agency. Did any of those 28 Spartans raise his voice against this growing Frankenstein? Not anyone of them was heard from this Senate floor but the whole matter was left in the hands of Old Handlebars and his lackey, the Peanut-Eater.

In September of 1934, we had another Special Session when the raid on special funds began. In September, 1934, did we hear any voice of the 28 Spartans in this body raised against the growing Frankenstein? Not a voice was raised because they felt that this organization, together with other centralized bureaus, would help the faithful on to victory in the Fall elections. Pinchot was out, but on the bandwagon. He was a problem that would not have to be wrestled with in 1935 and this agency could be bent to the will of the Old Guard, who were to come into their glory after the first of the year. Not only was no voice raised against this ever-increasing centralization of Relief activities, but local Government itself was attacked in the Special Session when the funds upon which many of our municipal subdivisions depended, were arbitrarily taken and used to feed the monster. Where were the Spartans all this time? Twenty-eight of them were right here in these very seats, cheering an institution which is now being damned so loudly.

Contrasted with the events of the last two years, the events of the past few weeks present an interesting picture. This present session of the Legislature had hardly opened until legislation was introduced by the Spartans to kill their own baby. The bill lay in committee for weeks, came out on the calendar, went back in committee and two weeks ago came out again on the calendar for its final plunge. In the meantime, the brain-child of Dr. Woodward appeared, sounder in principle, but dressed up as impossibly as its contemporary bill.

Where was the Batchelor Bill in the regular Session of 1933? Where was the Batchelor Bill in the Special Session of 1933 and 1934? Where was the Batchelor Bill in the Special Session last fall when the plundering of special funds started? The Batchelor Bill was a foundling in those sessions. It is entirely conceivable that if local Poor Districts had been permitted an adequate administrative force, they would have risen to the occasion of Relief necessities; but no, they are not accorded a penny of funds for administrative expense. No one wanted that in 1933 and 1934 because the Spartans and the Peanut-Eater were beginning to see through the same glasses. Now, in a year when every Board of County Commissioners in the Commonwealth is up for election, and nearly all of the Poor Directors, they are regarded by the Spartans as their forlorn hope. In a year when everyone is campaigning and must of necessity sacrifice time from his official duties, these same people must then have passed to them this overgrown baby, nurtured by the 28 Spartans.

Not so fortunate was the Woodward Bill. When an attempt was made to dress this Bill up in businesslike raiment, of course, such attempt was deemed unsound in principle and amendments to the Bill were rejected.

There is not a man in this body who would not concede the principle that Relief distribution must be decentralized. We all know that the present Executive Director is a weak sister. But likewise we all know that the principal cause of his weakness is the group of fawning political sycophants and professional spenders which he has inherited from the organization established under the Spartan system. When an earnest sentiment develops to remedy the situation, the Spartans say we must have a wholly impractical system. We must either adopt a plan which is condemned to failure from the outset or we must take one dressed up in unbusinesslike attire.

No, Mr. President, we come to the point where the cat in this situation comes out of the bag. For two years the Spartans had looked forward to destroying or controlling the Frankenstein, the creation of which they permitted. For what purpose?

Last week we listened for 35 minutes to one of the most studied addresses that has been made from the floor of the Senate this session and when it was all boiled down, what did it mean? It was a plea that the people of this country have been listening to since the days of Alexander Hamilton: "Protect our infant industries." And how, Mr. President, were these infant industries to be protected? By no more remarkable method than following the example of the Japanese nation. Socially, we must decline to the standard of living of the Japanese workingman. We must, once and for all, give up an American standard of living so these infant industries may say to Imperial Japan: "We are following in your footsteps."

Do you see the cat coming out of the bag? The cat is this: Now that the Spartans are frustrated in their attempt to control or destroy Relief Administration along the lines they had planned for two years, there must be no adequate Relief distribution. The Batchelor Bill cannot pass and they know it and the Woodward Bill must not be dressed up in attire which will make it suitable to the public eye. What the Spartans want, Mr. President, for the protection of Pennsylvania's infant industries is to throw into the open market of frantic labor competition, 500,000 Pennsylvania workingmen now either working on Relief labor projects or procuring some sort of subsistence from Relief distribution, even as corrupt as it has become. Their attack, Mr. President, is not upon Relief distribution but the attack is upon every man working for a living in the State of Pennsylvania. They want to see these men fighting and scrambling and underbidding each other for the work that only through the goodness of their principals would be available. They want to see the standard of living of the American workingman placed upon a good, old-fashioned Oriental basis.

Mr. President, we see now why tax bills will not come out of committee. We see now why unanimity on a sensible Relief system cannot be established, when all the good-thinking people of the State demand it of our Legislature. We see now why Pennsylvania must not vote on a new Constitution this Spring, since we all know that any Constitutional revision must include a businesslike readjustment of the State's borrowing capacity which would enable Pennsylvania to take advantage of the Federal Works Program which it has been unable to do heretofore. No, we must have a large class of permanent unemployed which can be used as the shock troops in this attack upon the American standard of wages. We must have in Pennsylvania a permanent class of industrial Helots.

After Leonidas and his 300 Spartans so nobly defended the pass at Thermopylae, for centuries there stood a monument at the scene of the battle. The monument bore this inscription: "Stranger, go tell the Spartans we lie here in obedience to their laws." Mr. President, I venture the assertion that over the political graves of the modern Spartans will be inscribed another legend: "Stranger, go tell Mr. Grundy, Mr. Mellon and Mr. Pew that we lie here in obedience to their commands."

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third rading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 804, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six hundred and fourteen of the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duies upon the Department of Revenue, and the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," requiring the payment of fine and costs imposed before the restoration of operating privilege in certain cases.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. REED (Washington). Mr. President, when this bill was up on third reading last week, the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudenmeier, asked that it be amended in a certain particular. I have had such an amendment prepared and I now ask unanimous consent to Amend Section 1, page 3, lines 14 to 21, by striking out with heavy-faced brackets all of said lines, and insert in lieu thereof the following: "(a) Upon receiving a certified record from the clerk of the court of proceedings in which a person pleaded guilty, entered a plea of nolo contendere or was found guilty by a jury of any one of the crimes enumerated in this section [The] the secretary shall forthwith revoke for a period of one (1) year from the date of revocation the operating privilege of any such person [upon receiving a certified record from the clerk of the court of proceedings in which such person pleaded guilty entered a plea of nolo contendere or was found guilty by a jury of one of the following crimes], and where such person was convicted, or entered a plea of guilty or nolo contendere of any one of the crimes enumerated in clauses (1), (2) and (3) of this section, such operating privilege shall not be restored unless and until the fine and costs imposed in such cases have been fully paid:"

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The amendment was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

Whereas Unhealthful unfair unjust destructive demoralizing and economic trade practices have been and are now carried on in the production sale and distribution of milk and milk products in this Commonwealth whereby the dairy industry in the Commonwealth and the constant supply of pure milk to inhabitants of the Commonwealth are imperiled and

Whereas Such conditions constitute a menace to the health welfare and reasonable comfort of the inhabitants of the Commonwealth and

Whereas It is necessary to protect the well-being of the inhabitants of this Commonwealth to promote the public welfare and to preserve the strength and vigor of the race by declaring that the production transportation manufacture processing storage distribution and sale of milk in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is a business affecting the public health and affected with a public interest and

Whereas The production and distribution of milk is a paramount industry upon which the prosperity of the Commonwealth in large measure depends and

Whereas The present acute economic emergency being a part the consequence of a severe and increasing disparity between the prices of milk and other commodities which disparity has largely destroyed the purchasing power of milk producers for industrial products has broken down the orderly production and marketing of milk and has seriously impaired the agriculture assets supporting the credit structure of the Commonwealth and its local governmental subdivisions and

Whereas The danger to the pubic health and welfare is immediate and impending the necessity urgent and such as will not admit of delay or relaxation in public supervision and control in accord with proper standards of production sanitation and marketing the foregoing statements of fact policy and application of this act are hereby declared to be matters of legislative determination

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in the exercise of the police power of the Commonwealth and to protect the public health and public welfare it is hereby declared that the production transportation manufacture processing storage distribution and sale of milk in the Commonwealth is a business affecting the public health and affected with a public interest and it is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this act shall be an emergency measure enacted for the purpose of regulating and controlling the

B Except as otherwise expressly provided by this act the license fees fixed by this section shall be paid before any license or any renewal thereof is issued

C The fee for a license issued on or after

(1) August first but prior to November first shall be three-fourths of the annual fee

(2) November first but prior to February first of the succeeding year shall be one-half of the annual fee

(3) February first but prior to May first shall be one-fourth of the annual fee

D Milk dealers who have not engaged in the milk business during the prior year shall pay the minimum license fee of one dollar and in addition thereto at such time or times as the board may fix but not more than four months after the granting of the license shall pay an additional sum based upon the daily average total quantity of milk received by such dealer during any of such months

E Milk sold and distributed outside of this Commonwealth in any state which charges a license fee of milk dealers shall not be included in the determination of the amount of the license fee provided that such milk is actually computed in determining the amount of such license fee in such other state [Likewise milk utilized for or sold in the form of manufactured products shall not be included in the determination of the amount of the license fee but] In computing the license fee to be charged by the board the fluid milk equivalent of cream and of condensed or concentrated milk or buttermilk ice cream mix powdered whole milk skimmed milk or powdered skimmed milk sold within this Commonwealth or in any state in which it is not actually computed in the determination of the license fee of a milk dealer shall be [included] ascertained and fixed in such manner as the board shall prescribe [in computing the license fee to be charged by the board unless in the case of condensed or concentrated whole or skimmed milk it is sold in hermetically sealed cans]

F The licenses required by this act shall be in addition to any other licenses which are now or may hereafter be required by law

Section 12 Licensee's Bonds or Securities [Exemptions] A Except as otherwise specifically provided in this act a license shall not be issued to a milk dealer purchasing milk from producers within this Commonwealth unless the milk dealer shall execute and file with the application a personal bond approved by the board Such bond shall be upon a form prescribed by the board shall be in a sum to be fixed by the board but not exceeding [by more than twenty-five per centum] the value of the maximum amount of milk purchased from producers in any one month during the preceding year [and in any event not exceeding one hundred thousand dollars shall be executed by a surety company authorized to do business in this Commonwealth] and shall be conditioned, for the payment by the licensee of all amounts due to producers under this act and the orders of the Board for milk sold by them to such licensee subsequent to the posting of such bond upon such terms and conditions as the board may prescribe

[B In lieu of the bond required of a milk dealer by this section the board may accept a collateral bond of the milk dealer secured by an actual deposit with the board or with a bank bank and trust company or national bank within the Commonwealth of money to the full amount of the bond or by securities to such amount consisting of interest-bearing obligations of the United States government of this Commonwealth or of any political subdivision of this Commonwealth or by any other security or securities approved by the board Such collateral bond shall be conditioned upon the same terms and in the same manner as is provided by this section in the case of a bond given by a surety company and the security or securities deposited therewith shall constitute a trust fund for producers from whom the licensee purchases milk]

C The board may likewise grant to any milk dealer the authority to substitute for any bond or any collateral another bond or other collateral provided that such other bond or collateral meets all the requirements of this act

[D] B A licensee shall from time to time when required by the board make and file with the board a verified statement of his disbursements or of any other facts in connection with his business during a period to be prescribed by the board which statement shall contain the names of the producers from whom milk was purchased the amount due to producers and any other relevant facts required by the board If it shall appear from such statement or from facts otherwise ascertained by the board that the [security] personal bond afforded to producers selling milk to such licensee [by the surety bond or by the collateral bond] does not adequately protect such producers or if such licensee so elects the board may require such licensee to give [an additional] a surety or collateral bond in a sum to be determined by the board [or additional security for the collateral bond] but not exceeding by more than twenty-five per centum the value of the maximum amount of milk purchased from producers in any one month during the preceding year and in any event not exceeding one hundred thousa dollars

Likewise the board may grant a reduction or prescribe an increase of [the surety bond or the collateral] any bond if it shall appear that owing to a decrease or increase in the business of the licensee or to other causes a bond in a lesser or greater amount will protect producers selling milk to such licensee

[E] C All surety bonds and all collateral bonds together with any moneys security or securities given as collateral therefor received by the board from milk dealers pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be transmitted by the board to the State Treasurer for safe-keeping subject to withdrawal in whole or in part at any time by the board

[F] D The licensee shall be entitled to all moneys received by the State Treasurer as interest or dividends upon any securities deposited by such licensee with the board and by it transmitted to the State Treasury for safe-keeping in accordance with the provisions of this act Provided however That such licensee shall not be entitled to such interest or dividends if there is on file with the board a valid unpaid claim of a producer against such licensee based on milk sold by such producer to such licensee

[G] E The board may by reasonable rule or regulation provide the procedure for the payment out of the bonds or security or securities required by this section of the valid claims of producers based on sales by them of milk to the licensee who has posted the bonds or security or securities after the amount of such claims shall have been determined by the Board by formal order after hearing with due notice to all those liable on the bond Provided however That if the bond or security or securities which have been posted by a milk dealer shall be insufficient to pay in full the just claims of producers who have sold milk to such licensee the moneys available shall be divided pro rata among them

The board shall have the power in its discretion to sue on the bond on behalf of producers

[H] F A cooperative agricultural association or corporation organized under the laws of this Commonwealth or a similar association organized under the laws of this or any other state shall be deemed a producer within the provisions of this section and shall be entitled to its benefits Such an association or corporation if operated for the benefit of producers under contract with it and not conducted for profit shall not be required to file a bond under the provisions of this section

[I If satisfied from an investigation of the financial condition of any applicant for a license under this act that such milk dealer is solvent and possessed of sufficient assets reasonably to assure payment to producers from whom he purchases milk the board may by official order exempt such applicant from posting the surety bond or bond secured by collateral required by this section In such case the applicant shall post with the board his personal bond in such form to such amount not greater than the maximum fixed by this section for surety bonds and upon such conditions as shall be prescribed by the board

[The board may at any time it deems such action advisable rescind any order exempting a milk dealer from posting a surety bond or a bond secured by collateral and may require him to post such bond or bond and collateral]

[J any milk dealer is financially unable to post such surety bond or bond secured by collateral as may be required by the board pursuant to the provisions of this act he may file with the board under oath or affirmation upon a form to be prescribed by the board an application for exemption from posting such surety bond or bond secured by collateral on the ground of his financial inability to do so Attached to such application shall be the signed statement of the producers from whom the dealer purchases his milk or of any cooperative agricultural association or similar association or corporation representing such producers to the effect that such producers or such association or corporation on their behalf consent to the exemption of such milk dealer from posting such surety bond or bond secured by collateral Such consent may be upon such special terms of payment and such other conditions as shall be agreed upon between such producers or such cooperative agricultural association or similar association or corporation on their behalf and the milk dealer and approved by the board

[The board may by official order exempt from posting a surety bond or a bond secured by collateral any dealer who has complied with the provisions of this subsection

[The board may at any time it deem such action advisable rescind any order exempting a milk dealer from posting a surety bond or a bond secured by collateral and may require him to post such bond or bond and collateral]

Section 13 Classification of Licenses The board may classify licenses and may issue licenses to any milk dealer to operate as a milk dealer in a particular municipality only or in a particular market or markets in the Commonwealth only but no milk dealer shall if he be granted a license under this act at all be prohibited from acting as a milk dealer in any municipality or in any market in which he was operating upon the effective date of this act

Section 14 Licenses Appeals from Board Decisions A Any person aggrieved by an order of the board fixing the price at or the terms upon which milk may be bought or sold or by any other general rule regulation or order of the board may file an appeal therefrom in the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County but such appeal shall not be permitted to act as a supersedeas except on special order of the Court.

B Any person aggrieved by an order of the board in which the board refuses to issue reissue or transfer or revokes or suspends a license to operate as a milk dealer or by any other order of the board applying only to a particular person or persons named therein and not otherwise specifically provided for in this section may within twenty days after the issuance of such order file an appeal therefrom in the court of common pleas of the county in which he resides or has his principal place of business or in the case of a nonresident who has no place of business within the Commonwealth in the court of common pleas of Dauphin County No appeal filed under this subsection shall be permitted to act as a supersedeas unless a bond shall be filed in such sum and with such sureties as shall be determined by the court conditioned for the payment of costs and such sum as may be fixed by the court

C The appeal provided by this section from action of the board both in the cases of appeals to the Superior Court of Pennsylvania and appeals to the various courts of common pleas shall be by petition against the board officially as defendant alleging therein in brief detail the action and decision complained of and praying for a reversal thereof Such petition shall specify the petitioners objections to the action and decision of the board and no objection not so specified shall be considered by the court Upon service of a summons upon the board returnable within ten days from its date the board shall on or before the return day file an answer which shall deny or admit the allegations of fact in the petition and which shall allege by way of defense the grounds for its decision It shall also on or before the return day of such summons certify to the court the record of the proceedings to which the petition refers Such record shall include the testimony taken therein the findings of fact of the board based upon such testimony a copy of all orders made by the board in the proceedings and a copy of the action or decision of the board which the petition calls upon the court to reverse

D Upon the filing of the boards answer the case shall be at issue without further pleadings and upon application of either party the case shall be advanced and heard without further delay Mere technical irregularities in the procedure of the board shall not be the basis of the decision of the court The case shall be heard de novo by the Court or by a Master appointed by the Court for that purpose All or any part of the record filed with the Court by the Board may be admitted in evidence upon agreement of the parties or by order of Court

The court shall determine whether or not the order appealed from is reasonable and in conformity with law If it shall determine that the order is unreasonable or illegal it shall remit the case to the board with directions to reform the findings or order or revoke the order in accordance with the courts opinion The court shall have full power to assess the costs upon either party or to divide them between the parties

E From a decision of a court of common pleas an appeal may be taken by either party to the Superior Court of Pennsylvania in the manner provided by law to the Board of Finance and Revenue for the payment of approved claims for refund made to the Board of Finance and Revenue for moneys heretofore or hereafter paid into the Milk Control Fund to which the Commonwealth is not rightfully entitled

[B] D Estimates of the amounts to be expended under this act by the [board] Milk Control Board either itself or through the Department of Property and Supplies as purchasing agent or by the Board of Finance and Revenue in the payment of claims for refund shall be submitted to the Governor from time to time for his approval or disapproval as in the case of other appropriations made to administrative departments boards and commissions and it shall be unlawful for the Auditor General to honor any requisition for the expenditure of any moneys out of this appropriation by the [board] Milk Control Board or by the Department of Property and Supplies as its agent or by the Board of Finance and Revenue in excess of the estimates approved by the Governor Subject to this provision the Auditor General shall from time to time draw warrants upon the State Treasury for the amounts specified in such requisitions not exceeding however the amount in the Milk Control Fund at the time of the making of any such requisition

Section 18 Order Fixing Price of Milk Penalties for Violation A The board shall ascertain after a hearing in which all interested parties shall be given full opportunity to be heard what are the logical and reasonable milk marketing areas within the State shall describe their territorial extent and designate the areas by number and shall ascertain and maintain such prices for milk in the respective milk marketing areas of the Commonwealth as will be most beneficial to the public interest and will best protect the milk industry in the Commonwealth and insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk to adults and minors in the Commonwealth having special regard to the health and welfare of children residing therein The board shall base all prices upon all conditions affecting the milk industry in each milk marketing area including the amount necessary to yield a reasonable return to the producer and to the milk dealer

B [The] Subject to the approval of the Governor the board after making such examination or investigation shall fix by official order the uniform wholesale and retail prices to be charged for milk sold within and milk marketing area of the Commonwealth wheresoever produced which prices may vary as to different classes but shall be uniform within the classes designated as follows

(1) By milk dealers to other milk dealers

(2) By milk dealers and stores to consumers except for consumption on the premises where sold

(3) By milk dealers to stores either for consumption on the premises or resale to consumers

The Board shall file at its office with each order issued a statement in writing of the findings of fact in support of or the reasons for such order

When pursuant to statute regulations adopted thereunder or ordinance various grades of milk are specified the board shall fix the minimum price and may fix the maximum price applicable to each in each of the classes Orders fixing minimum and maximum prices may vary in different markets and shall designate the markets to which applicable Such orders may likewise classify milk dealers in any manner which the board deems advisable and may vary according to the classes to which they are applicable Provided however That this section shall not be construed to empower the board to fix the price at which milk may be sold by any milk dealer or producer to consumers for consumption on the premises of such milk dealer or producer

C It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that the public emergency requires that the benefits of any increase of prices received by milk dealers by virtue of the minimum price provisions of this section shall be given to producers except in any case where the board with the approval of the Governor deems a deviation from this policy necessary in order to maintain proper milk markets and outlets for producers The board shall whenever it deems such action necessary to accomplish this purpose issue with the approval of the Governor orders rules or regulations to effectuate this intent

D The board after making the examination or investigation provided by this section shall with the approval of the Governor fix by offical order the minimum prices to be paid by milk dealers to producers and others for milk Provided however That the fixing of prices to be paid [by milk dealers] to producers for milk to be used solely in manufacturing shall be discretionary with the board The order of the board with respect to the minimum prices to be paid to the producers and others shall apply to the milk marketing area in which the milk is produced and to the milk marketing area in which the milk so produced is sold and may vary in different areas according to varying uses and different conditions Each such order may classify such milk by forms classes grades or uses as the board may deem advisable and may specify the minimum prices therefor

The board may likewise fix by official order the terms upon which milk dealers shall pay producers and others for milk

E After the board with the approval of the Governor shall have fixed prices to be charged or paid for milk whether by class grade or use it shall be unlawful for a milk dealer or producer to sell or buy or offer to sell or buy milk at any price less or more than such price or prices as shall be applicable to the particular transaction [and no] No method or device shall be lawful whereby milk is bought or sold or offered to be bought or sold at a price less or more than such price or prices as shall be applicable to the particular transaction whether by any discount or rebate or free service or advertising allowance or a combined price for such milk together with another commodity or commodities or service or services which is less or more than the aggregate of the prices for the milk and the price or prices for such other commodity or commodities or service or services when sold or offered for sale separately or otherwise

It shall be unlawful for any milk dealer to sell any milk for which he has paid or agreed to pay in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a price lower than that fixed by the board for milk of that class or grade taking into consideration a proper allowance for the cost of the transportation of such milk

F [The] Subject to the approval of the Governor the board may upon its own motion or upon application from time to time alter revise or amend an official order at any time made with respect to the prices to be charged or paid for milk After making such investigations and before making revising or amending any order fixing the price to be charged or paid for milk the board shall hold a hearing thereon after giving reasonable notice thereof to interested parties of whom the board has notice and to the public in such newspaper or newspapers as in the judgment of the board shall afford sufficient notice and publicity

G It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that the instant whenever that may be that the handling within the Commonwealth by a milk dealer of milk produced outside of the Commonwealth becomes a subject of regulation by the Commonwealth in the exercise of its police powers the restrictions set forth in this act respecting such milk so produced shall apply and the powers conferred by this act on the board shall attach but this shall not apply to condensed or concentrated whole milk contained in hermetically sealed cans or in tanks to be used solely for manufacturing purposes by the original consignee thereof [After any such milk so produced shall have come to rest within the Commonwealth it shall be unlawful except in any cases in which the board shall otherwise determine for any milk dealer to sell such milk within the Commonwealth if he has paid to the producer thereof outside the Commonwealth a price lower than that which he would have been required to pay for milk produced within the Commonwealth purchased for similar purposes and under similar conditions less a proper allowance for the transportation thereof]

H It is also declared to be the legislative intent that the producers of milk in this Commonwealth who sell their milk to milk dealers for shipment into and sale in another state where prices to producers are regulated by a state board or other authority with powers substantially similar to the Milk Control Board established by this act shall receive the same price that producers in such other state receive for milk purchased for similar purposes and under similar conditions less a proper allowance for the transportation thereof It shall be unlawful for any milk dealer except in such cases in which the board shall otherwise determine to pay to a producer within this Commonwealth for milk to be sold in such other state a price lower than that fixed by the state board or other authority in such other state for sale of milk in such other state for similar purposes and under similar conditions minus a proper allowance for the transportation of the milk to the market in such other state

QUESTION OF LEGISLATIVE INQUIRY

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of legislative inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, will state his question of legislative inquiry.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, as I understand it, the Senator from Adams, Mr. Rice, has made a motion that the Senate resolve itself into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of considering the special amendments just read from the desk. My question of legislative inquiry is, whether or not a vote to go into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of considering these special amendments will carry the proposed amendments into the bill.

The PRESIDENT. The adoption of this motion made by the Senator from Adams, Mr. Rice, will carry with it the adoption of the amendments.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. ZEISENHEIM and Mr. CLARK and were as follows, viz:

Aron,	Harris,	Pytko,	Rupp,
Baumer,	Huffman,	Rankin,	Salus,
Bean,	Kahle,	Reed,	Shapiro,

Graff,	Norton,

The PRESIDENT. On the question of the adoption of the special amendment, the yeas are 28, and the "noes" 20. The amendments are adopted.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

COMMITTEE ON THE WHOLE FOR SPECIAL AMENDMENT

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resolve itself into Committee of the Whole, for the purpose of considering the following special amendments.

The amendments were read as follows: amend Section 3, Page 6, lines 28 and 29 by striking out after the word "mix" in line 28 and before the word "and" in line 29, the words "powdered whole milk powdered skimmed milk"

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, will state his point of order.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, my point of order is, that the amendments to the bill under consideration consist of strike-outs only, and, therefore, there is no reason why the bill should lie over for printing; it is now properly before the Senate for final passage.

The PRESIDENT. In the opinion of the Chair the point of order is well taken.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

The House met at 9:00 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Wilson G. Sarig) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Reverend David E. Young, Pastor of the Sixth Street United Brethren in Christ Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

O God, our Father, Father Almighty, Father of all men, Thou to whom our hearts are open, and all desires are known, we worship Thee, we adore Thee, we bring praise to Thy great name. Great and marvelous are Thy works in all the earth.

We give Thee special thanks for our goodly heritage, Thou who hast truly given to us gifts of good and of grace.

Now, tonight we do invoke Thy blessing on this House, upon its presiding officer, upon these who are associated with him in the administration of this Assembly. May Thy blessing be upon the Assembly, upon our Governor, upon our Nation, and our honored President and those who are in authority with him. May all of these who have been charged with this high responsibility always remember whose servants they are, and in all of their acts and deliberations grant that they may always seek to glorify Thy name and always seek to do those things that shall be for the good of the State and of the Nation. May Thy favor and Thy blessing now attend the deliberations of this House.

We ask it in the name and through the merits of Thy Son, our Saviour, Jesus Christ, our Father, Amen.

GEORGE H. EARLE.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 29, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I beg to transmit a letter received today from Federal Emergency Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins. The letter follows:

"April 26, 1935.

"My dear Governor:

I wish to repeat that the Federal Emergency Relief Administration intends to make no further contributions for unemployed relief for the State of Pennsylvania unless and until the State contributes $5,000,000 a month towards the total cost of relief in the State.

"As I have stated to you before, this seems to me to be a reasonable amount which Pennsylvania should contribute towards this problem, and it in no way exceeds the amounts and percentages contributed by other states of a similar economic status.

"We should be glad to make our funds available at once, if and when Pennsylvania acts.

Very sincerely yours,

HARRY L. HOPKINS,
Administrator."

The Federal Emergency Relief Administrator's letter constitutes formal notice that Pennsylvania must contribute $5,000,000 a month for unemployment relief before any Federal aid is given.

Inasmuch as present unemployment relief funds will be entirely expended on May 15, I again call your attention to the urgency of the crisis which confronts this Commonwealth, and earnestly request your expeditious action in this situation, to the end that we may avert a complete breakdown of unemployment relief on May 15, with resultant inevitable hardship amounting to catastrophe to our 1,750,000 unemployed needy.

GEORGE H. EARLE.

PARK GUARDS

Mr. OMINSKY offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 29, 1935.

Whereas, The General Assembly has signified its approval that cities should be required to allow members of the Police and Fire Department twenty-four consecutive hours of rest each week and fourteen days vacation each year, except in emergency cases, and

Whereas, No such relief has been, or is granted to Park Guards in the City of Philadelphia, and

Whereas, Park Guards in the City of Philadelphia who are under the complete control and jurisdiction of the Park Commission of the aforesaid city, work diligently, faithfully, and untiringly, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives be instructed to communicate with the Park Commission, advising it that it is the sense of this Body that the Park Guards be accorded the same privileges as the Policemen and Firemen, with regards to the consecutive hours of rest each week and the vacation period each year, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution, duly authenticated, be sent by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Park Commission of the City of Philadelphia, the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia, and the President of City Council, as well as to the Secretary of the Board of Judges.

RESOLUTION

RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 1143 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. TERRY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, April 29, 1935.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 1143, Printer's No. 500, entitled "An act to amend section one of the act approved the twentieth day of December one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (Pamphlet Laws eighty-nine one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four) entitled 'An act apropriating the moneys in The State Stores Fund' making appropriations for the payment of refunds," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL PLACED ON CALENDAR

Mr. Van SICKLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 1612, Printer's No. 756, entitled:

An Act relating to the defense of alibi in criminal prosecutions which was reported on April 23, 1935, from the Committee on Judiciary General with a negative recommendation be placed upon the calendar.

Mr. COAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. Van SICKLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the members will find on their desks a copy of House Bill No. 1612, which is commonly known as the alibi law. This bill was reported out with a negative recommendation. However, the action of the committee was not unanimous. Furthermore, this bill has the approval of the Pennsylvania Bar Association and is meritorious. We have passed acts in this House increasing the penalties in criminal law. This is an act designed to close one of the loopholes open to the criminal, namely the use of a trumped up alibi or the use of professional witnesses in establishing alibis.

By referring to the bill the members will see that it requires notice of the place and the witnesses intended to be relied upon and the circumstances surrounding the alibi be given through the district attorney of the county wherein the case is being tried. This is done for the reason that the district attorney may have a chance to investigate the witnesses as well as the circumstances of the alibi, and if he finds these facts are true—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Beaver will state his point of order.

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is speaking on the merits of the bill.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is not well taken. On a motion to place a negatively reported bill on the calendar, the gentleman is permitted to discuss the merits of the bill.

Mr. Van SICKLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill will give the opportunity to the district attorney of any particular county to determine whether the facts set forth in the bill of particulars are true. If the district attorney finds they are true, it will save the costs of the needless trial of this case in any particular county. However, if he finds that the facts are not true, he will be in a position to offer testimony in rebuttal to the testimony brought forth by the criminal. It is merely a bill to prevent an avenue of escape so often used by criminals.

You will note by referring to the bill that the court has the power "to order the amendment, amplification or reduction of such particulars or of the time of their service." Furthermore, the evidence may be included but it is not compulsory, but it leaves it up to the trial judge in his good discretion to make a decision which will meet the ends of justice.

I feel that this bill is so important that it merits the consideration of the House as a whole and I will therefore ask you to place it upon the calendar in order that it may be determined finally upon its merits.

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, this bill was presented to the Judiciary General Committee on April 19th. It received the consideration of the committee within a few days after it was received by the committee. The committee acted upon it and subsequent to that time it was revived and then again given consideration by the committee. In the meantime a sub-committee studied the merits of the bill, and the sub-committee reported on it unfavorably. A third time it was called up before the committee a week ago and again the sub-committee reported unfavorably on the bill, and the Committee as a whole decided the bill did not merit the consideration of this House. For this reason I ask the members of the House to vote "no" on this motion. The Committee on Judiciary General has given this bill a thorough consideration; it has given it consideration not once, not twice, but three different times, on three different occasions, and I feel that their decision has been arrived at after judicious consideration of the bill, and I say that the bill does not merit being placed on the calendar.

Mr. Van SICKLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have no complaint to make about the consideration received from the chairman of the committee. However, he is mistaken when he says that the sub-committee reported unfavorably on this bill—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not permitted to disclose what took place in the committee.

Th SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken.

Mr. Van SICKLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I feel that the members of this House are entitled to pass upon this bill themselves. Unfortunately, the Judiciary General Committee is composed almost entirely of attorneys. Unconsciously they may be somewhat biased in their opinion, and I feel that the sensible members of this House should have an opportunity to pass upon the bill.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill is impossible in operation. You will notice if you refer to section two, that the bill really protects the criminal rather than catches him.

Section two says: "Within two days after receipt of such bill of particulars from the defendant the district attorney or other prosecuting officer shall on written demand therefor furnish the defendant or his attorney with a written bill of particulars stating the names and addresses of the witnesses upon whom the Commonwealth intends to rely to establish defendant's presence at the scene of the alleged offense."

In Philadelphia we have at the present time four criminal courts running at one time. Beginning with the first Monday of May we will have five courts. In some of these courts there are easily sixty cases listed every day and if the defendant's counsel appears and files a bill of particulars and asks the district attorney to file the reply bill of particulars in two days he could not do it. There would not be enough help in the district attorney's office to do it, and, failing to file the reply, the district attorney would be prevented from putting in rebuttal testimony under this bill and the defendant would escape because there would be no denial to his story. The bill may have a very meritorious idea back of it, but, as it is framed, as its mechanics are framed, it is impossible of operation, and I ask you to vote down this motion.

Mr. Van SICKLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to call the attention of the members of the House—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has already spoken twice on this bill. I only raised this point of order because the House has plenty of other business to transact.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman press his point of order? The House must give its consent if a member is to speak more than twice on the same subject.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I yield the floor to the gentleman from Northampton.

Mr. VANSICKLE. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman for his very courteous consideration and assure him that it is greatly appreciated.

May I call the attention of the members of the House to Section 3 which was designed to cover the objections raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, wherein it states that "The trial court shall have power to order the amendment amplification or reduction of such particulars or of the time of their service as the ends of justice may require."

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WITKIN and Mr. WHITE and were as follows:

RESOLUTION No. 130

Mr. DIEHL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 130, Printer's No. 831.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 17, 1935.

Whereas, Dissatisfaction with the administration of direct and work relief is widespread in the County of Blair, allegations are made that the Blair County Emergency Relief Board, and the United States employment Bureau, and other agencies dealing with relief, are not using their powers consistent with the best interests of those in need, that misery is widespread; that improper and incompetent personnel is being employed; that political activity is being indulged in and aid granted on a political basis; that discrimination on account of race, creed, and color is practiced; and that husbands and wives are both employed, or one employed when the other has employment elsewhere; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives is hereby authorized to appoint a committee of five members of the House, whose duty it shall be to thoroughly and impartially investigate the Blair County Emergency Relief Board, and the United States employment Bureau in said county, or any other governmental agency dealing with relief, and the personnel thereof, with a view of determining whether the allegations set forth in the preamble hereof, are true, and to make report thereof to the House of Representatives as early as possible;

Resolved, That the said committees shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents, as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person, and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee, or to produce any books, papers, records or documents, shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of this Commonwealth in such cases;

Resolved, That said committee shall have the further right and authority to issue a requisition to the aforesaid board, bureau, or agency, for such stenographic help, or service as it may deem necessary under the circumstances, in the taking of testimony and the conduct of hearings, et cetera.

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have no desire to oppose a resolution of this kind that any member desires to introduce to investigate the relief conditions in his own county. But, it seems to me, in view of the fact that we have a joint committee of the House and Senate that has started an investigation in the relief question in the state of Pennsylvania, that it would be far better if all of these so called local resolutions, would be dropped, and the matter allowed to be taken up by the Joint Committee. I think it would save confusion and certainly would be a more orderly process than we could have by having a number of small county investigations. I would like to ask the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Diehl, under that circumstance whether he would not be willing to withdraw his resolution?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in Cambria and in the neighboring county of Blair, we have a resolution for an investigation. Mr. Robert Johnson told me this afternoon that he welcomed all investigations and I feel that the work we will do will be a service to the state wide committee. We confer with this committee and help it out. It will be impossible for the state-wide committee to go down deeply and find out the chiselers that we have found out in Cambria County, and I believe that local committees should be established because of their great service to this Commonwealth.

Mr. COAKLEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, also in Northampton County we have a resolution that only passed the House two weeks ago. I have it on good authority that the relief checks have shrunk about two-thirds of the original amount of the checks through the mail in the city of Easton. I think it is a very good idea for each county to have an investigation.

On the question recurring,
Will the House adopt the resolution?
It was adopted.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2483, entitled:

An Act simplifying the procedure for the construction and financing of public works projects by counties, cities, towns, boroughs, townships, school districts, and poor districts, defining such agencies as political subdivisions; enabling such political subdivisons to make and perform contracts with Federal agencies relating to the construction and financing of such projects and conferring additional powers upon such political subdivisions.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1042, entitled:

An Act requiring the Secretary of the Commonwealth to inquire into the purposes of the incorporators of labor groups and to approve or disapprove their corporation or right to do business within the Commonwealth.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1579, entitled:

An Act to further amend article thirty-five of the act approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 932), entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class; and amending, revising, and consolidating the law relating thereto," providing for the acquisition and operation by cities of electric light and power, natural and artificial gas, steam or other forms of heat, plants and of water works and supply systems, together with the transmission and distribution systems of each, both within and without the city limits; providing for the cost thereof and for changes for service; and limiting the power and jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission in certain cases.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TERRY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Public Utilities for the purpose of further study and amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to oppose this motion. This bill is sponsored by the League of Third Class Cities. It was carefully considered in the Committee on Cities. It cures a situation which has caused a great deal of difficulty to third class cities, to which it applies. This is a very important measure and should receive consideration on its merit by this House. I therefore ask you to vote "no" on this motion to recommit, and Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HOOPES and Mrs. WILSON and were as follows:

An Act providing for the incurring or increasing of indebtedness by counties, cities, boroughs, towns, townships, school districts and poor districts, for the purpose of financing public works projects from the proceeds of loans or grants or both from the federal government or any agency thereof, prescribing the procedure to be followed in authorizing the issuance of bonds as evidence of such indebtedness, and their disposal at public sale or at private sale to the federal government or any agency thereof; authorizing counties, cities, boroughs, towns, townships, school districts and poor districts, to accept grants and enter into any contracts required in connection with the acceptance of any loan or grant or both or the construction of any project from the proceeds thereof; and providing for the expiration of the power conferred by this act on the thirtieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in in this case dispensed with

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2051, entitled:

An Act to amend section one as amended and section six of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws one hundred forty-seven) entitled "An act placing upon the Commonwealth the responsibility for the construction and maintenance of certain bridges on State highway routes or continuations of State highway routes in boroughs incorporated towns cities of the third class and townships under certain conditions and restrictions and appropriating money in the Motor License Fund for such purposes providing for a limitation of the Commonwealth's liability for reconstruction and maintenance in certain cases under orders of court or the Public Service Commission providing for the Commonwealth to succeed to the rights of the county under certain existing agreements or contracts authorizing the department to issue licenses to public service companies for occupancy of such bridges in accordance with existing laws subject to certain conditions and restrictions providing for the crediting of certain moneys to the Motor License Fund and providing for the return to the county or disposal of said bridges in certain cases and repealing certain acts with reference to county bridges" by adding thereto township borough or incorporated town bridges

The first Section was read and agreed to as follows:

Whereas, The healing art or profession of chiropractic being recognized and patronized by an increasing number of citizens of Pennsylvania it thereby becomes necessary that there should be regulation of the persons practicing said profession so as to avoid danger to the public health from the pretentions of untrained practioners holding themselves out as chiropractors therefore

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation for the purpose of further study and amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. FITCH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is a reflection, to my mind, on the Speaker and also on the Commitee that had this measure in charge. I certainly am surprised that the same action should be attempted at this particular time after Wednesday. It looks to me as if the powers that be are afraid of their lives to have this particular act of the Legislature spoken of. I feel this way, as far as I am concerned individually, the only interest I have at heart is the interest of fair play, and if any member of this House feels that this act has had fair play, then I am no judge of humanity. I feel this way, that we can depend upon the members of the House that they will not reverse themselves as to what they did on Wednesday, and return or recommit this bill to the same committee as was attempted last Wednesday.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I can see no reason why a second attempt should be made to recommit this bill to a different committee from the one that has already carefully and conscienciously considered the bill before placing it before this House for action. I believe in fair play, and I am asking the members of this House whether you favor the bill and intend to vote for it when it comes before the House or whether you intend to vote against it, show your sportsmanship at this time and vote against this motion to recommit.

As was stated before by the gentleman previously speaking, it is a reflection upon the ability and the intelligence of your committee on Education. I therefore ask you to vote against this motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FITCH and Mr. REISING and were as follows:

Any person copartnership association or corporation who or which violates any of the provisions of this section shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay for each violation a fine of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than twenty-five dollars ($25.00)

Section [309] 307 Wherever in this article the term "wages" is used it shall be construed to mean the money rate at which the service rendered is recompensed under the contract of hiring in force at the time of the [and] except that in the case of a minor permanently disabled the term "wages" shall be construed to mean the probable earning power such minor would have had at the age of twenty-one under normal conditions The term "wages" shall not include gratuities received from the employer or others nor shall it include amounts deducted by the employer under the contract of hiring for labor furnished or paid for by the employer and necessary for the performance of such contract by the employe but shall include board and lodging received from the employer Whenever the employe receives board and lodging as a part of his wages the board shall be rated at fifty cents per day and board together with lodging shall be rated at one dollar per day for the purpose of computing wages In seasonable occupations the employe's weekly wages shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which he has earned from all occupations during the year immediately preceding the accident unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employe in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings In continuous employments if immediately prior to the accident the rate of wages was fixed by the day or hour or by the output of the employe his weekly wages shall be taken to be five and one-half times his average earnings at such rate for a working day and using as a basis of calculation his earnings during so much of the preceding six months as he worked for the same employer Provided however That if the employe regularly and habitually worked more than five and one-half days per week the weekly wage shall be found by multiplying his average earnings for working day by six six and one-half or seven according to the customary number of working days constituting an ordinary week in his occupation or trade Where the employe is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers his wages from all employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation

In cases where the employe has been in the employ of the employer less than one full week and by reason of the shortness of time during which the employe has been in the employment of the employer or the nature of terms of the employment it is impracticable to ascertain the average weekly wages as hereinbefore provided the average weekly amount which during the six months previous to the injury has been earned by other persons employed by the same employer under similar contracts of hiring or if there are no persons so employed by other persons employed by other employers under similar contracts of hiring under similar conditions shall be taken as the basis for the ascertainment of the weekly wages of such employe

Section [310] 308 Compensation under this article to alien dependent widows and children not residents of the United States shall be two-thirds of the amount provided in each case for residents and the employer may at any time commute all future instalments of compensation payable to alien dependents not residents of the United States by paying to such alien dependents the then value thereof calculated in accordance with the provisions of section three hundred and [sixteen] fourteen of this article Alien widowers parents brothers and sisters not residents of the United States shall not be entitled to any compensation

Non-resident alien dependents may be officially represented by the Consular officers of the nation of which such alien or aliens may be citizens or subjects and in such cases the Consular officers shall have the right to receive for distribution to such non-resident alien dependents all compensation awarded hereunder and the receipt of such Consular officers shall be a full discharge of all sums paid to and received by them.

Section [311] 309 Unless the employer shall have actual knowledge of the occurrence of the injury or unless the employe or some one in his behalf or some of the dependents or some one in their behalf shall give notice thereof to the employer within [fourteen] thirty days after the accident no compensation shall be due until such notice be given or knowledge obtained but if the employe or other beneficiary shall show that his delay in giving notice was due to his mistake or ignorance of fact or of law or to his physical or mental inability or to fraud misrepresentation or deceit or to any other reasonable cause or excuse then compensation shall be allowed unless the employer shall show that he did not know and by reasonable diligence could not have learned of the accident and that he was prejudiced by the delay in which case he shall be relieved to the extent of such prejudice [and unless such knowledge be obtained or notice given within ninety days after the occurrence of the injury no compensation shall be allowed] It shall be presumed that the employer had notice of any injury within the period prescribed in this section and the burden of proof shall be upon the employer to show otherwise

Section [312] 310 The notice referred to in section three hundred and [eleven] nine hereof shall be substantially in the following form

To (name of employer)

You are hereby notified that an injury of the following character (.....) was suffered by (name of employe injured) who was in your employment at (place) while engaged as (kind of employment) on or about the ( ) day of ( ) Anno Domini ( ) and that compensation will be claimed therefore

Date Signed ( )

But no variation from this form shall be material if the notice be sufficient to inform the employer that a certain employe by name received an injury the character of which is described in ordinary language in the course of or resulting from his employment on or about a time specified and at or near a place specified

Section [313] 311 The notices referred to in section [three hundred and two and section] three hundred and [eleven] nine hereof may be served personally upon the employer or upon the manager or superintendent in charge of the works or business in which the or by sending them through the registered mail to the employer at his or its last known residence or place of business or if the employer be a corporation either foreign or domestic then upon the president vice-president secretary or treasurer thereof Knowledge of the occurrence of the injury on the part of any of said agents shall be the knowledge of the employer

Section [314] 312 At any time after an injury the employe if so requested by his employer must submit himself for examination at some reasonable time and place to a physician or physicians legally authorized to practice under the laws of such place who shall be selected and paid by the employer If the employe shall refuse upon the request of the employer to submit to the examination by the physician or physicians selected by the employer the Board may upon petition of the employer order the employe to submit to an examination at a time and place set by it and by the physician or physicians selected and paid by the employer or by a physician or physicians designated by it and paid by the employer and if the employe shall without reasonable cause or excuse disobey or disregard such order he shall be deprived of his right to compensation under this article The board may at any time after such first examination upon petition of the employer order the employe to submit himself to such further examinations as it shall deem reasonable and necessary at such times and places and by such physicians as it may designate and in such case the employer shall pay the fees and expenses of the examining physician or physicians and the reasonable traveling expenses and loss of wages incurred by the employe in order to submit himself to such examination The refusal or neglect without reasonable cause or excuse of the employe to submit to such examination ordered by the Board either before or after an agreement or award shall deprive him of the right to compensation under this article during the continuance of such refusal or neglect and the period of such neglect or refusal shall be deducted from the period during which compensation would otherwise be payable

The employe shall be entitled to have a physician or physicians of his own selection to be paid by him participate in any examination requested by his employer or ordered by the Board

Section [315] 313 In cases of personal injury all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within [one year] two years after the the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation payable under this article or unless within [one year] two years after the one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof In cases of death all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within [one year] two years after the date of death the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation under this article or unless within [one year] two years after the date of death one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof Where however payments of compensation have been made in any case or an employer has failed to report to the department the occurrence of an injury to his employe as required by law said limitations shall not take effect until the expiration of [one year] two years from the time of the making of the last payment or the filing of such report as the case may be

Section [316] 314 The compensation contemplated by this article may at any time be commuted by the Board at its then value when discounted at five per centum interest with annual rests disregarding the probability of the beneficiary's death upon application of either party with due notice to the other if it appear that such commutation will be for the best interest of the employe or the dependents of the deceased employe and that it will avoid undue expense or undue hardship to either party or that such employe or dependent has removed or is about to remove from the United States or that the employer has sold or otherewise disposed of the whole or the greater part of his business or assets Except as provided in section three hundred and [ten] eight hereof and in this section no commutation of compensation shall be made

Any person partnership association or corporation who or which shall commute or attempt to commute any compensation directly or indirectly in violation of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) or to undergo imprisonment for a period of not more than six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court

Section [317] 315 At any time after the approval of an agreement or after the entry of the award a sum equal to all future instalments of compensation may (where death or the nature of the injury renders the amount of future payments certain) with the approval of the board be paid by the employer to any savings bank trust company or life insurance company in good standing and authorized to do business in this [State] Commonwealth and such sum together with all interest thereon shall thereafter be held in trust for the employe or the dependents of the employe who shall have no further recourse against the employer The payment of such sum by the employer evidenced by the receipt of the trustee noted upon the prothonotary's docket shall operate as a satisfaction of said award as to the employer Payments from said fund shall be made by the trustee in the same amounts and at the same periods as are herein required of the employer until said fund and interest shall be exhausted In the appointment of the trustee preference shall be given in the discretion of the board to the choice of the employe or the dependents of the deceased employe Should however there remain any unexpended balance of any fund after the payment of all sums due under this act such balance shall be repaid to the employer who made the original payment or to his legal representatives

Section [318] 316 The right of compensation granted by this article of this act shall have the same preference (without limit of money) against the assets of an employer liable for such compensation as is now or may hereafter be allowed by law for a claim for unpaid wages for labor Provided however That no claim for compensation shall have priority over any judgment mortgage or conveyance of land recorded prior to the filing of the petition award or agreement as to compensation in the office of the prothonotary of the county in which the land is situated Claims for payments due under this article of this act shall not be assignable and (except as provided in section five hundred and one of article five hereof) shall be exempt from all claim of creditors and from levy execution or attachment which exemption may not be waived

Section [319] 317 Where a third person is liable to the employe or the dependents for the injury or death the employer shall be subrogated to the right of the employe or the dependents against such third person but only to the extent of the compensation payable under this article by the employer Any recovery against such third person in excess of the compensation theretofore paid by the employer shall be paid forthwith to the employe or to the dependents and shall be treated as an advance payment by the employer on account of any future instalments of compensation

Section [320] 318 (a) If the employe at the time of the accident is a minor under the age of eighteen years employed or permitted to work in violation of any provisions of the laws of this Commonwealth relating to minors of such age compensation either in the case of injury or death of such employe shall be double the amount that would be payable to such minor if legally exceed that provided for in case of legal employment may be referred to as "additional compensation"

(b) The employer and not the insurance carrier shall be liable for the additional compensation Any provision in an insurance policy undertaking to relieve an employer from such liability shall be void

(c) Where death or the nature of the injury renders the amount of future payments certain the total amount of the additional compensation subject to discount as in the case of commutation shall be immediately due and payable It shall be deposited subject to the approval of the Board in any savings bank trust company or life insurance company in good standing and authorized to do business in this [state] Commonwealth

Where the amount of the future payments of compensation is uncertain the Board shall upon the approval of the agreement or the entry of an award determine as nearly as may be the total amount of payment to be made and the additional compensation so calculated shall immediately upon such determination become due and payable by the employer The amount may be redetermined by the Board and any increase shall then become due and payable and any excess which shall be shown to have been paid shall be returned to the person paying the same Upon determination of the amount due it shall be deposited as above provided Payments of compensation out of deposits shall be made to the employe or dependents as payments of other compensation are made Provided however That the Board may in its discretion and upon inquiry as in cases of commutation accelerate such payments

(d) The provisions of the foregoing paragraph (c) shall not apply to employers who are exempted by the [Bureau] department from the necessity of carrying insurance

(e) Possession of an employment certificate duly issued and transmitted to the employer in accordance with the provisions of the child labor law and receipt thereof duly acknowledged by him shall be conclusive evidence to such employer of his legal right to employ the minor for whose employment such certificate has been issued

(f) The possession of an age certificate duly issued and transmitted to the employer by the school authorities of the school district in which a minor resides shall be conclusive evidence to the employer of the minor's age as certified therein

[(g) If neither party has elected not to be bound by the provisions of article three of the act to which this act is an amendment in the manner prescribed by section three hundred and two of said act they shall be held to have agreed to be bound by the provisions of this act and to have waived any other right or remedy at law or in equity for the recovery of damages for injuries occurring under the circumstances herein described]

Section 321 (a) In the case of an employe who dies as the result of an injury received in the course of or resulting from his employment and who leaves no dependents entitled to receive not in excess of five hundred dollars compensation under this act the employer or his insurance carrier as the case may be shall pay the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) to the department In order to enforce payment of such sum the department shall have power to file with the board a claim for the same in like manner as any claim for compensation may be filed under this act

(b) One-fourth of any amount received under this section by the department shall be paid by it into the Federal Rehabilitation Fund of the State Treasury through the Department of Revenue which amount shall be credited to a ledger account to be known as the industrial rehabilitation account All moneys credited to the industrial rehabilitation account are hereby appropriated to the department for all expenses incurred by the department under the rehabilitation laws of this Commonwealth for the rehabilitation of injured employes who are entitled to compensation under this act and who are as a result of their injuries totally or partly incapacitated for remunerative employment in the line of employment they were employed at the time of injury

(c) The remaining three-fourths of any amount received by the department under this section shall be paid by it into the State Workmen's Insurance Fund of the State Treasury through the Department of Revenue which amount shall be credited to a ledger account to be known as the second injury reserve account All amounts credited to the second injury reserve account are hereby appropriated to the department for the payment of the compensation provided in Clause (g) of section three hundred and four of this act

Whenever at the end of any fiscal year of the Commonwealth the total amount credited to the second injury reserve account shall exceed a sum equivalent to three times the average annual incurred liability of the account to employes or their dependents during the three preceding fiscal years the surplus amount shall upon requisition of the department be transferred to the Federal Rehabilitation Fund and credited to the industrial rehabilitation account in such fund All amounts so transferred shall be available and are hereby appropriated to the department for the same purposes for which moneys credited to such account are appropriated by subsection (b) of this section

In case any claimant shall die before the final adjudication of his claim the amount of compensation due such claimant to the date of death shall be paid to the dependents entitled to compensation or if there be no dependents then to the estate of the decedent

Section 411 Whenever the employer and the employe or his dependent shall on or after the [tenth] seventh day after any accident agree on the facts on which a claim for compensation depends but shall fail to agree on the compensation payable thereunder they may petition the board to determine the compensation payable Such petition shall contain the agreed facts and shall be signed by all parties in interest The board shall fix a time and place for hearing the petition and shall notify all parties in interest As soon as may be after such hearing the board shall award or disallow compensation in accordance with the provisions of this act

Section 412 If any party shall desire the commutation of future instalments of compensation he shall present a petition therefor to the board

Section 413 The board or a referee designated by the board may at any time review and modify or set aside an original or supplemental agreement upon petition filed by either party or by the department with the board or in the course of the proceedings under any petition pending before such board or referee if it be proved that such agreement was procured prior or subsequent to the effective date of this act by the fraud coercion or other improper conduct of a party or was founded upon a mistake of law or of fact

The board or referee designated by the board may at any time modify reinstate suspend or terminate an original or supplemental agreement or an award upon petition filed by either party with such board upon proof that the disability of an injured employe has increased decreased recurred or has temporarily or finally ceased or that the status of any dependent has changed Such modification reinstatement suspension or termination shall be made as of the date upon which it is shown that the disability of the injured employe has increased decreased recurred or has temporarily or finally ceased or upon which it is shown that the status of any dependent has changed [Provided That except in the case of eye injuries an agreement or an award can only be reviewed modified or reinstated during the time such agreement or award has to run if for a definite period and except in the case of eye injuries no agreement or award shall be reviewed or modified or reinstated unless a petition is filed with the board within one year after the date of the last payment of compensation with or without an agreement]

The board or referee to whom any such petition has been assigned may subpoena witnesses hear evidence make findings of fact and award or disallow compensation in the same manner and with the same effect and subject to the same right of appeal as if such petition were an original claim-petition.

The filing of a petition to terminate or modify a compensation agreement or award as provided in this section shall operate as a supersedeas and shall suspend the payment of compensation fixed in the agreement or by the award [in whole or] to such extent as the facts alleged in the petition would if proved require except that the filing of a petition relative to a change in the disability of an injured person shall not act as a supersedeas unless such petition contains an affidavit by a physician that he has examined the claimant a percentage estimate of the extent of disability according to a schedule which shall be fixed by the board and that the petitioner in his opinion is entitled to the relief prayed for in the petition

Section 414 Whenever a claim-petition or other petition is presented to the board the board shall by general rules or special order either direct it to be heard by one or more members of the board or assign it to a referee for hearing Provided however That petitions presented under section four hundred and eleven and four hundred and twelve shall be heard by one or more members of the board

The [secretary] department shall serve upon each adverse party a copy of the petition together with a notice that such petition will be heard by the board or the referee to whom it has been assigned (giving his name and address) as the case may be and if the petition shall have been assigned to a referee shall mail the original petition to such referee together with copies of the notices served upon the adverse parties

Section 415 At any time before an award or disallowance of compensation or order has been made by a referee to whom a petition has been assigned the board may order such petition heard before it or one or more of its members or may reassign it to any other referee Unless the board shall otherwise order the testimony taken before the original referee shall be considered as though taken before the board or substituted referee

Section 416 Within ten days after a copy of any petition has been served upon any adverse party he may file with the secretary of the board if the petition has been directed to be heard by the board or with the referee if the petition has been assignd to a referee an answer in the form prescribed by the board

Every fact alleged in a petition not specifically denied by an answer so filed by an adverse party shall be deemed to be admitted by him But the failure of any adverse party or of all of them to deny a fact so alleged shall not preclude the board or referee before whom the petition is heard from requiring of its or his own motion proof of such fact

Section 417 As soon as may be after the twelfth day after notice that a petition has been directed to be heard by the board has been served upon the adverse parties thereof the board shall fix a time and place for hearing the petition If a petition be assigned to a referee he shall twelve days after notice that such petition has been assigned to him has been served upon the adverse parties fix a time and a place for hearing the petition Such hearing shall not be less than five nor more than fourteen days after the mailing of notice thereof by the referee The secretary of the board if the petition has been directed to be heard by the board or by one or more of its members or the referee to whom the petition has been assigned shall serve upon all parties in interest a notice of the time and place of hearing and shall serve upon the petitioner a copy of any answer of any adverse party

Section 418 The board if a petition is directed to be heard by it or by one or more of its members or the referee to whom a petition is assigned for hearing may subpoena witnesses order the production of books and other writings and hear evidence and shall make in writing and as soon as may be after the conclusion of the hearing such findings of fact conclusions of law and award or disallowance of compensation or other order as the petition and answers and the evidence produced before it or him and the provisions of this act shall in its or his judgment require the findings of fact made by the board in any petition heard by it or by one or more of its members or upon a hearing de novo shall be final except as hereinafter provided and the findings of fact made by a referee to whom a petition has been assigned or any question of fact has been referred under the provisions of section four hundred and nineteen shall be final unless the board shall under the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-five of this article grant a hearing de novo or a rehearing

Section 419 The board may refer any question of fact arising under any petition including a petition for commutation heard by it to a referee to hear evidence and report to the board the testimony taken before him or such testimony and findings of fact thereon as the board may order The board may refer any question of fact arising out of any petition assigned to a referee to any other referee to hear evidence and report the testimony so taken thereon to the original referee

Section 420 The board or a referee if it or he deem it necessary may of its or his own motion either before during or after any hearing make an investigation of the facts set forth in the petition or answer The board or referee with the consent of the board [may] shall whenever it shall be deemed in the interest of justice to do so appoint one or more impartial physicians or surgeons to examine the injuries of the plaintiff and report thereon or he may employ the services of such other experts as shall appear necessary to ascertain the facts The report of any physician surgeon or expert appointed by the board or by a referee shall be filed with the board or referee as the case may be and shall be a part of the record and open to inspection as such

The board shall fix the compensation of such physicians surgeons and experts which when so fixed [shall be paid out of the sums appropriated to the Department of Labor and Industry for the maintenance of the department and] shall be taxed as part of the costs of the proceedings [to be repaid to such department by either party or both as the board may direct If any sum so taxed shall not be paid by the party directed to repay the same may be collected as costs are now collectible] and shall be paid by the employer to the physician surgeon or expert If any employer shall fail to pay such cost promptly the physician surgeon or expert may proceed to collect the same in the manner provided in this act for the collection of awards of compensation

Section 421 All hearings before the board or one or more members thereof or before a referee shall be public

The official stenographic notes taken at a hearing shall be transcribed and a copy thereof furnished to the employer and the claimant the cost of which shall be taxed as a cost of the proceedings and shall be paid by the employer If any sum so taxed is not paid by the employer the same may be collected as costs are now collectible

The board or a referee shall assess against each employer or claimant five dollars ($5.00) for each postponed or continued hearing held at the request of such employer or claimant but may if it shall be deemed to be in the interest of justice to do so waive any such amount assessed against any claimant

Section 422 Neither the board nor any of its members nor any referee shall be bound by the technical rules of evidence in conducting any hearing or investigation but all findings of fact shall be based only upon competent evidence

If any party or witness resides outside of the Commonwealth or through illness or other cause is unable to testify before the board or a referee his or her testimony or deposition may be taken within or without this Commonwealth in such manner and in such form as the board may by special order or general rule prescribe The records kept by a hospital of the medical or surgical treatment given to an employe in such hospital shall be admissible as evidence of the medical and surgical matters stated therein but shall not be conclusive proof of such matters

Section 423 Any party in interest may within twenty days after notice of a referee's award or disallowance of compensation shall have been served upon him take an appeal to the board on the ground (1) That the award or disallowance of compensation is not in conformity with the terms of this act or that the referee committed any other error of law (2) that the findings of fact and award or disallowance of compensation was unwarranted by the evidence or was procured by fraud coercion or other improper conduct of any party in interest The board may upon cause shown extend the time provided in this article for taking such appeal or for the filing of an answer or other pleading

In any such appeal the board may disregard the findings of fact of the referee and may examine the testimony taken before such referee and if it deem proper may hear other evidence and may substitute for the findings of the referee such findings of fact as the evidence taken before the referee and the board as hereinbefore provided may in the judgment of the board require and may make such disallowance or award of compensation or other order as the facts so found by it may require

Section 424 Whenever an appeal shall be based upon an alleged error of law it shall be the duty of the board to grant a hearing thereon The board shall fix a time and place for such hearing and shall serve notice thereof on all parties in interest

As soon as may be after any such hearing the board shall either sustain or reverse the referee's award or disallowance of compensation or make such modification thereof as it shall deem proper

Section 425 Whenever an appeal shall be taken on the ground that the referee's award or disallowance of compensation was unwarranted by the evidence or because of fraud coercion or other improper conduct by any party in interest the board may in its discretion grant a hearing de novo before the board or one or more of its members or assign the petition for rehearing to any referee designated by it or sustain the referee's award or disallowance of compensation If the board shall grant a hearing de novo it shall fix a time and place for same and shall notify all parties in interest

As soon as may be after any hearing de novo by the board it shall in writing state its findings of fact and award or disallow compensation in accordance with the provisions of this act

Section 426 The board upon petition of any party and upon cause shown at any time before the court of common pleas of any county of this Commonwealth to [whom] which an appeal has been taken under the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-seven of this article shall have taken final action thereon may grant a rehearing of any petition upon which the board has made an award or disallowance of compensation or other order or ruling or has sustained or reversed any action of a referee the time for taking appeals shall be suspended pending the determination of the first petition for rehearing in those cases in which such petition is filed within twenty days from notice of decision of the Workmen's Compensation Board [but such rehearing shall not be granted more than one year after the board has made such award disallowance or other order or ruling or has sustained or reversed any action of the referee] If the board shall grant a rehearing of any petition from [the board's] its action on which an appeal has been taken to and is pending in the of this Commonwealth under the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-seven of this article the board shall file in such court a certified copy of its order granting such rehearing and it shall thereupon be the duty of such court to cause the record of the case to be remitted to the board [Provided however That nothing contained in this section shall limit or restrict the right of the board or a referee designated by the board to review modify set aside reinstate suspend or terminate an original or supplemental agreement or an award in accordance with the provisions of section four hundred thirteen of this article]

Section 427 Any party may appeal from any action of the board on matters of law to the court of common pleas of the county in which the accident occurred or of the county in which the adverse party resides or has a permanent place of business or by agreement of the parties to the court of common pleas of any other county of this Commonwealth Such appeal must be brought within twenty days after notice of the action of the board has been served upon such party unless any court of common pleas to which an appeal lies shall upon cause shown extend the time herein provided for taking the appeal The party taking the appeal shall at the time of taking the appeal serve upon the adverse party a written notice thereof setting forth the date of the appeal and the court in which the same is filed and shall file either with his notice of appeal or within thirty days thereafter such exceptions to the action of the board as he may desire to take and shall specify the findings of fact if any of the board or of the referee sustained by the board which he alleges to be unsupported by competent evidence

Upon filing of the notice of an appeal the prothonotary of the court of common pleas to which the appeal has been taken shall issue a writ of certiorari directed to the [Workmen's Compensation Board] board commanding it within ten days after service thereof to certify to such court its entire record in the matter in which the appeal has been taken The writ so issued shall be mailed by the prothonotary to the [bureau] department at Harrisburg together with a copy of the exceptions The board shall within ten days after such service certify to such court its entire record in the matter in which the appeal has been taken including the notes of testimony

Any court before whom an appeal is pending from any action of the board may remit the record to the board for more specific findings of fact if the findings of the board or referee are not in its opinion sufficient to enable it to decide the question of law raised by the appeal

If the court of common pleas of any county of this Commonwealth shall affirm an award or order of the board or of a referee sustained by the board fixing the compensation payable under this act the court shall the prothonotary of such court shall within ten days certify the order of the court to the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of the county wherein the employer resides whose duty it shall be to enter judgment for the total amount stated by the award or order to be payable whether then due and accrued or payable in future instalments If such court shall sustain the appellant's exceptions to a finding or findings of fact and reverse the action of the board founded thereon the court shall remit the record to the board for further hearing and determination in which the procedure shall be the same as that hereinbefore provided in this article in the case of a petition presented to the board except that the board may order that any part of the testimony taken in the original proceedings may be considered as though taken in such further hearing

The prothonotary of any court of common pleas to which an appeal has been taken from the board shall send to the board a certificate of the judgment of the court as soon as rendered with a copy of any opinion which may be filed in the case and within five days shall give notice of such judgment and the date thereof by registered mail to each attorney-at-law appearing in the case at the address given by the attorney in the pleadings and if no attorney-at-law has appeared by registered mail to the party or parties not represented by counsel At the end of the period hereinafter allowed for an appeal from the judgment of the court the record of the board shall be remitted to it by the prothonotary unless an appeal shall have been taken to the Superior Court as hereinafter provided If such appeal shall be taken the record shall be remitted to the board by the prothonotary on its return from the appellate court

Any party may appeal to the Superior Court from the judgment of the court of common pleas within thirty days after entry of said judgment irrespective of the amount involved Such appeal shall be taken and prosecuted in the same manner and form and with the same effect as is provided in other cases of appeal to the Superior Court and the record so certified shall contain all that was before the common pleas Any appeal from the action of the board to a court of common pleas and from it to the Superior Court shall take precedence over all other civil actions The judgment of the Superior Court shall be final unless an appeal therefrom is allowed by the Supreme Court as in the cast of other judgments of [that tribunal] the Superior Court

Section 428 At any time after the approval of a compensation agreement or after an award or order has been made by the board or referee the department the employe or dependents entitled to compensation thereunder may file a certified copy of the agreement and the order of the board approving the same or of the award or order with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county and the prothonotary shall enter the total amount of compensation stated in the agreement award or order to be payable to the employe or his dependents whether then due and accrued or payable in future instalments as a judgment against the employer or other party liable under such agreement or award Such judgment shall be a lien against property of the employer or other party liable under such agreement or award and execution may issue thereon forthwith

Whenever after an accident any employe or his dependents shall have entered into a compensation agreement with his employer or shall file a claim petition with the board he may file a certified copy thereof with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county The prothonotary shall enter the amount stipulated in any such agreement or claimed in any such petition as judgment against the employer If the agreement be approved by the board or compensation awarded as claimed in the petition the amount of compensation stipulated in the agreement or claimed in the petition shall be a lien as of the date when the agreement or petition was filed with the prothonotary Pending the approval of the agreement or the award of compensation no other lien which may be attached to the employer's property during such time shall gain priority over the lien of such agreement or award but no execution shall issue on any compensation judgment before the approval of the agreement or the award of compensation on the said petition

If the agreement be disapproved or after hearing compensation shall be disallowed the employer may file with the prothonotary of any county in which the petition or agreement is on record as a judgment a certified copy of the disapproval of the agreement or disallowance of compensation and it shall be the duty of such prothonotary to strike off the judgment

If the amount of compensation claimed be disallowed but another amount awarded the compensation judgment shall be a lien to the extent of the award as of the date of filing the petition with the prothonotary with the same effect as to other liens and the same disability to issue execution thereon as if the compensation claimed had been allowed In such cases the prothonotary shall make such modification of the record as shall be appropriate

If the compensation payable under any agreement or award upon which judgment has been entered under the provisions of this section shall be modified suspended reinstated or terminated by a supplemental agreement executed under the provisions of section four hundred and eight or by an award or order made under the provisions of section four hundred and thirteen any party to such judgment at any time after such agreement has been approved by the board or after the expiration of the time allowed for an appeal from the award or order may file with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county in which such judgment is on record a certified copy of such supplemental agreement award or order and it shall thereupon be the duty of the prothonotary to modify suspend reinstate or satisfy such judgment in accordance with the terms of such supplemental agreemental agreement award or order

Execution may issue by first filing with the prothonotary an affidavit that there has been a default in payments of compensation due on any judgment for compensation entered prior to the approval of the compensation agreement or an award on petition as soon as such agreement shall have been approved or such award made as evidenced by the aproval of the board of the award or by a certified copy thereof

Execution shall in all cases be for the amount of compensation and interest thereon due and payable up to the date of the issuance of said execution with costs and further execution may issue from time to time as further compensation shall become due and payable until full amount of the judgment with costs shall have actually been paid

Section 429 If any party against whom a compensation agreement award or other order fixing the compensation payable under this act has been filed of record in any county of this Commonwealth in accordance with the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-eight of this article or against whom judgment has been entered by the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county on any award or order of the board or a referee shall at any time present to the board receipts or copies thereof certified by any referee showing the payment of compensation as required by the agreement or award in full to the date of presentation to the referee the board shall issue a certificate to such party in the form prescribed stating the extent to which the judgment on the agreement or award has been reduced Upon the presentation of such certificate to the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county in which such agreement or award has been filed of record as a judgment or in which judgment on an award has been entered by the prothonotary of the court of common pleas it shall be the prothonotary's duty to mark such judgment satisfied to the extent of the payments so certified and upon the presentation to such prothonotary of a certificate issued by the board under the provisions of section three hundred and [seventeen] fifteen of this act it shall be the duty of the prothonotary to mark such judgment fully satisfied

Section 430 The lien of any judgment entered upon any award shall not be divested by any appeal If however the party appealing from the award shall file with the board a bond in such amount and in such form as the rules and regulations of the board shall direct the appeal shall pending its decision excuse the payment of so much of the compensation as is contested therein but if the final decision on appeal shall sustain the award it shall be the duty of the employer by whom such award is payable to make payments of compensation as from the date of the original award If on appeal the award is sustained as to a part it shall be the duty of the employer by whom such part is payable to make payments as from the date of the original award In case the award is annulled on appeal it shall be the duty of the prothonotary of any county in which such award has been entered as a judgment to mark it satisfied

Section 431 The cost of the prothonotary for entering the amount of compensation as provided in this act or making a modification of the record or marking the judgment satisfied shall be allowed taxed and collected as upon a confession of judgment on a judgment note

Section 432 It shall be the duty of the prothonotary of each court of common pleas and of the Supreme and Superior Court of the Commonwealth to make a monthly report to the board of the disposition of all appeals taken to such court under the provisions of this article

Section 433 A document on file in the [bureau] department or with the board or any referee or part of the record of any proceedings taken under Articles III and IV of this act shall be proved by a copy thereof certified by the chairman of the board and attested by the secretary of the board under seal of the board.

Section 434 A final receipt given by an employe or dependent entitled to compensation under a compensation agreement or award reciting that the disability or dependency has terminated shall be prima facie evidence of the termination of the employers liability to pay compensation under such agreement or award Provided however That the board or a referee designated by the board may at any time set aside a final receipt upon petition filed with the board if it be proved that such receipt was procured by fraud coercion or other improver conduct of a party or is founded upon mistake of law or of fact or upon erroneous judgment on the part of the employe of his ability to work

Section 435 Any hospital institution physician surgeon or other person who has furnished surgical medical dental and nursing services hospital treatment artificial appliances medicines and supplies for which the employer is made liable under the provisions of this act shall be deemed a party in interest and have standing before the board or any referee designated by the board and the courts of this Commonwealth to present a claim for remuneration for such services hospital treatment artificial appliances medicines and supplies and have the same heard and determined and shall be entitled to receive an award for such remunerations Any such claimant shall be entitled to enforce any such award in the same manner as claimants of compensation are entitled to enforce awards of compensation

Section 436 The board or a referee designated by the board or any court of this Commonwealth in granting an award of compensation to an injured employe or his dependents or in affirming or modifying and affirming such an award or in reversing the disallowance of such an award shall in addition to such compensation include in such an award or judgment expert's fees if any and reasonable attorney's fees for professional services if any rendered by an attorney-at-law to such employe or his dependents in any such proceeding payment of which may be enforced in the same manner as the payment of an award may be enforced under the provisions of this act

An Act giving to former owners of homesteads sold at sheriffs' sales the right to lease such homesteads for a period of two years from the date of any such sale and also during said two year period the right to redeem such homestead from any such sale and providing the procedure in such cases

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That when any real estate occupied by the owner thereof as a homestead is hereafter sold as the result of the foreclosure of a mortgage or on a mortgage bond or bond secured by a mortgage or on any judgment the owner in whose name such homestead was sold shall have a right to lease such property from the purchaser for a period of six months from the date of such sale if he shall notify the purchaser within thirty days from the date of such sale that he desires to lease the same If the owner whose homestead was so sold and the purchaser thereof cannot agree upon a monthly rental for such homestead which shall be sufficient to pay the interest on the debt taxes and insurance or some other reasonable rental based on the value of the property then such monthly rental value shall be fixed as follows The former owner of the homestead shall appoint an arbitrator the purchaser shall appoint an arbitrator and the two so appointed shall select a third arbitrator and the rental value fixed by said board of arbitrators shall be deemed to be the final rental value for said six months period If the arbitrators cannot agree upon a fair rental then the same shall be fixed by the court of common pleas on petition and rule

If the former owner of the homestead shall agree to pay the monthly rental so fixed and shall enter into a lease of the property for said six months period and faithfully complies with the terms of such lease he shall have the option at any time during such six months period to redeem such homestead from such sale

Section 2 Redemption of any homestead from any such sale shall be made by the person holding the right to redeem by paying the sum of money for which the home stead was sold unless the homestead was purchased by the mortgagee judgment creditor or his assignee and the amount for which the real estate was sold was less than the amount actually due on the mortgage or judgment in which case the full amount due on the mortgage or judgment at the time of sale together with costs shall be paid

The person having the right to redeem such homestead shall pay to the sheriff of the proper county the amount required to be paid by this act for the purpose of redeeming real estate

Section When payment on account of any redemption is so made to the sheriff he shall immediately notify the person holding the title acquired at the sale of the receipt of such payment and the amount thereof The person holding the title acquired at the sale may accept such amount in redemption of such homestead or he may decline to receive the sum so paid but only for the reason that it is insufficient to meet all payments required to be made under this act in order to effect a redemption If the matter cannot be amicably adjusted between the persons redeeming and the persons holding the title party may petition the court of common pleas to determine the correct amount due to redeem said homestead and the amount so determined by such notice shall be given to the other party as the court shall prescribe together with interest thereon at the legal rate from the time of payment to the sheriff to the time when the redemption shall be completed shall be deemed the full amount necessary to make such redemption

If the amount fixed by the court exclusive of interest as above provided is in excess of the amount tendered by the person redeeming then the cost shall be paid by the person redeeming otherwise by the party holding the right acquired at such sale If the party redeeming fail to pay to the sheriff within ten days after the judgment of the court any excess due as found by the court then his right to redeem shall be lost unless the period of redemption has not expired at the end of said ten days in which case such excess and interest as above provided shall be paid before the expiration of the period of redemption

Section 4 Upon the adjustment of the amount due the person holding the title acquired at the sale and the redemption of any real estate the total amount paid to the sheriff shall by him be paid over to the person holding such title and the sheriff shall issue a certificate thereof to the prothonotray of the court of common pleas who shall forthwith make an entry thereof in the proper docket in his office and certify the same to the recorder of deeds of said county and such recorder of deeds shall make the face of redemption upon the record

Section 5 Any person redeeming a homestead from a sale on a mortgage bond or judgment as herein provided shall pay to the sheriff a fee of five dollars for his services in connection with such redemption and shall also pay any fees due the prothonotary and recorder of deeds for the entry of such redemption on their respective records

Section 6 This act shall take effect immediately upon final enactment

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 357, Printer's No. 278, on page 19, of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. SCHWARTZ.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 357, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (b) of section eight hundred and one of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred and five) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" as amended by requiring front registration plates to be illuminated.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill before you is only an amendment to section 801, clause B of the motor vehicle code to illuminate the front registration plate. For the information of this House I should like to explain to you how I came about introducing such a piece of legislation. I received a letter from the Veterans' Hospital, Hampton, Virginia on December 17, 1931, and I quote you the letter, which is addressed to me:

"Hon. Louis Schwartz
924 West Girard Avenue
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania
Dear Sir:

I have just returned from Harrisburg where I was informed of your capability and prestige as a legislator.

I have been attempting to initiate a move toward the legislation of lights for the purpose of illuminating the front license plate of the automobile by night.

It is my purpose to ask you to introduce a bill into your Legislature in January, requiring that the front license number be lighted as a measure of war on crime.

Certain it is that if a license number ever should be plainly in evidence it should be so at night.

While in Harrisburg I talked to Mr. Benj. Wiggins, Equipment Engineer of the Motor Vehicle Department. He requested our model be sent him for demonstration purposes. This I intend to do at an early date.

In the event that you will consider the introduction of the bill into the Legislature, and coach it thereafter, I shall be glad to hear from you. Should you consider that a personal interview is essential, I can come to Philadelphia or Harrisburg.

Trusting that I may be favored with an early reply, I am

Very respectfully,"

Mr. Speaker, after receiving this letter, there were also enclosed two photographs showing the operation of this device. It appealed to me and I answered these people and asked them if they wouldn't send me some samples, which they kindly did. I immediately got in touch with the Highway Patrol, the State Police Department and gave each one of those departments one of these devices to try on their automobiles for experiment, and both the Department of State Police and the Bureau of the Highway Patrol, from each of which I have in my hand letters, urging the members of this House to be for such a piece of legislation, both of which letters have been addressed to me, one signed by George C. Price, Superintendent of the Highway Patrol, and the other by the Superintendent of the State Police, Lynn G. Adams.

Now, gentlemen the bill is entirely up to you. This is how I came to introduce this bill

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentleman of the House, I certainly do appreciate the manner in which our good friend Mr. Schwartz so kindly presented the argument for Bill No. 357. Being in the automobile business and being strictly honest, there are a few people in that business who would take advantage of this particular part of the equipment. This is absolutely to my mind unnecessary, first, because the criminal who is out to beat the law is not particular about having any lights lit, and if he would happen to have that light illuminating the front license plates, how many times have you faced an automobile with glaring headlights that you were able to see anything? If it so blinds you as the operator of the car, what do you suppose it is going to do with the Highway patrol?

Now, this is just another additional expense which we would be imposing upon the automobile owners, and I feel that it is absolutely unnecessary as one engaged in that business, much as I would like to have the profit that would come from the sale of such equipment.

I feel that this House owes it to the automobile owner to at this time vote "no" on this particular bill.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is not an administration bill. It is a new idea in legislation. We have heard letters from the State Police and the Highway Patrol. We believe that this is a good thing and is not an expensive thing. We have seen the pictures where the license plates were illuminatd as the head lights are, and I do believe that this is a good move to bring about something that will help us to control crime in the state of Pennsylvania

Mr. PFAFF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. PFAFF. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz, tell the members of the House whether he is in any way interested in the manufacture of these particular lights that are proposed in this bill?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, absolutely not.

Mr. PFAFF. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz, tell the members of the House whether or not he is a representative in Pennsylvania of the owner of the patent rights of these lights?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker I am not the owner, and the statement that I made before in this House is absolutely the truth. I have no interest in the device. I have no interest in any patent at all, but I have heard some of the members speak of the patent and for the information of the House, I would say there is not a single item on an automobile that is not patented by some engineer.

Mr. PFAFF. Mr. Speaker, I do not think the gentleman has answered my question. I asked the gentleman from Philadelphia, whether he was a representative in the state of Pennsylvania for the manufacturer of these lights?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I have answered before, no, and I repeat again, no.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker I will.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill if it was not his intention to have an amendment in this bill that this was only to apply to cars manufactured from a certain date on, in other words new cars.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, as the bill was originally drawn I had no intention of doing so. There was one suggestion that came from one of the men in this House, who is not here, and I agreed that if he would have these amendments prepared that they apply to newly constructed cars, and I agreed that if this bill gets into the Senate I will be glad to put those amendments in. The gentleman is Mr. Dent, from Westmoreland.

Mr. DENT. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I have been informed by one of my colleagues in this House that this device is not a patented article, and that he has plenty now on display at his store. There are several devices that have been submitted to each department for their approval.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want to inform the House, taking the word of the gentleman who was sponsor of the bill, the amendments that I prepared, or he has prepared rather, will be offered in the Senate if the bill passes the House.

It is too late to do it today. The amendment was misplaced and I can not get a hold of it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 893, Printer's No. 587, on page 20, of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. EROE.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 893, entitled:

An Act providing for the payment of the compensation medical and hospital expenses of policemen and firemen by cities boroughs towns and townships who are injured in or taken sick as a result of the performance of their duty and providing that absence during such injury or sickness shall not reduce any usual sick leave period

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to call your attention to the fact that this bill has been amended, taking out the sick clause. It now provides for the payment of compensation, medical and hospital expenses of policemen and firemen by cities, boroughs, towns and townships who are injured in the performance of their duties and providing that absence during such injuries shall not reduce any usual sick leave period.

We expect our police and firement to perform their duties under sometimes very hazardous conditions. I think that it is no more than right that the people in these subdivisions take care of these men if they are injured in the line of duty, and provide them with compensation until they are fit to return to duty. I ask for the support of this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. BLUMBERG.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1655 (Senate Bill No. 29), entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article fourteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding section eight

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 2, by inserting after the word "That" the following: "the following amendment to the Constitution of the Con-"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agreed to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House. I wish to call your attention to the fact that the bill that you are now voting on is a distinct change from the present system that prevails in the so-called country districts. At the present time in boroughs and in townships, in other words, in other municipalities than first, second and third class cities, we do not have registration of voters in the sense in which that term is generally used. We have an enrollment of voters. They are placed on a list by a local registry assessor. Each year the registry assessor goes around, inquires at the houses as to the eligible voters, takes off the list those who have moved and places on the list any new families that have moved in, or places on the list any member of a family who has become of age since the last election and who is entitled to vote.

I think you men who come from the country districts know the great difficulty that you have at the present time in getting the voters to the polls to vote. Our present system, I think, works very well, except for the fact that it is difficult to get the new people to go and place their names on a voting list by going to the registry assessor, and if your experience is the same in your county as it is in ours, we have a great deal of difficulty in urging upon many of our people to enroll and to see that the new residents in the community are enrolled on the list.

You all know, you men that come from the city, who have had experience in cities of the first, second and third class, that there is a tremendous effort put forth on the part of the political parties to get the people to go out to register. I know that in the city of Chester, and I think it is also true of the city of Philadelphia, that the people will stand in line for a long time waiting for a chance to register. But there you have the people in compact communities, where it is not quite so difficult to get them out to register as it is to get the people in the less populous sections to enroll. True, this provides for permanent registration and once these people's names are on the list they will be kept there unless they remove from the community, and the registration authorities remove them from the permanent registration list, but, in the first analysis, to get the people in the county,—take the county of Delaware where some hundrd thousand vote in the county outside of the city of Chester, it will be a long time before you can get those people on the list and it will take a tremendous effort on the part of every political organization, and every political party to endeavor to get those people to go to the registry point and place their names upon the list. If it is difficult to get them to go out on the day of election to vote, then it is going to be many times as difficult to get them to go to a central place and register, as would be provided under this act. Now, it is claimed, and I have had a number of men come to see me,—it is claimed that this will save money. I believe that this is an Allegheny County bill primarily. It is sponsored by the people in authority in Allegheny County. They claim that it will save a large amount of money. They say it costs them $125 per district under the present system. I say that the county commissioners under the present system have the power to regulate that to a certain extent. In the second place I do not believe that the saving of the money will be anywhere near what they calculated, because it will be necessary to provide permanent registration offices, it will be necessary to provide registrars, it will be necessary to provide clerks, and they must send people out into the districts to investigate the list from time to time to tell whether the people who are registered on the list have removed from the district. Therefore, I do not believe that the saving, the actual direct saving in money to the municipality or the county, can be anywhere near the amount that they anticipate.

In the second place I say when it comes to an issue that pertains to the question of the right of franchise in getting people to exercise their right of franchise, we have always urged that everyone go out and vote, we have always urged everyone to exercise his citizenship, but when you add an extra difficulty of this kind to the people in rural districts who will have to travel for some distance, and I say this will be particularly true to the women of the districts, particularly the old women. If it is difficult now to get them to the polls to vote it will be doubly difficult to get them to go and register and they will be disenfranchised when the time comes if they are not on the registration list.

Therefore, I say that this bill should be defeated.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I must disagree with my friend on the other side of the House. Both parties are pledged to clean elections. I say that this bill is no different in principle from the Blumberg-Schwartz bill providing for permanent registration in cities of the second class, or any different from the bill passed by this House, giving the right to the city of Pittsburgh to have a permanent registration system with the city of Scranton.

Let me repeat the words of Senator George L. Reed, the Republican Senator from Dauphin County, in the passage of the bill on third class cities last week, when he said that this bill "follows the law passed for Scranton and will provide a thorough safeguard in elections."

The principle is the same whether it applies to rural districts or cities. As a matter of fact, farmers are not transient people. They reside in communities for years and years. Once they register, they are registered for life. If they are interested in their government they are certainly going to register if they know that they register but once. As difficult as it is for them to come to vote, it is just as difficult for them to be registered. That kind of principle must fall. I say that the same is paid to the assessors in the county of Delaware as is paid in Allegheny county. In the county of Allegheny we have four hundred and eighty-four assessors who are paid $125 each per year. They repeat the same work every year at a cost of over $60,000 yearly for doing the very same work. Once you register, the cost is initial, in providing a setup for a permanent registration system, but above all, we must all stand by the principle involved. We have had in Allegheny county and in other counties in this Commonwealth, possibly exclusive of Delaware which is a more Puritan county, we have had flagrant examples of phantom voting, and we have had flagrant examples of phantom registration. In Allegheny County, we have had box cars voting, we have had empty lots, telegraph poles, outhouses, billboards, which have been casting anywhere from twenty to twenty-five votes for each election, until in the city of Pittsburgh, following the passage of a permanent registration bill, we had the cleanest election ever held in that city in a decade in this past election. That is what we are for. Both parties were pledged in the last election for clean elections. This is a step in the right direction, outside of the cost involved. I think, carrying out the words of the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Reed, we have a bill in this House by Mr. Blumberg and Mr. Schwartz on the other side of the House. I say that this is a step in the right direction and I ask both the minority and the Democratic majority in this House to vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Weiss.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, on page thirty-seven of the bill, I find a provision that the voter must sign a certificate certifying that he is qualified to vote at a primary or an election, giving his signature. Then it must be approved by the election officer. Then there must be a number on the stub of the ballot issued, the number of admission to the voting machines and party at primaries. Does that mean that every voter will have to sign a certificate, setting forth his name and that it shall be compared?

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, that is exactly what it means.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think that the gentleman from Allegheny, in his answer, has given a stronger reason than perhaps I have yet advanced why this bill should be defeated. I think to go into our country districts, where the election board knows everyone in the district intimately, and expect that the voter is going to stand up and sign a certificate giving his address, the number of the machine and all of the data pertaining to his vote would, I know in my county, would be an insult to the people in the county.

We once had in Delaware county a judge who was noted for his horse sense, his common sense and his wide experience, and he always maintained that you could pass all the laws that you wanted on elections, but unless you had an honest election board, there was no way to prevent crooked elections. If the people in Allegheny county want to have clean elections, the way to have them is to elect honest election boards, and the way to have them is to go into their own districts and see that the proper men are placed on the election boards. But this is unfair to the rest of us in the State, to impose upon the voters in our districts and in our precincts restrictions and qualifications of this kind in order that they may clean up a mess of their own.

We are all too prone to go to the legislature and seek to right some local condition that after all is within the hands of the electorate in that district.

I remember that we once passed this registration law and it was provided in that bill that the people register every year or every election time. What did it result in? It did not result to the benefit of the reformers and the independents, but it worked to the benefit of the political organizations because they could get their voters out while the independent and reform elements stayed at home and did not go out to register. Now to come down and ask for permanent registration in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and in the third class cities of the Commonwealth, when they already have registration is a nuisance to the voters, while I am in favor of permanent registration, I am not in favor of imposing legislation upon the people in the tremendous number of country districts where I believe elections are conducted honestly and fairly and squarely, where a further burden should not be placed upon them in the exercise of their franchise.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill might be workable and a good arrangement in thickly populated districts. I represent a county where many of my constituents live out in the country; I know what a difficult job is to even interest them in the primaries or general elections, how difficult it is to get them out, and I know if this bill were to be enacted into a law that many of them would default in the matter of registering. This bill may be right theoretically, but I am quite sure it would not prove right practicable in Beaver County. I therefore ask the members who come from counties in which there are rural districts to consider well before they cast their vote on this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1916, (Senate Bill No. 141), as follows:

An Act authorizing the abatement of certain tax penalties and interest on county city (except city of the first class) borough town township school district (except school district of the first class) and poor district taxes

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That all penalties and interest imposed on delinquent county city (except city of the first class) borough town township school district (except school district of the first class) and poor district taxes for the tax year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and all previous years assessed against any real estate shall be abated by the authority levying the tax if said delinquent taxes are paid as hereinafter provided

In order to receive the benefits of this act twenty per centum of the delinquent taxes due for the tax year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and for all previous years shall be paid on or before the first day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five twenty per centum on or before the first day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six twenty per centum on or before the first day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven twenty per centum on or before the first day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight and the final twenty per centum on or before the first day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine and Provided further That the respective current taxes for the years during such installment periods shall be paid before they become delinquent

If any taxpayer availing himself of the provisions of this act shall fail to pay any instalment of taxes as hereinbefore provided for the tax year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and all previous years as hereinbefore provided then the penalties and interest due on such unpaid installment or installments shall not be abated

Any taxpayer may anticipate the payment of such delinquent taxes for the tax year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and previous years and receive the benefit of this act

This act shall be construed to apply to all taxes whether or not liens for such taxes have been returned for non payment or have been filed in the office of the prothonotary of the county or proceedings for the collection of such taxes have been instituted in any court in said county

The benefits of this act shall extend to and accrue to any grantee transferee mortgagee or other party in interest in the real estate against which the above mentioned taxes have been assessed and levied

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

MOTION TO POSTPONE BILL

Mr. MENTZER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. FLINCHBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Mentzer.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MENTZER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. FLINCHBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland whether he is postponing this at the request of the sponsor of the bill?

Mr. MENTZER. Mr. Speaker, I am not. At a meeting this afternoon of the members of the minority and majority of the House, it was agree that a committee would be appointed to study this bill and other bills, and to present a bill to the House which would be acceptable to the members.

Mr. FLINCHBAUGH. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, this measure has been before this House for quite a long time, and it is imperative that something be done to this measure. We are all pledged for the relief of the taxpayers, and there is no better measure before the House at this time, I think, for the relief of the taxpayers. In other cities and other states, where the penalties have been abated, there has been a great influx of tax moneys. For instance, in the city of Rochester, New York, where there were abatements of delinquent penalties and interest, over 50% of the delinquent taxes flowed into the treasury immediately. It is better to have the tax money with abatement of the penalty and interest than not to have it at all.

On the first of May, which is the day after tomorrow, a great many of these tax liens will be filed unless this House act favorably tonight, and I ask you ladies and gentlemen to vote down the motion of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Mentzer.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Mentzer.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MENTZER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Westmoreland postponing this with the intention of amending?

Mr. MENTZER. Mr. Speaker, yes sir, if the committee recommends the amendments.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman stated "if the committee recommends the amendments."

Mr. MENTZER. Mr. Speaker, I say if the committee recommends.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to asck the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Mentzer, which committee he refers to.

Mr. MENTZER. Mr. Speaker, I mean the committee that was agreed on this afternoon, members of this House that were interested in the delinquent tax, who were called to a meeting, and they agreed with the Chairman, and a motion was made that a committee be appointed to report this week on this bill or some other bill which would be so drawn that it would be acceptable to the members of this House.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Westmoreland whether or not the proposed amendments have been taken up with the joint committee of the House and Senate appointed to study this bill?

Mr. MENTZER. Mr. Speaker, I do not think they have.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House the bill in its present form has been recommended to this House by the Joint Committee appointed by the House and Senate to study this bill, and I ask the members of the House to vote "no" on the motion to postpone.

Mr. MENTZER. Mr. Speaker, last week this bill was amended to make the measure of collecting the current taxes on the condition that 20% of the delinquent taxes be paid each year. After this amendment was placed in the bill, a new amendment was placed in, bringing back the current taxes, and a great many members of the House feel that the property owner today is not in a position to pay his current taxes.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. WITKIN. The gentleman is discussing the merits of the bill, and the question is on the motion to postpone.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The merits of the bill are not under discussion.

Mr. MENTZER. Mr. Speaker, this evening at 5:30 there were approximately 50 members of this House at a meeting, and it was decided then a committee should be appointed to study this question. I feel that the question has not been properly studied, and that the members of his House should be given the privilege of presenting to the House a bill that is acceptable and will be a real benefit to the property owner.

Mr. REISING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, to postpone this bill at this time to my mind is just putting off until another day something that we can do today. Any action that was taken this afternoon by the 50 members of this House will not conflict in any way with passing this bill here tonight. So, I would ask that the motion to postpone be voted down.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the motion?
It was not agreed to.
On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill under various names has been before this House before. In its present form it provides that any tax that is now due in 1930 until 1934, taxes can be paid in installments up until 1939 without one cent's worth of interest and without one cent's worth of penalty. I personally think it is not fair to the men and the women of this Commonwealth who have met their obligations to the state and to the county and to the township and the school districts and the rest of the municipalities of this Commonwealth to pass this bill in its present form. The ressons for this I pointed out in a speech which I made in the Pearson Bill, which is similar to this, when before the House, and I do not intend to repeat what I then said, but I do want to call attention to this fact, that this bill in its present form will not encourage payment of taxes in 1935, but it will discourage the payment of taxes in 1935.

One of the bills referring to the abatement of taxes which was before this House provided that you could come in and pay the taxes immediately and thereupon get the abatement. If this bill did provide that within a six month period you could come in and pay your taxes and get the abatement of all penalties and interest, I do not think that it would be a particularly good bill, but it would be a better bill than the bill in its present form, because the bill not only discourages the payment of taxes now but it goes further and says: "no, pay them in installments. We will give you up until 1939 to pay these taxes and we will not charge you one cent's worth of interest or one cent's worth of penalty."

I do not think, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that a bill of this type is fair, and I further do not think that it will encourage the payment of taxes promptly. Next session the people who have not paid their taxes will be back again and they will want more relief and I say that it is not relief to the taxpayers that they are asking, it is relief to the ones who have not paid the taxes.

Mr. Speaker, I propose to make a motion that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered, and if that motion is carried I propose to submit amendments to this bill, which will provide that in an effort to make a compromise, we abate all penalties and all interest if the taxes are paid within six months of the effective date of this act, but if any person proposes to pay these taxes in the installments suggested here that they will pay a fair rate of interest for that.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE

Mr. WOODSIDE. I move, Mr. Speaker, that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to rise to support the motion of the gentleman from Dauphin, stating that I too desire to offer amendments to the bill for the purpose of limiting any abatement of interest and penalty to only the home owners living in the home at the time that the taxes were assessed. The reason for such an amendment is quite apparent. It is done solely for the purpose of confining the benefit to the small individual and not to the large taxpayer who has chiseled. For that reason I am asking the members of the House to support the motion.

Mr. REISING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this motion is just another move to defeat the purpose of the bill which is to help the distressed taxpayers. It goes without saying that unless we can give relief to the real state taxpayers we cannot have recovery. This will not in itself, as the bill stands now, give a whole lot of relief, but it will be one step in the right direction. I would ask that in view of the fact that real estate, regardless of who may own it, rich men or poor men, is taxed too heavily, it is our duty as representatives here, and everyone of you regardless of your party affiliations, has without doubt pledged your constituents, who own real estate, to assist them in reducing the tax load. This is one time that we can do something that will help your constituents, and I feel that you should vote down this motion, which, if its intent is carried out, will destroy completely the purpose of the bill, and since it has gone through the Senate, I feel it is little enough on our part to go along with it as it now is and I will ask you to vote down this motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the nays appear to have it.

Whereupon a division was called for and fifty-eight members having voted in the affirmative and ninety-nine in the negative the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to oppose the passage of this bill and I call to the attention of the members of the House the fact that it is claimed by the proponents of this bill that it will materially help the taxpayers. I wish to point out to the members of this House the fallacy of this statement. We are all very familiar with the fact that municipalities are struggling along with little or no money; that such fund as they do have constitute in the main part, borrowed money on which they are paying interest. If this bill is passed the burden of that interest will be passed on to those individuals who have paid their taxes. I repeat, Mr. Speaker, that those individuals who have paid their taxes in the past will find no incentive to do so in the future. I point out to the members of the House that as a matter of fact by far the greatest majority of the people of this Commonwealth are paying their taxes. I think it is true that there is a large minority that have been unable to do so, and you will just shift the burden. It will mean that those individuals who have been paying their taxes in the past will cease paying them and it will leave the burden to those who have up to the present time apparently been unable to carry on and pay the taxes. It will result in but one thing, and that is a complete falling down and breaking up of our municipal form of government. Let me point out to the members of the House just a small paragraph in this bill. I do not think you will find it in your calendar. This is what it states: "The benefits of this act shall extend to and accrue to any grantee transferee mortgagee or other party in interest in the real estate against which the above mentioned taxs have been assessed and levied."

It simply means that those individuals who have been foreclosing, those individuals who have been taking advantage of the conditions when they foreclose will now be extended the benefits of this act, although they did not show the same courtesy and the same kindness to their debtors when they were in trouble. Again, let me state to the members of the House that the only class and the main class that is going to be benefited by this act is the large taxpayer, those who have proven to be the chiselers, who have not met their duties to government, they alone are the men to benefit by this act, and for that reason I ask the members of the House to vote against this bill.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, tax abatement bills have two fundamental principles which are: first, to give the property owners an opportunity to pay the delinquent tax and abate any penalty and interest that may have accrued. And second, by providing in such a bill that during the time allowed for delinquent taxes that the current taxes must be paid in order to discourage tax delinquencies.

I must surely dissent from the statement made by the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, when he said that the burden falls upon the man who is able to and has been paying his taxes. This bill will remedy and aid a condition of that kind by reducing that load, because the gentleman on that side of the House well knows that the local government, school boards, in fixing their budgets do not levy on assessments but they levy on estimated receipts, and we know that in the past several years tax collections have fallen from 90 percent to approximately 60 per cent. Naturally, the tax load falls upon the man who is able to pay. This bill remedies a situation of that kind. This bill, the Huffman-Rankin bill, isn't the best bill that could have been drawn, but it is the best bill under the corcumstances. We have made a political football out of a half-dozen bills in this House, and yet we are all trying to grant relief to the over-burdened tax payers and the property owners. I have a schedule here of a similar system of collections in the city of Buffalo, New York, which shows that by inserting the provisions of current tax collections it has materially aided in the receipts received in the past year, representing some 26 per cent increase in the tax collections during 1934. Some seem to say that if a person is unable to pay their current taxes, they do not have enough money to pay a current taxes, let alone pay delinquent taxes. If that situation is true how do they have any money to pay delinquent taxes in installments? We must insert this feature if we are to aid both the taxpayers and the property owners.

Let us remember the words of Lincoln. Lincoln stated that the foundation of our government lies in the security of our homes, and certainly we cannot build up the morale of the property owner by continually placing taxes and taxes and not even giving them a semblance of relief. I say that this bill is the best bill available. It has gone through the Senate, practically unanimous, and I ask this House to endorse and support this bill.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House. I have said before and before that I favor a reasonable tax penalty abatement bill, and I reaffirm that statement. However, this House has passed a bill which will permit each municipality to pass such abatement legislation as will meet the needs of that particular district. I think that that bill is a vast improvement over the one before us. I think that bill should be enacted into law instead of the one which is before us. Each municipality and each district can face its own problem in its own way, and in those districts where they feel that the taxpayers will be benefited, as was suggested by the gentleman from the other side of the House, who has just spoken, they can then abate that penalty and all interest, but if the districts, such as those I have in mind who have contacted me feel that they will not benefit the taxpayers, by a general abatement of all interest, and all taxes, and all penalties, and they feel that they will not benefit by that then those districts need not pass a general bill or general legislation which will abate all penalty and all interest. They can do that which they consider to be the best thing for the district in which they are governed. I submit to the members of the House the people who have this problem in their own districts are best fitted to decide what are the best things for the taxpayers of that district, for they have the taxpayers of the district at heart. It is they that must pay the millage. If this bill will give them an increase of millage, and I submit it will in many districts, then I would say we are the ones who are putting responsibility upon those people which we should not place upon them, and I submit, members of the House, for that reason this bill should be defeated.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I dislike very much to find myself in disagreement with my very good friend from Dauphin. Unfortunately I have been wrestling with this problem of tax abatement for about two months. As you know we have had several bills, we have had the Faulkenstein bill, we have the Eroe bill, the Witkin bill. We have had several bills brought up in the Senate the Huffman-Rankin blil, the Salus bill, the Shapiro bill. The result has been we have passed in the House the Falkenstein and the Eroe bill, and both of these bills are bottled up into the Senate Committee. The Senate has passed the Huffman-Rankin bill, and the Salus bill. The Salus bill is bottled up in a Committee in the House. The Huffman-Rankin Bill only came out under these circumstances. When both Houses found themselves in disagreement, a resolution was introduced into the House providing for a joint committee of five members of the House and five members of the Senate to sit down and decide two bills that would be acceptable generally in both the House and the Senate, in order to make sure they were getting some tax abatement bill brought out of this session. The Speaker appointed five members of the House, three of the majority and two of the minority party. The Senate did likewise. That Committee met on two occasions. We had before us all of the bills introduced into this session. As the result of that work on all of these bills this committee agreed that the Huffman-Rankin bill was the most satisfactory bill that we could get, applicable to all sections of the state, with the exceptions of cities of the first class, and that the Salus bill with certain amendments to be inserted was the only bill that met with the consent of the members of cities of the first class in the House and in the Senate. The point I want to make is this, if we are going to have tax abatement, we must agree on a bill that will go through both Houses. The Huffman-Rankin bill is the only bill applicable to the state on which there is an agreement. If the Huffman-Rankin bill is passed here tonight, that settles the situation. It it is not and it is amended no House bill will be moved in the Senate, and the Senate will not concur in the House amendments.

Are we sincere, are we serious about affording some relief to the delinquent tax-payer? This bill provides that if the man who does not have the money to pay his delinquent taxes, he is given five years within which to pay it, to wit, twenty per cent a year, and providing,—and here is the important point,—that in each of those five years the delinquent taxpayer pays his current taxes, so that in order to take advantage of the abatement of penalties and interest we assure to the tax districts the collection of the current taxes. Obviously, if we do what Mr. Woodside suggested, offer an abatement only if all the taxes are paid within six months, we are affording no relief because the delinquent taxpayer cannot possibly pay all of his delinquencies within six months in addition to his current taxes. Here is a system where we assure the collection of current taxes, a most important matter, important to every school district, which the gentleman from Dauphin speaks about, because if they cannot collect their current taxes, then they have to go out and borrow them and then pay interest on the borrowed money. They will be certain to receive the current taxes under this bill and receive twenty per cent of the delinquencies in addition.

This bill does not apply to Philadelphia, and so, Mr. Speaker, I am not speaking from a selfish standpoint. A bill applying to Philadelphia, I hope, will be out on the floor of the House sometime tomorrow, but in the meantime I say to you if you are serious in helping the distressed real estate owner, here is your opportunity, because the Senate and House conferees have agreed that it is the best that we can give to you.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I hope your faculty of memory has not failed you. If it has not, I ask you to go back with me to the days prior to the sixth day of November when we published the statement that there would be a political meeting somewhere, a Democratic meeting, a Republican meeting or a Socialist meeting, and invited the voters of our district to attend this meeting. You will recall how those voters came in and how from them there arose the cry of distress because of their great burden of taxation; the cry that they were going to lose their homes; the cry that they were no longer able to carry on. We got up on that platform and with the stars and stripes in back of us, we said to them what we would do towards reducing their taxes and abating their penalties. Now, were we sincere in this? Are we sincere tonight? Are we willing and prepared to carry the sacred promise that we made to our constituents back home? Let us be fair. Let us be free from this lip service and give our constituents a heart service, and vote for this bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BLUMBERG. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia why Philadelphia is not included in this tax bill?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, in reply I might state that because of the very large delinquency in Philadelphia it was thought that special provisions were needed in the Philadelphia bill. Two years only are given to pay the tax delinquencies. Not five years as in the present bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia whether a delinquent taxpayer in Philadelphia who could not pay his taxes presumably because he did not have the money, is any different from a taxpayer back in Westmoreland county who could not pay for the same reason?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I say that the situation is entirely different. The bulk of the delinquencies in Philadelphia is not owed by the small home owners, but rather by the large realty corporations, the title companies and the insurance companies.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia whether he knows who was the largest group of delinquent taxpayers in Jeannette, Pennsylvania?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I must say I am unfamiliar with the situation in Jeannette or Squedunk.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman for the enlightening answer to my question because it has only brought home the thought that Mr. Woodside tried to bring home to the members of the House. We find ourselves——

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman whether he is asking me a question or making a statement?

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, usually when I thank a man I am through with him.

Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, the gentleman from Philadelphia has confessed that he does not know the situation in Jeanette or Squedunk. Well, I don't know the situation in Philadelphia and I am ready to admit the fact, and I do not know the situation in Fayette county or Pittsburgh. I do know the situation in my own town. As a member of the Borough Council of Jeanette I feel that I, as part of the body that assesses the millage for the year, am in a better position to know how many years it would take or what conditions it would take for a delinquent taxpayer in Jeanette to pay his back taxes, than a man sitting in here from Philadelphia. Therefore, it is agreed that Philadelphia has a situation which is its own. I claim that we all have in every community that we come from, a situation which is entirely our own. Some of us come from manufacturing districts, some of us come from rural districts. The same remedy won't always cure the same disease. We find ourselves in the same predicament as the two men who had infected toes. They went to see the doctor together. One of the men was pretty large and the other was small. One doctor said, "We will amputate the toe of the small fellow." The other doctor stood, "No, we will amputate the foot." He said, "What are you going to do with the big fellow?" "Well, we will just have to amputate the toe." One doctor said, "All right, we will amputate the foot of the little fellow and we will let the big fellow alone." Yet it happens that the Senate tells us that we must not amend this bill or they won't pass it, and yet they tell us that Philadelphia has a situation of its own, and we have got to pass a bill for Philadelphia alone. There was a bill passed in this House which was an intelligent piece of legislation because it provided that every community could solve its own problem. There isn't anything fairer to a delinquent taxpayer in a small community that to have that community take care of the situation. Under this present act if the people are not at work in a smaller community this year and they may be next year, if they have the power in that community to pay the tax next year, it would be far more beneficial to the delinquent taxpayer, to lay the law down under the assumption that conditions are better today than in the last four years, and I defy you to show me where they are any better. He is in no better position to pay today and yet you are asking him to pay 20% of his back taxes. I claim, as Mr. Achterman claims, that it is only favoring a few people who foreclosed on mortgages, and they gave no quarter, and yet ask us to. I ask you to vote "no" on this measure. If the Senate is as sincere as they claim they are, they can pass a bill which will give local option to the people who deserve it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Legislative Journal.

Vol. 18. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, APRIL 30, 1935 No. 54

SENATE

TUESDAY, April 30, 1935

The Senate met at 2 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O God, at this season of plowing and planting the world of nature seems to thrill with promise of life to come. The sowers go forth to sow, strengthened and heartened for their toil by the hope of an abundant harvest by and by. Their labor and Thy power, Our Father, are transforming the earth into a bower of rare beauty. Hillsides, valleys and orchards are pregnant with hope of rich maturity when buds shall become fruit and green blades shall have developed into fields of golden grain. Wilt Thou not, O Jehovah, plow the fallow ground of our hearts. Plant therein seeds of noble ambition and manly purposes. Help us as we strive to bring unto fruition this divine planting. Send the sushine and rain of Thy presence and power upon the gardens of our hearts so there may come a rich and plentiful garnering when the sheaves are gathered at the final harvest-tide of life's season.

May we daily grow into nobler character and truer manhood, making the world more beautiful and fruitful because we have lived in it.

Bless this Senate. Make its members men after Thine own heart. We thus pray in the Master's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. SONES, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER, from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed, House Resolution, which was laid on the table:

STATE EMERGENCY RELIEF BOARD URGED TO CONTINUE DISTRIBUTION OF MILK

In the House of Representatives, January 29, 1935.

Whereas, Unemployment relief has heretofore generally been distributed by the State Emergency Relief Board in the form of food and clothing vouchers or orders; and

Whereas, Many persons are of the opinion that such distribution should be in the form of direct or cash relief; and

Whereas, That method of distribution is already in effect in the counties of Philadelphia and Allegheny; and

Whereas, It is of paramount importance that milk be always available to the needy, particularly to the ill and to children; and

Whereas, The State Emergency Relief Board is able to procure milk more cheaply than destitute families can purchase it directly; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), By the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, That the State Emergency Relief Board be urged to continue the direct distribution of milk without regard to the method or methods which may be adopted in the distribution of relief generally; and, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Director of the State Emergency Relief Board of this Commonwealth.

Mr. RUPP, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 407 (House Bill No. 851), entitled:

An Act to amend paragraphs one and two of section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 681), entitled "An act providing for the award of drill and service medals and bars to officers and enlisted men of the Pennsylvania National Guard; imposing duties upon the Department of Military Affairs," altering qualification requirements for the award of such medals.

Mr. PYTKO, from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1017, entitled:

An Act relating to the Pennsylvania State Park at Erie; authorizing the Department of Forests and Waters to revoke and terminate certain revocable grants, and to acquire by purchase or eminent domain private property rights or interests, in respect to any lands within said park.

Also from the Committee on State Government rereported as committed, Senate Bill No. 577 (House Bill No. 1281), entitled:

An Act to further amend section two thousand four hundred and two of the act approved the nine day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws one hundred seventy-seven) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the board of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" by adding thereto clause (k) providing for the leasing or sale of mineral rights in certain State-owned lands.

Also from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed, the following Resolution:

PURCHASE OF POTATOES GROWN IN PENNSYLVANIA FOR RELIEF NEEDS

In the House of Representatives, April 24, 1935.

Whereas, potatoes are one of the most important cash crops of Pennsylvania farmers, and

Whereas, Pennsylvania is one of the five leading potato growing states; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) that it is the sense of the General Assembly that the State Emergency Relief Board continue its policy of buying potatoes grown in Pennsylvania for Pennsylvania relief needs.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39 which requires that concurrent resolutions lie on the table be suspended and that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDEST. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

EMPLOYEE OF THE SENATE

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HOMSHER offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 30, 1935.

Resolved, That the following person be elected an employe of the Senate, as is provided for by Act of Assembly:

be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present same to House of Representatives for concurrence.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. HOWELL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HOWELL from the Committee on County Government reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 614, entitled:

An Act to add section four hundred and forty-nine to the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1278), entitled "An act relating to counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; and revising, amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto," authorizing counties of the third class to appropriate money to county poor districts for hospital purposes.

PERMISSION GRANTED TO COMMITTEE ON BANKING TO HOLD MEETING DURING THE SESSION OF THE SENATE

Mr. SORDONI. Mr. President, the Committee on Banking was supposed to have a meeting today at two o'clock. Owing to the fact that the Senate was in Session, it has been postponed for a week. There are some gentlemen here from Washington to attend that meeting, and the Committee would like to have permission to meet at this time in the room to the right, while the Senate continues in Session.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none, and leave is granted the Committee to meet.

RECESS

Mr. PYTKO. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for ten minutes.

Mr. REED (Washington). Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

BILL SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill has passed both Houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. REED (Dauphin). Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Reed, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. REED (Dauphin). Mr. President, on Tuesday last, April 23rd, in this Chamber, I made some remarks on the subject of Democratic policies, State and National.

In discussing unemployment relief, I called attention to the fact that Governor Earle had persistently referred to the number receiving relief in Pennsylvania as being 2,000,000.

I refuted that figure. I stated that throughout the three months of the Earle Administration the average number on relief had been only 1,690,000, and that the Governor therefore was exaggerating by 310,000, or nearly 20%.

I desire now to call the attention of this Chamber to a subsequent refutation of the Governor's figures, from an authoritative source within his own official family.

On April 25th, Mr. Robert L. Johnson, State Relief Administrator, issued what purported to be a "reply" to my statement. In the sixth paragraph of that "reply" he referred to "our 1,750,000 relief recipients."

It will be noted that this figure is a quarter of a million less than that of the Governor, and within 60,000 of the figure I gave. I trust that in his next statement Mr. Johnson will go the rest of the distance and admit that my figure—an average for three months—was precisely correct.

In my remarks on April 23rd I also said:

"It is a justifiable assumption that the Governor calculated that the enlarged figure would help soften the shock to the public when the fact was revealed that during the first three months of his administration the cost of relief, per person, was 70% above the average for the whole of 1934, and 120% above the average for the corresponding three months of last year."

Of this, Administrator Johnson, in his aforementioned statement said:

"It is pointed out, quite accurately, that total expenditures for unemployment relief are much greater now than they were....."

I take this opportunity publicly to thank Administrator Johnson for the courage and candor with which he has corroborated those two important statements in my remarks of last week.

Mr. PRESIDENT, with the historic facts concerning the immortal conflict at Thermopylae, I am in entire agreement with my friend, the learned Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson. It was at Thermopylae, the narrow pass leading from northern to central Greece, that in the year 480 B. C., King Leonidas of Sparta made his famous stand against the mighty King Xerxes of Persia. With three hundred Spartans he held the pass of Thermopylae until a traitor showed the Persians and unguarded path over the mountain whereby the Persians in overwhelming numbers attacked the Spartans in the rear.

Upon the spot where Leonidas and his brave companions fell were erected a monument upon which was carved the inscription so eloquently quoted by the distinguished Senator from Centre last evening.

"Go tell the Spartans, thou that passeth by,
That here, obedient to their laws, we lie."

My learned friend, the Senator from Centre, has overlooked the fact that at the Extraordinary Session of 1932, the State Emergency Relief Board came into existence, because the Democratic Congress in Washington had decreed that funds coming from the Federal Government could only be dispensed in Pennsylvania through Governor Pinchot. So great was the love of a Democratic Congress for Governor Pinchot that the fight that was won by the true Spartans of Pennsylvania in 1931 for efficiency and economy and frugality in government was nullified in 1932, and at the behest of the Democratic Congress the present extravagant system of Administration of Unemployment Relief was inaugurated, a system which my friend, the able Senator from Centre so justly deplores.

And, Mr. President, from the hour that the crime of 1932 was committed, when under the lash of the Democratic Congress which sought to enthrone Pinchot by depriving the legally elected custodians of the poor of all power of relief, by placing it in the hands of the Chief Executive by means of a Commission which would be subservient to the Executive's will, Pennsylvania has witnessed the orgy of greed, graft, extravagance and chiseling, which so mightily stirs the heart of the distinguished Senator from Centre.

Over the political grave of Gifford Pinchot and certain of his devoted followers may be inscribed these words—

"Go, tell the Pennsylvanians, thou that passeth by,
That here, obedient to Pinchot's laws, we lie."

And the Pinchoites are mostly all there, that is, all except the Noble Beamish, who has miraculously escaped.

Not all the Spartans in the Legislature of Pennsylvania were obedient to Pinchot's will. My friend, the Senator from Centre, I am sure would not wish to misquote my position, but I am afraid he unwittingly did so when he included me in the Spartan Band which stood by Pinchot.

In order that the record may be set straight, I quote the remarks which I made upon the floor of the Senate on March 29, 1933, when House Bill No. 1590, making an appropriation to the State Emergency Relief Board, was before the Senate on third reading. I quote from page 1633 of the Legislative Journal 1933 as follows:

"My second reason for desiring to amend the bill is that as the bill now stands there is a question as to its constitutionality. Under the pending bill, the money is to be distributed according to the provisions of the second Talbot Act; that is through the State Emergency Relief Board. I do not imply criticism of the distinguished gentlemen serving on that Board, but the Governor has so much control, that the operations of that Board have been most unfortunate. I concede that the State Emergency Relief Board is a proper agency to distribute funds coming from the Federal Government, but equally I contend that it is not the proper agency to distribute funds secured from the taxpayers of Pennsylvania."

Attorney General Schnader, as you will recall, was positive in his statement that the first Talbot Bill was a violation of the Constitution, but the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania kept that bill on the statute books of Pennsylvania, and Governor Pinchot and Attorney General Schnader had to submit. My amendment therefor would cause this money to be distributed through the Poor Boards of Pennsylvania in accordance with the provisions of the first Talbot Act, a method which the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has said violates no provision of the Constitution. The second Talbot Bill has never been tested in the courts. It is my opinion that it is unconstitutional. The first Talbot Bill was held constitutional on all counts, especially as a poor law. In my opinion, the second Talbot Bill is unconstitutional because it is not a poor law and violates Article 3, Section 18, of the Constitution, prohibiting appropriations for charitable purposes.

Mr. President, I have consistently advocated that adequate relief be furnished to the needy of Pennsylvania and that it be furnished in the only manner it can constitutionally be done, viz. by direct appropriation to the poor boards of Pennsylvania. I do not intend to take the time of the Senate now other than to emphasize the fact that I am not a Pinchot Spartan. Personally I have no objections to the Senator from Centre consigning Pinchot to a political grave. In my opinion Governor Pinchot is as politically dead as is King Leonidas, but I do object to being consigned to the same grave with Governor Pinchot. To put Governor Pinchot and the Senator from Dauphin in the same political grave may be an everlasting threat to "eternal peace."

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, in the wake of all this bombastic eulogy on the glories of ancient Sparta and a humorous contempt for the welfare of our people, I rise to a question of personal privilege on the state and safety of the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, Article IV, Section 11 of the Constitution, in referring to His Excellency the Governor, provides that: "He shall, from time to time, give to the General Assembly information of the state of the Commonwealth, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he may judge expedient."

This language, Mr. President, is not ambiguous.

It is the purest and most lucid of English.

It imposes a positive duty upon His Excellency, the Governor, to give and recommend to the consideration of the General Assembly such measures as he may judge expedient to the welfare of the people.

Nowhere in it do we find that it is only to be considered by a fractional part of the General Assembly.

When the information and recommendations are made to this Senate they are to be considered by the whole Senate and not by a fractional part thereof.

Has this Senate, as a constitutional whole, been permitted to give a sensible and open-minded consideration to the information and recommendations given to it by His Excellency?

No, Mr. President, all the information and recommendations given by His Excellency have been removed from the floor of this Senate and are now being considered in secret caucuses and hidden conference rooms of Mr. Grundy, Mr. Mellon, Mr. Taylor, Mr. Pew, special interests, and the pandering Republican party spirit.

The false voice of these seducers of the public welfare is now sent forth through radio waves paid for with gold poured into the coffers of the Republican party by the filthy hands of the Grundys, Mellons, Taylors, Pews, and special interests.

This manner of considering the information and recommendations of His Excellency is not the manner prescribed by the Constitution.

Turning our attention to Sections 601 and 602 of the Administration Code of 1929, we find that, among other things: "The Budget Secretary shall, in each even-numbered year, obtain and prepare information necessary for the preparation of a State Budget for the Biennium beginning June 1st of the following year.....

"The Budget Secretary shall, on or before the first day of January, next succeeding, submit to the Governor, in writing, the information requested by the Governor, as a basis for the Governor's estimates for appropriations for the next succeeding biennium.

"As soon as possible, and not later than four (4) weeks after the organization of the General Assembly, the Governor shall submit a State Budget embracing therein the amounts recommended by him to be appropriated....."

The duty imposed upon His Excellency by this lawfully enacted Code must be slightly confusing to our Republican colleagues.

He is commanded to present the budget when it has been duly compiled by the Budget Secretary.

His Excellency has discharged his duty conformably with the Code and the budget has been before this Senate for more than two (2) months.

Authentically the budget is no more than a compilation of estimates of the probable expenditures for the ensuing biennium and the tentative source from which the revenues may be levied to defray those expenditures.

Experience teaches that in times like the present expenditures are often innocently underestimated while revenues are overestimated.

It is wise, therefore, that sufficient latitude should be allowed in computing these estimates so that their shall not be a collapse of governmental functions for the want of revenues.

The House of Representatives, after consideration of the information and recommendations of His Excellency, has effected the passage of appropriate bills and has forwarded them to this Senate for concurrence.

What has this Senate done in regard to them?

Like hungry wolves in sheeps clothing they have falsely robbed themselves with the immortal fame of Thomas Jefferson and Abraham Lincoln, and, thus robbed, they feast their predatory maws upon the ruins of the people's government.

So resolute and inexorable is their plundering hunger that neither the Constitution, the lawfully enacted statutes nor the honorable and accepted rules of parliamentary procedure have escaped their devastating ravages.

Article III, Section 14 of the Constitution provides that: "All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives, but the Senate may propose amendments as in other bills."

It has been many weeks ago that the House of Representatives forwarded to this Senate a number of revenue bills to balance the budget submitted by His Excellency, the Governor.

Again I ask what has this Senate done with these bills?

Here on my desk I find a typewritten statement which is entitled as follows: "Statement by Honorable John G. Homsher, President Pro Tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania, and Chairman of the Republican caucuses on behalf of the Republican members of the Senate of Pennsylvania."

I also find a second statement entitled: "Further Statement by the Honorable John G. Homsher with reference to Republican Tax Program."

Reading over these statements, Mr. President, I observe a conglomeration of numerical figures in sums of millions upon millions so confusingly expressed that the income tax compilations of Amos and Andy, of radio fame, are sensible and lucid in contrast.

Where in the Constitution or the law, Mr. President, is it written that a certain Honorable John G. Homsher, President Pro Tempore, and the Republican members of this Senate have become the sovereign dictators of this Commonwealth to the complete exclusion of the Democratic members of this Senate, the House of Representatives, the Constitution, the people and everyone else who are opposed to their pandering desires?

Where in the Constitution and law do these self-appointed dictators pretend to get their power to proceed to the consideration of these revenue bills to the exclusion of the nineteen (19) Democratic members of this Senate?

Were not the Democratic members elected through the constitutional methods adopted by the people?

The mandates of the Constitution and the law are clear.

The place where these tax revenue bills are to be considered is here on the floor of this Senate and not in the caucuses and secret hiding places of the Grundys, Mellons, Taylors, special interests and the pandering Republican party spirit.

To consider these bills in the manner they are now considered by a clique of this Senate is slowly inciting the peaceful people of this Commonwealth to use their sovereign powers to protect themselves against the destruction of their Constitution and government.

No man with proper senses can expect the thinking people to remain peaceful while this Senate stubbornly refuses to heed their will upon matters vital to their civil and political existence.

If this stubborn and pandering Republican party spirit continues to transgress the clear provisions of the Constitution, will not the people be justified in laying violent hands upon our throats?

The people are tired of seeing this filthy Republican party spirit playing partisanship with the miseries and wants of the people.

How long will it be before this stubborn partisanship is set aside and the whole of this Senate be permitted to settle down to the serious task of alleviating the burdensome condition of our people?

Surely we cannot expect the people much longer to remain idly by while this vandalizing Republican party spirit continues its devastations.

As a member of this Senate I do not intend to slink cowardly away while that modern Attila, Joseph J. Grundy, and his barbaric hordes of vandals sweep traitorously on to the rape of the Constitution and the plunder of the government and the people.

I shall not weaken while they, with deceptive tongues, and crocodile tears on behalf of labor, call upon their misconcepted God to hasten the day when their great Grundy, Mellon, Taylor, Pew and special interests shall see the standards of American labor beneath those of the slavish Japanese.

Article III, Section 33 of the Constitution, relating to this Senate, provides that: "A member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the General Assembly shall disclose the fact to the House of which he is a member and shall not vote thereon."

Mr. President, if there are members of this Senate who have a personal or private interest in the results of the bills now before this Senate, the same should be made known and the interested member remove himself from the consideration of these measures so that the Constitution may remain inviolate and the people of this Commonwealth receive the relief they so patiently await.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, hardly a day passes in this Senate—I know not a week—but that we hear from the Republican side bewailing of the administration of the Emergency Relief. I want to remind my good brethren on the other side of the House that whatever iniquity is built up in the Emergency Relief was built up under a Republican administration. The years of Emergency Relief in this State under Gifford Pinchot was built up when this Senate was Republican and when the House was Republican, and it is rather tiresome to sit here day after day and hear these Senators on the other side complain about the administration of Emergency Relief when not a word was said for the two years that they had control of this Emergency Relief and had control of the Senate and of the House; and I wish to remind the Senators on the other side that there has been only three months of this administration, and all of this is coming out now in the light of day. We had not heard about the Emergency Relief during the past two years, until George H. Earle was inaugurated Governor of this State, and a Democratic House took charge on the other side; and today there are at least a dozen counties in which the House has started investigation into the iniquities and corruption of the administration of the Emergency Relief built up under Gifford Pinchot.

Now, you cannot say that the Democrats are playing too much politics in the administration of this relief. Our Governor went outside of this State and picked a man from Connecticut to come down here and administer this relief; he didn't pick a Democratic politician. And I want to say to you, Mr. President, that if he had picked an Angel from Heaven to come down here to take charge of the administration of relief built up under Governor Pinchot, it would take him more than three months to clean house.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. NORTON read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 1150, entitled:

An Act defining fraternal benefit societies and their status; authorizing such societies to create subordinate lodges, and to pay benefits to members and their beneficiaries from funds collected, and regulating such benefits and collections: providing for the organization and incorporation of such societies, and for their supervision, regulation, and examination by the Insurance Commissioner and for the admission of foreign societies; designating tables of mortality as a basis for rates of contribution; requiring all societies to make annual and other reports, and appointing the Insurance Commissioner as attorney for service of process; providing penalties for any violation of the act; exempting such societies from taxation, and certain other societies from its provisions; and requiring beneficial associations, other than fraternal benefit societies, to report to, and be supervised by, the Insurance Commissioner; and repealing existing laws.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Section 7 Requirements of Voting Machines No voting machine shall upon any examination or reexamination be approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth or by any examiner appointed by him unless it shall at the time satisfy the following requirements

(a) It shall provide facilities for voting for such candidates as may be nominated and upon such questions as may be submitted

(b) It shall permit each voter at other than primary eleections to vote a straight party ticket in one operation and in one operation to vote for all the candidates of one party for presidential electors and in one operation to vote for all the candidates of one party for every office to be voted for except those offices as to which he votes for individual candidates

(c) It shall permit each voter at other than primary elections to vote a ticket selected from the nominees of any and all parties from independent nominations and from persons not in nomination

(d) It shall permit each voter to vote at any election for any person and for any office for whom and for which he is lawfully entitled to vote whether or not the name of such person appears upon a ballot-label as a candidate for nomination or election and to vote for as many persons for an office as he is entitled to vote for and to vote for or against any question upon which he is entitled to vote

(e) It shall preclude each voter from voting for any candidate or upon any question for whom or upon which he is not entitled to vote and from voting for more persons for any office than he is entitled to vote for and from voting for any candidate for the same office or upon any question more than once except in districts and for offices where cumulative voting is authorized by law

(f) It shall be capable of adjustment by election officers so as to permit each voter at a primary election to vote only for the candidates for nonpartisan nomination if any and for the candidates seeking nomination by the political party in which he is enrolled if he is enrolled as a member of a political party and so as to preclude him from voting for the candidate seeking nomination by any political party in which he is not enrolled

(g) It shall permit each voter to deposit write in or affix upon receptacles or devices provided for the purpose ballots containing the names of persons for whom he desires to vote whose names do not appear upon the machine

(h) It shall permit each voter to change his vote for any candidate or upon any question appearing upon the ballot labels up to the time he begins the final operation to register his vote or indicates or expresses his intention to register his vote

(i) It shall permit and require voting in absolute secrecy and shall be so constructed that no person can see or know for whom any other elector has voted or is voting save a voter whom he has assisted or is assisting in voting as prescribed by law

(j) It shall have voting devices for separate candidates and questions which shall be arranged in separate parallel rows or columns so that at any primary election one or more adjacent rows or columns may be assigned to the candidates of a party and shall have parallel office columns or rows transverse thereto

(k) It shall have a counter or other device the register of which is visible from the outside of the machine which shall show during any period of voting the total number of voters who have operated the machine during said period of voting

(l) It shall have a protective counter or other device the register of which cannot be reset which shall record the cumulative total number of movements of the operating mechanism

(m) It shall be provided with a lock or locks by the use of which immediately after the polls are closed or the operation of the machine for an election is completed all movements of the registering mechanism is absolutely prevented

(n) It shall be provided with a screen hood or curtain which shall conceal the actions of the voter while voting

(o) It shall be constructed of material of good quality in a neat and workmanlike manner

(p) It shall when properly operated register or record correctly and accurately every vote cast

(q) It shall be so constructed that a voter may readily learn the method of operating it

(r) It shall be safely transportable

(s) It shall be so constructed and controlled that during the progress of voting it shall preclude every person from seeing or knowing the number of votes registered for any candidate and from tampering with any of the registering mechanism

(t) If it is of a type equipped with mechanism for printing paper proof-sheets and not requiring the counters to be made visible in order to canvass the votes recorded on the machine the door or other device concealing such counters or keeping the same concealed may be equipped with a lock or locks requiring the simultaneous use of three separate and substantially different keys to open or operate the same

Section 3 That clauses (a) and (d) of section fifteen of said act are hereby amended and clause (g) of section fifteen of said act as amended by section thirteen of said amending act is hereby further amended to read as follows

(a) The county commissioners shall deliver the keys which unlock the operating mechanism and the registering counters or counter compartment of the voting machine to the judge of election not earlier than noon the Saturday preceding an election nor later than three-quarters of an hour before the time set for the opening of the polls and shall take his receipt therefor The keys shall be enclosed in a sealed envelope on which shall be written or printed (1) the number of the voting machine (2) the name or designation of the election district (3) the number of the seal and (4) the number registered on the protective counter or device as reported by the custodian Provided however That if the type of voting machine used requires the simultaneous use of three keys to unlock the registering counters or counter compartment only two of said keys shall be enclosed in said sealed envelope the third key being retained by the custodian the county commissioners or such other person as they shall have authorized

(d) But if the numbers on the seal and the protective counter or device shall both be found to agree with the numbers on the envelope the envelope shall be opened and where the voting machine provided is not equipped with mechanism for printing paper proof-sheets the election officers shall examine the registering counters and for that purpose shall open the doors concealing such counters if the construction of the voting machine shall so require and before the polls are opened the judge and each inspector shall carefully examine every counter and shall see that it registers zero (000) and shall allow the watchers to examine the counters When the voting machine provided is equipped with mechanism for printing paper proof-sheets and requires the simultaneous use of three keys to unlock the registering counters or counter compartment the judge of election shall deliver one of the two keys aforesaid to the minority inspector to be retained by him as hereinafter provided and shall then print at least t o proof-sheets one of which the judge and each inspector shall carefully examine to ascertain whether every counter registers zero (000) and shall then preserve said proof-sheet to be signed by them and returned to the prothonotary or the county commissioners as the case may be with the duplicate return sheet and shall sign and post the other proof-sheet upon the wall of the polling place where it shall remain until the polls are closed The key delivered by the judge of election to the minority inspector as aforesaid shall be retained by the minority inspector until the polls have been closed and the voting and counting mechanism of the machine shall have been locked and sealed against voting and shall then be returned to the judge of election for return by him to the county commissioners as hereinafter provided

(g) The machine shall remain locked against voting until the polls are opened and shall not be operated except by voters in voting If any counter is found not to register zero (000) the election officers shall immediately notify the custodian or the county commissioners who shall if practicable adjust or cause the counters to be adjusted at zero (000) but if it shall be found impracticable for the custodian or other person authorized by the county commissioners to arrive in time so to adjust such counters before the time set for opening the polls the election officers shall immediately make a written record of the designation or designating letter or number of [each] such counter together with the number registered thereon hereinbelow called the initial number and shall sign and post the same upon the wall of the polling place where it shall remain until the polls are closed Provided however That if the voting machine used is equipped with mechanism for printing paper proof-sheets in any case where any counter is shown by such proof-sheet not to register zero (000) if it shall be found impracticable to have such counter adjusted before the time set for opening the polls the election officers shall sign such printed proof-sheet and post the same upon the wall of the polling place where it shall remain until the polls are closed and in filling out the returns of the election if the final number of such counter is greater than the initial number the election officer shall substract the initial number from the final number and enter the difference on the returns as the vote for the candidate or on the question represented by such counter if the final number of such counter is less than the initial number the election officers shall add one thousand to the final number and shall subtract the initial number from the sum so ascertained and shall enter upon the returns as the vote for the candidate or on the question represented by such counter the final number plus one thousand less the initial number

Section 4 That clauses (b) and (c) of section twenty-three of said act as separated and amended by section nineteen of said amending act are hereby further amended to read as follows

(b) [The] If the type of voting machine provided shall require the counters to be seen in order to enable the election officers to canvass the vote the election officers in the presence of the watchers and all other persons who may be lawfully within the polling place shall then make visible the registering counters and for that purpose shall unlock and open the doors or other covering concealing the same giving full view of all the counter numbers If the voting machine is equipped with mechanism for printing paper proof-sheets the election officers shall forthwith print not less than five proof-sheets and as many more as may be necessary to supply one to each member of the election board overseer candidate watcher representative of a newspaper and other person who may be lawfully present within the polling place requesting the same The judge of election shall then under the scrutiny of the two inspectors of election the overseers if any and the watchers and in the order of the offices as their titles are arranged on the machine read from the counters or from one of the proof-sheets as the case may be and announce in distinct tones the designation or designating number and letter on each counter for each candidate's name the result as shown by the counter numbers the votes recorded for each office for persons other than nominated candidates and the designation or designating numbers and letters on each counter and the results as shown by the counter numbers for and against each question voted on The counters shall not be read consecutively along the party rows or columns but shall always be read along the office columns or rows completing the canvass for each office or question before proceeding to the next The vote as registered shall be entered by the election officers in ink on duplicate return sheets and also on a general return sheet and statement all of which after the canvass is completed shall be signed by the election officers and certified by the overseers if any The vote for presidential electors shall be computed and returned as provided hereinbefore in section nineteen of this act If more than one voting machine is used in any election district the vote registered on each machine shall be ascertained in like manner and separately entered in appropriate spaces on the general and duplicate return sheets and statement the total vote cast for each candidate and for and against each question shall then be computed and entered on the general and duplicate return sheets and statement There shall also be entered on the general return sheet and statement the number of voters who have voted as shown by the lists of voters and the number who have voted on each machine as shown by the public counters and also the number registered on the protective counter or device on each machine immediately prior to the opening of the polls and immediately after the closing thereof and sealing of the machine The number or other designation of each machine used shall also be entered thereon In the case of primary elections duplicate return sheets shall be prepared for each party The registering counters of the voting machine or the paper proof-sheets as the case may be shall remain exposed to view until the said returns and all other reports have been fully completed and checked by the inspectors and overseers if any During such time any candidate or duly accredited watcher who may desire to be present shall be admitted to the polling place

(c) The proclamation of the result of the votes cast shall be announced distinctly and audibly by the judge of election who shall read the name of each candidate the designation or designating numbers and letters of his counters and the vote registered on each counter also the vote cast for and against each question submitted During such proclamation ample opportunity shall be given to any person lawfully present to compare the results so announced with the counter dials of the machine or with the paper proof-sheets as the case may be and any necessary corrections shall then and there be made by the election officers after which the doors or other cover of the voting machine shall be closed and locked Any ballots deposited written or affixed in or upon the voting machine shall be inclosed in properly sealed packages and properly indorsed and shall be delivered by the judge of election as hereinafter provided The judge of election shall promptly deliver to the county commissioners or their duly authorized representative the keys of the voting machine inclosed in a sealed envelope if the construction of the voting machine shall permit their separate return Said envelope shall have indorsed thereon a certificate of the election officers stating the number of the machine the election district where it has been used the number on the seal and the number on the protective counter or device at the close of the polls

Section 5 That section twenty-four of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 24 Return of Votes The general return sheet duplicate return sheets and statement shall be printed to conform with the type of voting machine used and in form approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth The designating number and letter if any on the counter for each candidate shall be printed thereon opposite the candidate's name Provided however That it shall not be necessary to print the name or designating counter number or letter of any candidate for any borough township ward or election district office Immediately after the vote has been ascertained the statement thereof shall be posted on the door of the polling place The minority inspector shall retain one of said duplicate return sheets one numbered list of voters sealed as aforesaid the voting check list (in districts other than cities) and one set of oaths of election officers and other affidavits The other duplicate return sheet numbered list of voters oaths of election officers and affidavits of voters and others and the ballot check list (in districts other than cities) shall be sealed up and given to the judge of election who shall deliver them together with the general return sheet and the package of ballots deposited written or affixed in or upon the voting machine to the prothonotary in the case of general municipal or special elections and to the county commissioners in the case of primary elections provided that returns of elections for borough and township officers shall be made to the officer directed by law to receive them If the type of voting machine is equipped with mechanism for printing paper proof-sheets one of said proof-sheets shall be posted on the door of the polling place with the statement aforesaid one shall be retained by the minority inspector one shall be placed in the envelope and delivered with the general return sheet and one shall be sealed in the envelope with the duplicate return sheets and delivered by the judge of election to the prothonotary or to the county commissioners as the case may be These four proof-sheets having been printed and preserved the election officers shall print an additional proof-sheet and deliver the same to each member of the election board overseer candidate watcher representative of a newspaper or news agency and other person who may lawfully present within the polling place requesting the same until the supply of paper in the voting machine shall have been exhausted The printed proof-sheet returned with the general return sheet and the printed proof-sheet returned with the duplicate return sheet shall each be part of the return of the election

Section 6 That section twenty-six of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 26 Provision for Recanvass of Vote (a) Whenever it shall appear that there is a discrepancy in the returns of any election or upon petition of three voters of any district verified by affidavit that an error although not apparent on the face of the returns has been committed therein or of its own motion the court of common pleas board of county commissioners or other return board shall at any time prior to the completion of the computation of all of the returns for the county summon the election officers of the district and said officers in the presence of said court or board shall make a record of the number of the seal upon the voting machine and the number on the protective counter or other device shall make visible the registering counters of such machine and without unlocking the machine against voting shall recanvass the vote cast thereon Before making such recanvass the said court or board shall give notice in writing to the proper custodian of voting machines and to each candidate and to the county chairman of each party or independent nominating body affected by the canvass and each such candidate may be present in person or by attorney and each of such parties or nominating bodies may send two representatives to be present at such recanvass If upon such recanvass it shall be found that the original canvass of the returns has been correctly made from the machine and that the discrepancy still remains unaccounted for the said court or board with the assistance of the custodian in the presence of the election officers and the authorized candidates and representatives shall unlock the voting and counting mechanism of the machine and shall proceed thoroughly to examine and test the machine to determine and reveal the true cause or causes if any of the discrepancy in returns from such machine Each counter shall be reset at zero (000) before it is tested after which it shall be operated at least one hundred times After the completion of such examination and test the custodian shall then and there prepare a statement in writing giving in detail the result of the examination and test and such statement shall be witnessed by the persons present and shall be filed with the said court or board If upon such recanvass it shall appear that the original canvass of the returns by the election officers was incorrect the said returns and all papers being prepared by the said court or board shall be corrected accordingly

(b) Provided however That in the case of returns from any election district wherein the election was held by the use of a voting machine equipped with mechanism for printing paper proof-sheets said proof-sheets if mutually consistent shall be deemed to be the primary evidence of the result of the election and to be prima facie accurate and there shall not be considered to be any discrepancy or error in the returns from any such district such as to require a recanvass of the vote if all available proof-sheets from the voting machine used therein identified to the satisfaction of the return board and shown to its satisfaction to have been produced from proper custody shall be mutually consistent and if the general and duplicate returns or either of them from said district shall not correspond with said proof-sheets they and all other papers being prepared by said return board shall be corrected so as to correspond with the same in the absence of allegation of specific fraud or error proved to the satisfaction of the return board by the weight of the evidence and only in such case shall the vote of said election district be recanvassed under the provisions of this section

The House met at 11.00 A. M.
The SPEAKER (Wilson G. Sarig) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Reverend B. Clinton Ritz, pastor of the Lutheran Church, Waynesboro, offered the following prayer:

Most Holy and Everblessed God and Father of us all, we thank Thee very sincerely for this great Commonwealth, so rich in natural resources, fertile fields and scenic beauth. We thank Thee for its institutions of mercy, our churches and schools, and all other institutions and agencies that tend to build up that which is noble within us, and make our people comfortable and happy. We offer to Thee too the true gratitude of our hearts for those unselfish leaders who loved their state more than themselves, and for a devoted citizenry who were and are willing, if need be, to die for their native land. We thank Thee for the glorious history of our state of which we may justly be proud.

And now, Father, we pray that Thou wilt grant abundant wisdom and understanding to these Thy servants who are face to face with problems of tremendous importance and extremely difficult to solve. We realize that the wisdom of men alone is not sufficient for these perilous times. Wilt Thou then give them that wisdom which cometh down from above, and help them to realize that the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. We beseech Thee guide and direct these Thy servants in all they do here that all things may work together for the good of all the people. Inspire them with an unselfish devotion to our Commonwealth and its citizens that they may serve so faithfully, so nobly, and so wisely that they may be workmen who never need to be ashamed. Give them courage to resist all who would tempt them to depart from the path of honor and duty, and to do faithfully all that Thou shalt show them to be wise and just and good. May they ever have a keen sense of accountability to their God and their fellow-citizens whom they serve.

Wilt Thou, O Father, so move in the hearts and minds of our citizenry, that they too may be unselfish and truly patriotic; not seeking personal advantage, but every one willing to bear his full share of the common burden. Take away the selfishness that engenders strife, injustice and factionalism, and grant that the spirit of Christian brotherhood may prevail everywhere, and that there may be unity, solidarity, and happiness for all. So lead them, we pray Thee, by Thy Spirit, that they may properly support these their representatives upon whom they have placed grave responsibilities, and grant that they may in the fullest sense be good citizens of their state and nation. Remember we beseech Thee, our President, our Governor, and all in positions of responsibility and leadership, and bless them according to their needs. All this we ask in Jesus' name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. BARNHARDT the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2121, as follows:

An Act providing for the selection of jurors to serve in the several courts in counties of the first class providing for the organization of a board for superintending and managing the drawing and selectiin of jurors and prescribing its powers and duties conferring powers and imposing duties and liabilities on the sheriff imposing duties on registration commissions and prescribing penalties

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in counties of the first class the judges of the courts of common pleas with the sheriff shall constitute a board for superintending and managing the drawing and selecting of jurors to serve in the several courts of the county One member of any one of said courts with the sheriff or his duly authorized deputy shall be a quorum of said board for the transaction of business The board may appoint a secretary whose salary and expenses shall be fixed by the board and paid as other county officers and employes are paid.

Section 2 Prior to the tenth day of November in each year the registration commission in any such county shall lodge with the sheriff for the use of the board a certified list of all the registered electors of such county setting out their names places of residence and occupation.

It shall be the duty of the registrars appointed by the registration commission in each and every election division in the county to ascertain by strict inquiry the proper orthography of the name of each eligible person appearing for registration the exact number of his place of residence together with his present occupation profession or business and to state plainly written all such particulars of such persons within their respective election districts said lists to be compiled in duplicate and filed with the said commissioners on or before the first day of October in every year. No compensation shall be awarded to the said registrars for compiling and filing said lists with the commissioners in addition to that already provided by law for other services.

Section 3 Prior to the first day of December in each year it shall be the duty of the board or a quorum thereof to assemble together and select from said list of registered electors a sufficient number of sober healthy and discreet citizens to constitute the several panels of jurors grand and petit that may be required for service in the several courts for the next ensuing year in due proportion from the several wards of such city and county and from the principal avocations.

Section 4 The names of registered electors so selected with their respective places of residence and occupation shall in the presence of the board be written on separate pieces or slips of paper which shall then and there be placed in a closed wheel to be provided by and kept in the exclusive custody of the sheriff securely locked sealed or otherwise guarded from intrusion A list of the names residences and occupations so selected and placed in the wheel shall be certified by the members of the board then present to the prothonotary to be filed by him for preservation and public inspection One other such list shall be made out and kept in the custody of the secretary of the board.

Section 5 Whenever the board or a quorum thereof shall be of the opinion that it will be necessary to place additional names in the wheel the board or a quorum thereof shall select from the lists of registered electors from which selections were made prior to the preceding first day of December the names of such number of sober healthy and discreet citizens as may in their judgment be necessary to supply all the venires that may be issued during the current year Such names when so selected shall be placed in the wheel and a list of the names residences and occupations of the persons so selected and placed in the wheel shall be certified by the members of the board then present in the manner and as required in the preceding section of this act.

Section 6 No person shall be exempt from serving as a juror in any of the courts of the county unless he shall have filed an affidavit setting forth the ground for such exemption with the clerk of the board prior to the first day of July in the year next preceding that for which he shall claim exemption Any such affidavit when filed shall be submitted to a judge of one of said courts and if it shall set forth good and sufficient grounds for exemption the name of such person shall not be placed in the wheel containing the names of jurors for the next succeeding year.

Section 7 At least three weeks before the commencement of each term of any of the courts the board or a quorum thereof shall assemble and cause to be drawn from the wheel as many of the names therein deposited as may be necessary to serve as grand and petit jurors for and in each of the courts according to the command of the venire or venires directed to the sheriff One list of the names residences and occupations so drawn shall be certified by the board to the proper court with the venire issued therefrom and one other list of said names occupations and residences shall be duly certified to the sheriff

Section 8 It shall be the duty of the sheriff to summon each of the jurors in the manner now practiced to appear in the court for which he may be drawn on a day specified in the summons to serve as a juror during the ensuing term The summons shall be served on each juror at least ten days before the time fixed for his appearance The sheriff shall make return of each service under oath to the proper court stating the time and manner of such service.

Section 9 No person summoned as a juror shall be excused from service except in open court on good cause shown to the satisfaction of the court If any juror so summoned and not excused shall fail to attend the court until duly discharged he shall be fined for the use of the county not less than thirty nor more than two hundred dollars to be recovered by attachment or such other appropriate process as the court may direct.

Section 10 Whenever talesman are required in any of the courts the sheriff shall produce the wheel in open court and in the presence of the judges thereof draw therefrom five names for every talesman required which names so drawn shall be immediately noted on the minutes of the court whereupon a venire shall be issued requiring the sheriff to bring into court any one of the five persons so drawn to serve as a tales juror No tales juror shall be selected or served in any other manner The tickets or slips so drawn from the wheel shall be returned thereto.

Section 11 No citizen whose name has been duly drawn and who has served as juryman for one full term shall be liable to be again drawn and summoned as a juror for the succeeding period of one year.

Section 12 The sheriff shall preserve the wheel secure from all interference by others If the board on any examination the members thereof may institute into the condition of the wheel and its contents shall discover that any names have been surreptitiously introduced or withdrawn therefrom it shall be evidence of misdemeanor committed by the sheriff Thereupon it shall be the duty of any member of the board to bind him over to answer at the next court of quarter sessions for such misdemeanor and on conviction thereof he shall be punished by fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court The fine shall be not less than two hundred dollars and the imprisonment if any not less than three months in the county jail.

Section 13 Any of the duties enjoined on the sheriff by this act may be performed by his duly appointed deputy under the same penalties herein provided Provided That if such deputy shall be unable to refuse to pay any fine imposed by this act the sheriff shall be liable to pay the same.

Section 14 All acts and parts of acts general local or special inconsistent or supplied hereby are hereby repealed.

Section 15 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 104, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the twenty-sixth day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws six hundred thirty-nine) entitled "An act defining sedition and prescribing the punishment therefor" and its amendments

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill which is now before you for consideration is a bill to repeal the sedition acts of 1919 and its amendments. Under that act sedition is defined in very broad and vague language. As interpreted by the courts, it has been held to include any writing, utterance or conduct which tends to bring the government into hatred or contempt, and mere membership in an organization whose policies or purposes may be construed to come within that provision is prohibited, and any person convicted under this act may be sentenced to a fine of $10,000 and twenty years imprisonment in the penitentiary. That is as serious a punishment, in fact more serious than can be meted out for most of the crimes upon the calendar. The only crimes which are commensurate with this in punishment are murder, kidnapping and treason. I think we all agree that stirring up insurrection against the government by force and violence is something that cannot be tolerated. But in order to stop that it is not necessary to have upon the statute books a measure which prohibits free speech. We have plenty of other laws, both state and Federal, to deal with the crime of stirring up insurrections. Treason, of course, is the most serious of those offenses and is punishable under other statutes or by death. We also have acts forbidding riots, unlawful assemblies and affrays punishable by five thousand dollars fine and two years imprisonment. Inciting to riot is a common law offense in which there are numerous records of convictions in this Commonwealth. Conspiracy is a common law offense consisting of a combination of two or more persons to do an unlawful act, and the courts have held that no overt act is necessary in order to obtain a conviction for the crime of conspiracy. Inciting to treason is another offense. There are numerous ones, both under statutory and common law, for which punishment may be dealt out for those who start insurrections or incite others to do so. It is not necessary in order to protect our government against that sort of thing to have upon our statute books this sedition act which, as interpreted by the courts, has been used to put foolish people who make reckless statements into jail for long terms. Free speech is one of the basic principles of our American government.

Benjamin Franklin, many, many years before the American Revolution made the statement "They that give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserves neither liberty nor safety." That quotation was very frequently used during the Revolutionary period, according to all historians. We believe in free speech. Our government was founded upon that principle. We have practiced it at times when our government was nothing like as strong as it is today. We had no statute like this upon our books for over a century after the foundation of our government, and we did not find it necessary to have such a statute. At the time this law was passed in 1919, immediately following the war, there was a general hysteria against Reds throughout the United States, and the Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, at that time was conducting a drive against Reds, and as a part of that drive they put laws like this upon the statute books of a number of our states. They have since been used, not to suppress insurrections, not at all, but they have been used against little fellows, against fools, if you please, who went out on the street corners and made statements which the police did not like; statements which some policemen thought would bring the government into contempt. Then those little fellows were yanked into jail, hauled into court, they were tried, but before they were tried some policeman or detective ransacked his home and found some literature on some radical subject, such as can be found in any large public library, such as can be found in the homes of many of us in books which we do not consider at all dangerous. They find literature of that sort; they bring them into court; they take a sentence or two out of the middle of a book or an article, away from its context which seems to incite to insurrection, and then they hold that the possession of that literature tends to incite to insurrection, and those poor fellows have been convicted and sent to jail for four or five years. Furthermore, they do not use it against the big fellows. There is no danger whatever of this act being used against Huey Long or Father Coughlin or any other incipient dictator in the United States. Not at all. They use it against some little fellow who goes out on the street corner and makes a speech which the local policeman does not like. More particularly they will use it if there happens to be a labor dispute at the time and the employer wants to get rid of somebody. When they want to get some little fellow, some labor agitator, somebody who has been causing trouble for the employer in the community by organizing a labor union, they get him on a charge under this act. Perhaps they even go so far as to plant labor spies, as was demonstrated in this room in that moving picture, "Black Fury," which many members of this House saw in this House one evening last week, where spies were planted with the idea of getting the fellow that they want to get to make a statement which can be construed as inciting to insurrection. Perhaps he is half drunk at the time that he made it. Then they haul him into court under this act and sentence him to the penitentiary. It has been used by the employers as a club over labor organized and others.

I submit to the members of the House that under similar circumstances the speeches made by a good many of the majority members of the House in their campaign last fall might well have been construed by hostile judges to bring the government of Pennsylvania into contempt and ridicule. If you keep a statute like this upon the books you are suppressing the political liberties of our people. It is dangerous to do a thing like that. You cannot suppress an insurrection with it. All you are doing is making martyrs of a few fools; that is all. If you look over the list of convictions, there are men whose names are houschold words in many parts of Pennsylvania, who were never heard of and never would have been heard of had it not been for prosecutions under this unjust and arbitrary act, they would never have been heard of outside of their own little village or hamlet. Today they are considered martyrs to a cause because they were prosecuted under this unjust law. You do not suppress sedition by this act. You merely drive it under ground, and by driving it underground and by depriving it of fresh air, you multiply its effect four-fold. It is far better to keep it out in the open where it can be met by reasonable argument and ridiculed into oblivion. That is the way to meet the things of that sort, not by driving it underground and making martyrs of fools, fools who use language which might be construed to come within the provisions of this act.

My friends, there is an issue involved in this measure which is more important than the mere protection of a few people. It is the principle of free speech itself. We Americans pride ourselves upon the fact that our government maintains the right of free speech for all of our citizens, and particularly we Pennsylvanians hold to that doctrine. The founder of Pennsylvania, William Penn, served time in jail in London because he made a speech on the streets of London which the politicians of that time did not like. He made the speech and went to jail, and incidently they sent the jury that refused to convict him along to jail with him. But the result of his fight and that of many others was that the principle of free speech was established.

Are we going to surrender those rights for which William Penn fought; for which our forefathers bled and died, if you please, in the war of the Revolution. I do not think that we want to do anything of the kind. Sedition acts have been enacted in the United Staes before. If you are familiar with the history of this country, you will remember that in 1798 Congress passed the sedition act and I want to call the particular attention of the majority members of this House to what followed after the enactment of the Sedition act of 1798. That act was placed upon the statute books by the Federalist Congress with the idea of suppressing Thomas Jefferson and his republican movement. Did it succeed? History records that it did the very opposite. A number of the men who were convicted under that act and served time in jail were elected to Congress in the year 1800. Thomas Jefferson was elected President of the United States. Thomas Jefferson, who has come to be the patron saint of the Democratic party in the United States. He said "It is time enough for the rightful benefits of civil government for its officers to interfere when principals break out into overt acts against peace and good order."

He did not believe in suppressing free speech but only when overt acts start then it is time to hold not only the persons who act but those who incited them to act by improper use of speech. Thomas Jefferson went further than that. After that most bitter campaign of 1800, a campaign compared with which our political campaigns of today are very mild affairs indeed, a campaign in which the rival candidates called each other every sort of criminal and charged them with every sort of crime that you could imagine, a campaign in which the Federalists openly preached that if Jefferson was elected, the government would fall. The Federalists hated the Republicans of 1800 just as the members of this House hate a communist today.

He was elected President, and in his inaugural address he said: "If there be any among us who wish to dissolve this Union, or to change its republican form, let them stand undisturbed as monuments of the safety with which error of opinion may be tolerated where reason is left free to combat it."

That is the best argument against this sedition act which we propose to repeal. The best way to suppress sedition is to let them come out and preach it and rely upon the common sense of the people to ridicule those who advocate it. That is far better than driving it under ground into the dark cellars and the by-ways where it will smoulder and grow into a flame which may be uncontrollable. Keep it out in the open. Give it plenty of fresh air, and we have nothing whatever to fear from it, but, to my friends on the other side of the House who may feel that the repealing of this act is dangerous, I wish to remind you that the Republican party in its beginning had as one of its cardinal principles that of free speech. The rallying cry of the Republican party in the campaign of 1856 was: "Free soil, free men, free speech, Freemont." I now remind you that if you vote to suppress free speech you are going back on one of the basic principles of your party. Free speech is guaranteed in the Constitution of the United States; it is guaranteed in the Constitution of Pennsylvania, but those constitutional provisions have been so interpreted in some instances that they permit freedom of speech to be restricted far more than our forefathers would have tolerated it.

Now, members of the House, I wish to remind you that there was a public hearing on this bill before the Committee on Judiciary General. Notice was given of this hearing in the press for more than a week before it took place. At that hearing there were five speakers in favor of this repealer and none whatever against it. Since that time, I understand a certain organization is conducting a concerted drive among the members of this House against this bill, but they were afraid to come out in the open at a public hearing and present their reasons for opposing this repeal, so that they could be answered. They prefer to go around in a whispering campaign from member to member rather than come individually before the committee and give their reasons in the open so that they might be fully and thoroughly considered.

Let us consider for a moment the speakers before that committee. The first one was Allen S. Homestead, Esq., of Media, Pennsylvania, a member of the Delaware County Bar, who was counsel in certain cases under this act. He spoke of the men that were prosecuted and convicted, and he said that all that it did was to make martyrs of a few fools; it did not accomplish the purpose for which it was passed.

The next speaker was Charles Denby, Jr., and for any of you that may think he is some wild radical, I wish to call your attention to the fact that he is a son-in-law of former United States Senator Reed, and that he openly stated before the committee that he was not a radical but he was a conservative, even a Tory, but he believes in free speech, and he believes that this act has no place upon the statute books of an American Commonwealth.

Another speaker before the committee was Ira Jewell Williams, Jr., of the city of Philadelphia. I do not think that anyone will accuse him of being a communist. He spoke along the same line, that the act did not accomplish its purpose, that it made martyrs and drove under ground dangers which would be much better out in the open.

At that meeting there were letters produced from several members of the Philadelphia Bar, endorsing this bill to repeal the sedition act. Among those men was Robert McCracken, Esq., Walter Biddle Saul, Esq., Thomas Reyburn White, Esq., and Ira Jewell Williams, Esq. Those men are not communists, they are not socialists, they are not radicals; they are not even liberals; they are conservatives. But they believe in free speech, and they believe that this act which we propose to repeal is a violation of a fundamental principal of American democracy, and they appealed to the committee to support this bill to repeal it.

I can cite many quotations from leading Americans in support of the doctrine of free speech. I do not believe in force and in violence. I do not believe that it should be openly advocated but I do believe that it would be better for it to be out in the open than to be underground. Let us have it out in the open; let it be free.

Henry Ward Beecher has put the case on this point better than I can. He said: "Free speech is to a free people what winds are to the oceans and malarial regions, which waft away the elements of disease and bring new elements of health. And where free speech is stopped miasma is bred, and death comes fast."

You are not going to save your government by suppressing free speech. It is far better to let it come out in the open and be discussed, and then you can handle it much better.

These men who appeared before the committee took the position that Voltaire took. They hated the Communists. They hate everybody who advocates force and violence, but with Voltaire they said: "I do not agree with a word that you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

That is the principle upon which our government was founded, for which our forefathers bled and died, that we might have this free democracy. They believe that the greatest glory of the free borne people is to transmit that freedom to their children. Are we going to permit that freedom for which our forefathers gave so much to be taken away from us in order to save the government which they set up in order to maintain that principle of free speech? I do not believe so. I am not afraid that our governement is so weak and frail that it is going to fall before the foolish assaults of a few communists or anarchists or other fools that come around preaching the doctrine of force and violence. I do not believe that any falsehoods are stronger than the truth. I believe in the motto which we have on the ceiling of this house; "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

Repeal this act from the statute books by passing this bill. Let us guarantee freedom of speech to the people of Pennsylvania, as it was guaranteed by our forefarthers. Let us hand down to all of our children that priceless heritage of liberty of freedom of speech. I ask you to vote "aye" on this bill.

One thing which I forgot which I feel is important. I call the attention of the members of this House to the fact that this bill is endorsed definitely by the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor. The president of the Federation appeared before the public hearing and advocated its passage. He has written a letter to every member of the Judiciary General Committee, dated March 11, 1935, which reads:

To the Members of the Judiciary General Committee of the House of Representatives.

Greetings:

For your information I desire to state that the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor is in favor of either House Bill No. 4 or 104 which provides for the repeal of the so-called Anti-Sedition Act.

We regard this legislation as altogether at variance with any theory of free government, and would point out that it was enacted during the war period at a time when public feeling ran high, and when many things took place as a result of more or less public hysteria.

We believe the General Assembly would do credit to itself by eliminating this obnoxious piece of legislation on our statutes.

Very truly yours,
John A. Phillips,
President"

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, so do I believe in free speech, so do the Veterans of Foreign wars and the American Legion and the Disabled War Veterans and the Spanish American War Veterans believe in free speech. They are the groups that I speak for today requesting that you vote against the repeal of this measure. We ask you to do that because we frankly believe that the repeal of this bill will not interfere with free speech. I wish to point out to you the fact that throughout the state of Pennsylvania, in the last few years there have been many intelligent men who have criticized the government of Pennsylvania and the government of the United States, and they received a respectable hearing. Their halls were crowded and there were no police officers there to judge as to the merits of the remarks and the weight of the criticism that they measured out against the two governments of which I have just spoken.

I call your attention to a condition that existed in Pennsylvania just a few weeks ago, and I call your attention in particular to Reyburn Plaza in the city of Philadelphia, where thousands of people assembled to criticize the government, the national government and they did so without violence. Free speeches, yes, free speech within the shadows of Independence Hall, unmolested and untrammelled by the police of Philadelphia. I believe that that condition was true in the western part of the State, and I call that to your attention, pointing out to you that we still have free speech in Pennsylvania, and I believe in United States. Yes, many college professors in the last few years have criticized the government and they received a large and representative hearing. But mark you ladies and gentlemen of the House, they only criticized the government; they did not speak to destroy it. Therein lies the difference. In my opinion the only thing that could be accomplished by the repeal of this measure would be to open the door wide for individuals to advocate a brand of government which they do not believe in, and which they know full well could not operate in this state and in this nation, but in order to become glorified young dictators, they are willing to stand on a soap box and agitate a type of government that is not found within the four corners of the Constitution of Pennsylvania or the Constitution of the United States.

The honorable gentleman who has just spoken to claims that this present measure makes martyrs of a few fools. Repeal this law and you will make these fools raving dictators, and in a time like this they will receive a following because today in this troubled condition under which we live people are inclined to follow. To follow whom? The men who think wisely and soundly upon the principles and doctrines of government? Yes, to some extent, but perhaps to a larger extent, a group of men who have no interest in government except to tear down the existing form of government and to set themselves up in the form of leaders and dictators.

We have no brief against the people who criticized the government. That has been the citizen's privilege since the government was started. But we do criticize and we do condemn the type of individual who would seek to destroy this government, who would seek to set up in its place a type of government that has not worked abroad and that is not successful today in the foreign countries. Yet, repeal this measure and we will merely open the door wide for that type of individual to come into this country perhaps without the benediction of a passport, and say, "This is the type of government that we feel you Americans should have," and there is nothing to stop him.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, I believe that there would be a great deal more danger in the repealing of this bill today and thereby placing upon the people themselves the right to judge what are destructive remarks against the government, rather than have that decision lie with the courts of the state, where I frankly believe it justly belongs. The mob will then decide and the mob has but one way of deciding, and that is by cracked skulls and by bruised bodies. The mob will decide then, not the courts of justice and if the honorable gentleman thinks that this law is too harsh, too drastic why does he not ask to modify the existing law? Why doesn't he ask to shade the penalties that now exist rather than repeal the law entirely?

Therefore, ladies and gentlemen, in this troubled day in which we live I ask you to safeguard the government both that state and nation by retaining this law upon our statute books. I thank you.

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have a peculiar urge to talk for this bill that I have not experienced and do not experience in connection with all legislation. It is not because I have sponsored a similar bill, nor is it because this bill has the endorsement of labor but because there is embodied in this bill a principle that has been dearly paid for in blood and sacrifice, and that is the principle that makes this bill controversial at this time.

McCauley, who was a writer of history and a member of the House of Commons in England, and who also wrote other books that became very popular, said that it was a foregone conclusion with many politicians that people should not have more liberties than they could use.

He also said: "The maxim is worthy of the fool in the old story, who resolved not to go into the water until he had learned to smim." I take the position today generally that the people of Pennsylvania will never be able to use more freedom than they have got. I also agree with Wendell John Phillips, when he said, "If there is anything in the universe that cannot stand discussion, let it crack."

And it has been said that none are more hopelessly enslaved than those who falsely believe they are free.

Now, my friends, this principle is one that I feel, if we are not to go down in history as reactionaries, we will have to defend at this time. I can justify the existence of a law like this when it was enacted, when this nation was called upon to prepare in a hasty manner to go into a World War, when the high officials of our government were themselves placed in a position where they couldn't afford to have the public criticize every move that they made, because it was not always in accordance with Hoyle, but that time has passed. This is a war time measure, and if it was justifiable at that time I can't see where there is any good reason why it should not have been repealed at least ten years ago. The people who go to bed trembling for fear that some uneducated soap box orator may change the form of government over night, I dare say, have given very little consideration in most instances to the power that this law places in the hands of the men who are high in government, and who may by the use of it become dictators over night. If this government is going to change, I am fearful that it is more apt to change into a dictatorship that will be handed down from the top than it will be from communism coming up from the bottom. I have enough confidence in the intelligence of the people of Pennsylvania to believe that thy can make their own decisions. I believe, as it was said here, that "error of opinion may safely be tolerated where reason is left free to combat it." That is Thomas Jefferson's statement. Thomas Jefferson also said that with the freedom of religion, the freedom of the press and the freedom of the press and the freedom of the person under the protection of habeas corpus that the nation had come through a period of revolution and reformation. If that was so in Thomas Jefferson's time, I don't see why we should become alarmed at this time. I don't believe that there is any more danger today than there was in Thomas Jefferson's time, that this nation will be overthrown.

As long as the people of Pennsylvania pay the officials of the government for the proper disbursement of the government's expenses and as long as that money is paid through taxes, I think that the people of Pennsylvania have a right to demand the privilege to criticize the people who are responsible for handling the tax money, and if they do things properly, there is no danger that anything will happen.

In the days of the Romans they believed that sedition was a bad thing, they classified it with treason and they punished it with death. Notwithstanding that fact, Rome fell, and although they succeeded in crucifying Christ for a crime of this character, nevertheless he endeavored to teach men to love one another.

My friends, I want you to think seriously before you vote upon this measure today. I have all the respect in the world for the soldiers who may have taken an opposite view in this matter, but I don't think and I am not satisfied that they should be an authority in the matter. This privilege was granted to use and we enjoyed it when the World War was declared. It was our privilege before the soldiers were called upon to save the world for democracy. We made no agreement with them that because they did so they should have the right to come back and take this privilege unto themselves. I want to ask you most sincerely, members of the House, to give this measure your vote. Vote "aye."

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I was perhaps one of the comparatively few members of the House who took the time to attend the public hearings on this bill. At that time I was impressed by two things: first, the intelligent, sane argument, which was put forward by the advocates of its repeal, and, second, by the comparatively small handful of people who were present at all, and the absolute lack of any representation to speak on the subject by those who were opposed to this measure.

I agree with the gentleman from Berks that the present sedition laws are broad, vague and terribly drastic. I agree with him that practically every member who conducted a vigorous campaign recently in opposition to the administration, either state or national, might have been convicted under this law. I am sure that all of the great Republicans from Lincoln to Witkin could have been put in jail." I am confident that I for one could probably be put in jail under this measure for making remarks publicly which would tend to bring the national government into contempt and ridicule. As a choice between going to jail and giving up this delightful pleasure, I think I would prefer to go to jail. I think that there were a great many people who would like to have had a say either for or against this bill, who did not get such an opportunity at the time the hearings were conducted. I appreciate the fact that there was no notice given. I repeat it, I went to the hearings, but it was with the greatest difficulty that I did so, as we had hearings on other matters in two or three different places around the Capitol on the same day and at the same time.

I believe that American institutions are surely meritorious enough so that they can stand the light of public criticism in the form of free speech. I agree with the gentleman from Berks when he says in substance that the blood of the martyrs is the seed of the church and that drastic suppression of the preaching of new doctrines is the surest way to drive them straight under the ground among the lowest classes of society. I believe, however, that it would be well if instead of at this time repealing lock, stock and barrel, the measure and amendments, the act of 1919 in total and all the amendments thereto,—this measure could be handled in such a way that the iniquitous portions of the present sedition law could be taken out and at the same time the members of this assembly would not find the necessity of having to vote either to take an outright repeal of the entire law or, on the other hand, to let the act stand as it is, with all its iniquities.

The gentleman from Berks has told me that he is not in favor of amending the present law. I am confident however, that a number of people, including at least one able jurist, would have liked to come up here and voice their protest against this repealer, and, therefore, both in the interest of free speech and as one who would hate to see the entire law as now written repealed outright at a time like this, I would like to move that this be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of further public hearings and possible amendment.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of further public hearings and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House my friend, the gentleman from McKean, has made a very able argument in support of the bill to repeal the sedition act, but then he spoils it by making a motion to recommit the bill to the Committee on Judiciary General.

I submit that this act, this is proposed to be repealed, is not capable of amendment, which will make it consistent with the principles of free speech. I submit that it is contrary to that doctrine and it should be repealed in its entirety, and there is no reason to recommit this bill to committee.

It has been in the Judiciary General Committee since the first day of this session, when it was introduced and referred. It was carefully considered by a sub-committee of that committee for a period of over two months. We then had a public hearing, and the usual full notice was given in the press and everybody was invited to appear, and nobody appeared against it. I submit that this motion to send it back now is merely a move to kill it and it should not be tolerated. I ask you, members of the House, to vote against this motion, even though you may be against the bill. Let us come out in the open and vote upon the measure itself. Don't try to dodge the issue. Vote for or against the bill. Vote against the motion so that you will have a chance to vote on the bill itself.

I ask for a roll call, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, since the action of the committee has been brought into the discussion on this bill, I feel it is my duty to tell the members of this House just what happened and how it happened.

This bill came into our committee on the first day of the session. It was sent to a sub-committee for study. On several occasions the committee was called together to discuss the bill in open session. At the request of many people a public hearing was held, and accordingly notice of the public hearing was given at least ten days before the public hearing was held. On April 19th the public hearing was held in the Senate caucus room, at which time the committee called upon all those present who desired to be heard for or against the bill to appear before the committee. No one answered on behalf of those opposing the repeal of this bill. On behalf of the bill there appeared, in addition to the President of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, and Mr. Charles Denby Jr. of Philadelphia, an ultra conservative; also a Mr. Williams, a lawyer of Philadelphia; also an ultra conservative, and others. So that we heard no one in opposition to the bill, and we gave them full opportunity to be heard. Since that time I have received exactly one request that the bill be killed. In opposition to that, I have received dozens of communications from people throughout the State in one form or another. None of the names appear to be of foreign extraction, but all of them appear to be of Angle-Saxon derivation. I say to you that this motion to recommit is improper at this time because it has been given all the consideration that this bill or any other bill should deserve.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to take a minute more of the time of the House for this purpose. I would like to say to the liberal members of the House who would like to see the sedition laws amended or some of the more drastic provisions taken out to vote against this motion to recommit will probably result in the defeat of this bill. I would like to say also to some of the conservative members of the House who would like to kill this bill, that I think to do so would only result in damning up the forces which desire to change the present law and will result eventually perhaps not only in this law being repealed, but in still further action which might not be as satisfactory as this repealer.

I have not made the motion for the purpose of killing this bill. I have made it for the reason that I think that the present act is too strong, and I think an outright repealer at this time, would be a mistake. I wish to assure this House of my entire sincerity in making this motion in what I believe to be in the interest not only of free speech but of good government.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HOOPES and Mrs. WILSON.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I was indeed surprised to find that there should be a bill introduced in this House to repeal the act of 1919, known as the sedition law, and I was more surprised to find that such a bill should be reported out on the floor of this House.

I desire to point out to the members of this Legislature that this repealer bill is indeed subtle. By inference, although not directly, it is stating to the people of this Commonwealth that it shall be legal,—the crime of sedition, shall be legal. The reading of the act of 1919,—let us see what it says they are going to repeal. That act makes it unlawful for any individual or any group of individuals, either by their conduct or by their acts or by utterances to encourage any person or persons to take any measures or to engage in any conduct with a view to overthrowing or destroying or attempting to overthrow or destroy by any force or show or threat of force, the government of this state or of the United States. They would say in effect that now it is perfectly legal. Yes; they go further than that. Also it is a crime under the act to make or cause to be made any outbreak or demonstration of violence against this state or against the United States. And I may say, that this repealing bill is subtle in the fact it now says it is legal.

Let us just cooly and dispassionately discuss the reasons advanced by the gentleman from Berks for repealing this act. Four reasons were stated; one, that there are other laws that sufficiently cover the subject, and the other three reasons are closely allied; first, free speech; second, because it is against the early traditions of our country, and the third allied reason is that they state that the act causes suppression.

Now, discussing the first reason, that is, the other laws: It is very true, of course, that we have a law of treason, we have a law of conspiracy and we have other laws which perhaps cover the subject, but let me point out that the reason they are so opposed to this bill is for the reason that the over act is defined in this bill, whereas in the other cases they are dependent mainly upon judicial decisions, under common law. I state to the members of the House that if the subject is covered by other laws, the common law, then certainly they should not come here complaining that this particular act should be repealed, and not a companion act repealing all other laws. If they desire to make sedition legal and proper and if their complaint is because of the severity of the sentence, let them come here with an act, let them come here with an amendment to this act, reducing the amount of penalty involved, and not remove from the statute books a law that is keeping in force, driving away those who would delight in seeing an overthrow of the government of this country. Yes, not only an overthrow, but also in seeing a chaotic condition exist.

As to the three allied reasons, they state that the principles of our early history are to the contrary. May I call the attention of the members of this House to the fact that as a matter of fact conditions were entirely different at that time. At the time previous to the Revolution, the people of this country did not have a right of expression in government. They were merely subjects of a foreign king, had nothing to say, and, if you please, the Revolution started out, not for the purpose of creating and forming a new government, but only for the purpose of securing to themselves the right of expression, the right to take part in their government, and those rights exist today with every individual living in this land, and the sedition act does not take away from them the right of self expression, the right of free speech. I say to the members of this House that any one has a right under this act to express himself on the form of government. He has the right to take the soap box on the corner, if he wishes, and state his preference as to the form of government. He has a right to go forward in an effort to educate people into his ideas and his ways of thinking, and then, after educating them, it his duty to chrystalize that education into the ballot, and in doing that he would accomplish everything legally that otherwise he would seek to accomplish by force, by an overthrow of the government. As to suppression. After all, actually the suppression that they mean is that of free speech, and that free speech is guaranteed to them. After all, let me state to the members of the House that the passing of this bill, the repealing of the law on sedition will be a direct encouragement to those radicals who are desirous of overthrowing the government, who are desirous of bringing about chaotic conditions, and that instead of just a few fools, as mentioned by the gentleman from Berks, we will have a multitude of them. It will result in a chaotic condition that must necessarily be met with force, more of our people will be in trouble. For that reason I am asking every member to vote "no".

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am for the bill for two reasons: first, because the right of free speech is guaranteed to us by the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of this Commonwealth. Second, because labor has suffered more under these sedition laws than those who have ever had to do with the overthrowing of the government. Labor in its disputes with employers, those who would protect the common laborer are the ones who have suffered under this sedition law. Then mention has been made of people who would be prevented under this bill from going down in their cellar and doing the things that the bill in itself tried to prevent them from doing. I believe that it is much better. I believe as American citizens, with any red blood in us, if any one comes out in the open to criticize the government that we can take care of that very well. What happens when people are prevented from expressing their thoughts. As has been stated here, they go into secret meetings, into cellars and create a sentiment such as was created years ago in a country that some members of this House are now condemning, namely Russia. They were prevented from free speech, they were prevented from saying anything about the government at that time, and the result of it was they met secretly, and today, because of some of the things that the people of this Commonwealth are complaining of, we have communism in Russia.

I say to the members of this House that the sedition bill should be repealed and every one given the right to express their thoughts. I don't think you will have the condition that you are fearful of having, of a great mob coming in and trying to overthrow this government.

On the other hand, you are in more danger of that thing occurring by having these people we pretend to keep out of the country coming in here and holding secret meetings. I say that it is much better to repeal the law and give us free speech in the state.

Mr. FITCH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I, like the gentleman from Monroe, was rather surprised when I sat down and read that there was such an act enacted in the state of Pennsylvania. It can not be said about myself that I am so close to foreign parentage. I happen to be one of those men whose stock goes back, but I am speaking now for the American people.

Thomas Jefferson, of whom you have heard spoken so much, has outlined not only democracy, but really the principles of this country. You can readily understand that there has never been a revolution in any country on earth from the dawn of history that was brought about by liberal legislation. If this particular act had not been handled by real, honest to God judges in the state of Pennsylvania, probably we would have had trouble.

We have just passed through or are just passing through a panic or depression, the like of which the world has never seen before. In the state of Pennsylvania we find that the people are getting along very well. In Philadelphia we find probably some overly anxious officials. In our Frankford High School, they interpreted this act that they had the right and the privilege to go into the boys' lockers to find out just exactly what they were doing. This country need not fear from the people of this country so long as we do the right thing by them. This Legislature, as I see it and as I have known it, I can truthfully and honestly say that if this sedition act was up for passage at this particular time, the chances are a thousand to one it would never go through. It did happen in 1919, when we had just come through a World War, when we were all excited, when our officials did not know exactly what was going on. The people who were running our government at that time were able to pass such laws, which under the sane conditions of today in Pennsylvania could not be done.

I say this to the soldiers and the sailors that neither I nor my people lack anything in our loyalty to our country, but I would be ashamed to use tactics of this kind with the people, the poor people, the people who work for a living, should not be protected. I say to you that in all fairness we should weigh this matter very carefully and not put in the hands of a few men in a city or town the privilege of saying what is sedition. What does the act say? "Any writing, publication, printing, cut, cartoon, utterance, or conduct, either individually or in connection or combination with any other person or persons." Who is to judge it? We do not always elect men as judges who are absolutely correct. We know of decisions that have been handed down and have been reversed.

I will say furthermore about this act, that this act, as I understand it, if it ever got to the United States Supreme Court, the chances are it would be thrown out. I understand it has never gotten that far. Here is the position that you are in. You are in the position of giving to the people of the state of Pennsylvania a decent chance in the event of anything going along that is a benefit to them. We need have no fear of an insurrection in the state of Pennsylvania or the United States so long as we do right by the people.

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Allen, Hirsch, Hartman, Altenburg, Stott, Siegel, Forrest, Zimmerman, White, Peters, Winner, Falkenstein, Welliver, Francis T. Baker, Schrock, Yeakel, Surface, Gillette, Jones, James L. Snyder, Woodand others.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to vote "aye" and file my reasons for so doing.

I am a veteran of the World War; now hold a commission as Captain in the United States Army Reserve, and know that I am just as patriotic as any citizen of Pennsylvania.

My vote is in the affirmative on this bill to repeal what is known as the Anti-Sedition Act, because I am, first of all, a believer in free speech; because there are sufficient statutes at present providing an adequate remedy for the abuses which this act was intended to correct; because this act as drawn is too broad in its phraseology and terms, and therefore, may subject perfectly innocent persons to punishment; and further because, in recent years,this act has been used in several instances for the suppression of freedom of speech and assemblage and persons sentenced to long terms in prison without sufficient justification, in my mind. Suppression of free speech is an evil more to be guarded against than the harm that may come from the loose mouthings of irresponsible persons.

Freedom of speech is a priceless heritage which we present day Americans should not lightly waive.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to file my reasons for voting "no".

I tried to save the valuable part of this bill, by offering a chance for further hearing and amendment. I think the Sedition Law as it now stands is bad, but I think a complete repealer at this time is probably worse. Therefore I vote "no" on this bill to repeal.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask how the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Condon, is recorded as voting?

The SPEAKER. He is not recorded.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask that he vote?

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman vote?

Mr. CONDON. I did not vote, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. How does the gentleman from Philadelphia desire to vote?

Mr. CONDON. Aye, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. CONDON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask how the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg, voted.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg, vote? The gentleman is not recorded. He is not in the hall of the House.

Mr. CONDON. Mr. Speaker, I ask that he vote.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not in the hall of the House and consequently can not vote.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I vote "no" and file my reasons therefor.

I vote "no" for the reason that I believe the ballot is the way to cure present evils in government.

PERMISSION REQUESTED TO VOTE

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I was not within the hall of the House when my name was called. I would like permission of the House to vote.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the gentleman from Philadelphia to vote?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

MOTION TO GRANT RIGHT TO VOTE

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House grant the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg, the right to vote.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Berks wish to suspend the rule? The only other way to grant the right to vote is by unanimous consent, and unanimous consent has been refused.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend Rule 78 so that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg, may be allowed to vote, and all other members failing to vote upon the roll call.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, at the request of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg, I second the motion of the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read Rule 78 for the information of the members of the House:

"No member shall be permitted to vote on any question unless he be present in the House when the yeas and nays are called he be present to answer to his name."

The gentleman from Berks wishes to suspend the rule for the specific purpose of permitting the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg, to vote, and any other member who was not in the hall of the House when the roll was called.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state his point of order.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, there is nothing before the House but the verification of the roll. The roll has already been called.

The SPEAKER. The result has not yet been announced. Any member has the right to vote before the result is announced if he was in the hall of the House and present to answer to his name.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the roll has already been called. The question now before the House is the verification of the roll. If the gentleman was within the hall of the House or without the hall of the House and asked permission to have his vote recorded after the roll had been called but before verification of the roll had been requested, that is, taking it that the Chair was right in its interpretaion, would the gentleman have been permitted to record his vote? The roll has been called and a request has now been made for a verification of the roll, therefore, nothing is in order but the verification of the roll.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state on the qestion of parliamentary inquiry that a verification of a roll is simply a process of getting a correct roll, and until the result is announced a member, if he was within the hall of the House, has the right to record his vote.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, is the motion made by the gentleman from Berks debatable?

The SPEAKER. A motion to suspend a rule is debatable.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, from a parliamentary viewpoint the motion made by the gentleman from Berks is the most dangerous parliamentary expedient as yet brought before this House. I submit to the minority that when a roll is called, if the House by a majority at any time can summon from the outer vastness absent members and record them you are creating a parliamentary precedent that will wreck and ruin procedure. There is only one sane, fair thing for a majority, and certainly only one safe thing for a minority, and that is to insist that only those members within the hall of the House be permitted to vote. If the motion made by the gentleman from Berks prevails, the minority sells its rights and the majority takes unto itself an advantage never contemplated by proper parliamentary procedure.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to answer the remarks of the gentleman from Cambria. This is a representative body. Every member of this House represents a constituency in this state, and we have the right, and those constituents have the right to have the vote of every member on an important measure recorded. With a large number of members deliberately walking out of the House in order not to vote, it is entirely proper that this House take steps to see that they do not dodge their duty, but they vote and are recorded as voting either one way or the other.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think that when a man is wrong, he ought to admit it. I have listened to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, and I am frank to admit that I think he is right and I am wrong.

I was prompted to second the motion made by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, because of my deep friendship for the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg, who happened to be, to my knowledge, in the Senate at the time the vote was taken. I didn't want the idea to prevail that he was ducking, to use the vernacular, the vote, and for that reason in order that he might be recorded I seconded, without giving it proper thought, the motion of the gentleman from Berks. Mr. Hoopes.

With his permission I would like to withdraw that second and ask the permission of the House so to do, because I believe that the gentleman from Cambria is right in saying that we would set a bad precedent. A vote could be taken and five or six or ten men, if they so chose,—although I do not think that any of the men would so do,—could walk out of the House, the yeas and nays could be counted by some one and then dependent upon the result a motion could be made to have another roll call. Much as I would like to have the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg, vote on this bill, whether that vote would be the same as mine or the opposite, nevertheless I am constrained to believe that the gentleman from Cambria is absolutely right, that it would set a bad precedent and I ask that this motion placed before the House be defeated.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, I was called to the long distance telephone in the conference room. Would that be considered in the hall of the House?

The SPEAKER. It would not.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE WITHDRAWN

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I am willing to withdraw the motion that I have made, but I want to make another motion.

MOTION FOR A SECOND ROLL CALL

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that a large number of the members did not vote upon this measure, I move that the roll be called again.

The SPEAKER. The roll has already been called, but the Chair is willing to give every member a chance to record his vote who has not done so.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, may I speak against this motion?

The SPEAKER. We are in the midst of a verification. Does the gentleman from Berks insist upon his motion?

Mr. HOOPES. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman insists upon his motion that a new roll be called and the question is for the House to decide.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I cannot see that this motion made by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, is any less vicious than his previous motion. The same result can be obtained by a recalling of the roll as can be obtained by questioning individuals who were not recorded and who were outside of the hall of the House at the time the roll was called. I can see that the gentleman from Berks is prompted by a desire to have everybody in the hall of this House, the entire membership, recorded on what he deems a very important measure. I would suggest this to the membership of this House: since this motion is no less vicious than his previous motion, that it be defeated. I would suggest that anyone who desires to be recorded on this measure can do so under a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has already stated that he is willing to let every member have a chance to record his vote who has not already voted.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, a motion for a recalling of a roll is not in order. I desire to state that if it were in order you could continue to move to recall a roll and have a roll call on the motion to recall the roll and without ever reaching a decision.

MOTION RULED OUT OF ORDER

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The Chair rules the motion out of order.

Mr. HOOPES. I would like to inquire how the lady from Philadelphia, Miss Bracato, is recorded.

The SPEAKER. The lady from Philadelphia, Miss Brancato, is not recorded as voting

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I ask that she be required to vote.

The SPEAKER. Was the lady in the hall of the House?

MISS BRANCATO. I was not, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The lady states that she was not in the hall of the House when her name was called.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inqure whether the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Burke, is recorded as voting?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not recorded.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask that the gentleman be required to vote.

The SPEAKER. Was the gentleman from Philadelphia in the hall of the House when his name was called? The gentleman is not in the hall of the House now.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire if the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Carson, is recorded as voting?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Washington, Mr. Carson, is not recorded.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the gentleman be required to vote.

Mr. CARSON. Mr. Speaker, I was in the Secretary of the Commonwealth's office when the vote was taken.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman states that he was not in the hall of the House when the roll was called.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire how the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Coakley, is recorded as voting.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is recorded as voting "no."

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire whether the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Diehl is recorded as voting.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not recorded as voting and has not been in the hall of the House.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire how the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Dilley is recorded as voting.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not recorded.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask that the gentleman be required to vote.

Mr. DILLEY. Mr. Speaker, I was not in the hall of the House when the roll was called.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman states that he was not in the hall of the House when his name was called.

Mr. DILLEY. Mr. Speaker, my vote would have been "no" if I had been here.

Mr. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask whether my vote is in question?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's vote is not in question.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask whether the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Ferko is recorded as voting?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not recorded as voting.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I ask that he be required to vote.

The SPEAKER. Was the gentleman from Philadelphia, in the hall of the House when his name was called? The gentleman is not in the hall of the House now.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire how the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Haberlen, voted?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is recorded as voting "no."

Will the gentleman permit the Chair to complete the verification of the roll? After the verification is completed the gentleman can call attention to those members who are not recorded.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, the reason I am raising the question now is because if the members happened to be within the hall of the House at the time the roll was called they can be required to vote. Whereas, if I wait until after the roll is verified they would not be permitted to vote.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a specific point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, will state his point of order.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Berks is privileged only to question the affirmative roll after the affirmative roll has been read, and privileged to question the negative roll only after the negative roll has been read?

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, how can we find out whether or not the members who are not recorded within the hall of the House and require them to vote, and have their votes recorded?

The SPEAKER. Any member who was not within the hall of the House does not have the right to have his vote recorded. It is up to the members themselves to determine whether they shall be recorded or not, unless a specific challenge is made.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Berks is privileged only to call attention to the members who are present but not voting immediately after the vote has been taken.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, on the point just raised by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, I submit that I am raising it immediately before anything else has been done. We have not completed the affirmative verification which is the next step.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman wish to challenge any further votes?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I do.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman proceed? We have a public hearing at two o'clock and we would like to complete the roll call.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire how the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Hagerty, is recorded as voting?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not recorded.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, must question specifically either the affirmative roll or the negative roll, but cannot under any possibility indulge in a fishing expedition throughout the whole House.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I ask whether the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Hart, is recorded as voting in the affirmative?

The SPEAKER. He is not recorded in the affirmative.

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, I was here and voted "no". I was in the hall of the House.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. ANDREWS. Under the rules of the House, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Berks, if he wishes to challenge a vote must submit his challenge in writing.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, insists upon his point of order I shall have to ask for time to submit a written challenge, which will take a great more time than the other method.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman wish to challenge any votes in writing?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I do.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman send his challenge to the desk in writing?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

The SPEAKER. Are there any further corrections to the affirmative roll?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I ask for time to do that before the verification is completed?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Weiss, will state his point of order.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, is this a filibuster on the part of the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, to deny us the right to eat some lunch?

The SPEAKER. The point is one not of order.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, answering that point I wish to say I haven't had any breakfast.

The SPEAKER. The remark of the gentleman is equally out of order.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I ask time to prepare the challenges.

ORDER OF THE DAY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I call for the order of the day.

The SPEAKER. The order of the day is the verification of the roll.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the order of the day is not waiting here on the convenience of the gentleman from Berks while he compiles a directory of the legislature. If he has any challenges he can submit them.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I submit that the rules of this House cannot be so interpreted as to make it impossible to follow them. I have asked to file challenges. The rules require that they be submitted in writing, it would be impossible until the roll is completed for me to make any challenges. The only way I could possibly write them out would be to take time. I did not want to do that. I thought we would get out of here early. I prefered to do it orally because it takes too much time but as the point has been raised, it is the only thing I can do.

The SPEAKER. A member has the right to challenge the vote. The gentleman will send up his challenge in writing as promptly as possible. In order to facilitate the business of the House we will proceed with the negative roll, and then hold it until the challenges are received.

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, would it be in order for me to call attention of the Speaker one mistake in the negative roll call where it concerns another member who was not present?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to have the information.

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, Dr. Hindman who is recorded as voting "no" was not present during the roll call. He is not here now to speak for himself.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will not be recorded as voting.

Mr. SHREINER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman was in the hall of the House and voted "no" from back of the railing.

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I am just now informed that Dr. Hindman was back of the rail and answered "no" to his name. I don't know anything about it.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Washington, Mr. Hindman, will be recorded as voting.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, I heard the name of my colleague Mr. Stockham, on the negative roll and he is not in the hall of the House. He asked for leave of absence and went home.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Stockham, is not recorded.

Mr. PARKS. Mr. Speaker, I didn't hear my name on the negative roll, but I voted "no."

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Blair is not recorded as voting no. Does he wish to be so recorded?

Mr. PARKS. Mr. Speaker, I do.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I wish to present the following challenges.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will send his challenges to the desk.

The Chair will read for the information of the House Rule No. 80, Verification of the roll and challenging of votes.

"After the completion of a roll call, any member of the House may demand a verification of the roll by the clerk and if the vote or votes of members recorded as voting shall be challenged, in writing, by any member, and the votes so challenged would change the result, the announcement of the vote shall be postponed until the Speaker shall have investigated allegations made, when the roll call shall be corrected, if necessary, and the true result shall be announced by the Speaker."

The following challenge has been made by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. HOOPES:

"I challenge the votes of the following gentlemen, Holland, Linderman, McKinney, Moomaw, Moul. O'Neill. Rhys, Root, Schwartz, Tahl and Wasserman."

The following were not present in the hall of the House at the time their names were called: O'Neill, Rhys, Root, Schwartz, Moul, Wasserman and Tahl, and therefore could not be recorded.

The following are not recorded as voting, Holland, Linderman, McKinney and Moomaw. These members not having been recorded as voting their votes cannot be challenged.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, if the challenge as made by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, were sustained would it change the question of the passage or the non-passage of this bill.

The SPEAKER. It would not.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a further question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, is it not therefore under the rule required that the announcement of the vote be made by the Speaker with respect to passage or non-passage, and the question of the challenge is gone into later?

The SPEAKER. We are now on the verification of the roll and there are no challenges that can be sustained as the names the Chair has just read. The challenges as submitted by the gentleman from Berks are not in order under the rules.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, the Chair has stated that certain of the members whose votes were challenged were not within the hall of the House at the time the roll was called. That statement was made without inquiry from the House or the members, some of whom are now present, whether they were present at the time the roll was called, and I would like to ask how the Chair obtained the information?

The SPEAKER. The chair obtained the information from the Chief Clerk.

Was the gentleman from York, Mr. Moul, present when the vote was taken? The Chair wishes to ascertain the facts.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from York, Mr. Moul was not present.

The SPEAKER. Was the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. O'Neil, present when the roll was called?

(No response)

The SPEAKER. Was the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Rhys, present when the vote was taken?

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman was not present.

The SPEAKER. Was the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Root, present when the vote was taken?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, he was not.

The SPEAKER. Was the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz, present when the vote was taken?

Mr. McDEVITT. Mr. Speaker, he was not.

The SPEAKER. Was the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl, present when the vote was taken?

Mr. TAHL. I was not, Mr. Speaker, but I am willing to vote.

The SPEAKER. Was the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Wasserman, present when the vote was taken?

(No response)

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, in view of the information which the Chair has now obtained, I am satisfied with the answer to my parliamentary inquiry, although I might say that I saw at least two of the gentlemen in the House at the time of the vote.

The affirmative roll was verified.

The negative roll was verified.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

(f) Should the employe die as a result of the injury the period during which compensation shall be payable to his dependents under section three hundred and [seven] five of this article shall be reduced by the period during which compensation was paid to him in his lifetime under this section of this article No reduction shall be made for the amount which may have been paid or contracted to be paid for medical and hospital services and medicines nor for the expenses of the last sickness and burial Should the employe die from some other cause than the injury the liability for compensation shall cease

[(g) Hernia shall be considered as a physical weakness or ailment which ordinarily develops gradually and shall not be compensable unless conclusive proof is offered that the hernia was immediately precipitated by such sudden effort or severe strain that first the descent of the hernia immediately followed the cause second there was actual pain in the hernial region third the above manifestations were of such severity that the same were immediately noticed by the claimant and communicated to the employer or a representative of the employer within forty-eight hours after the occurence of the accident]

(g) If an employe receives an injury compensable under this act which of itself would not cause permanent total disability but which combined with a previous major permanent injury does in fact cause permanent total disability or if an employe who has previously suffered a major permanent injury receive an injury compensable under this act which of itself is a permanent injury or which either causes permanent total disability or results in the death of such employe compensation for such further permanent injury total disability or death shall be paid out of the moneys to the credit of the second injury reserve account hereinafter created by this act in the State Workmen's Insurance Fund as follows

(1) In the case of further permanent injury not resulting in total disability either of itself or in combination with any prior major permanent injury the amount provided by clause (c) of this section for the particular type of the later permanent injury

(2) In the case of total disability resulting either from the later injury of itself or from such injury combined with any prior major permanent injury an amount equivalent to the difference between the compensation payable for any prior major permanent injury and the amount payable for total disability under clause (a) of this section

(3) In the case of death resulting from the later injury or from a combination of any prior major permanent injury and the later injury the amount payable under section three hundred five of this act in cases of death

The employer of any such employe shall be responsible for compensating the injured employe for the second injuries and in the manner prescribed in this sub-section but shall be relieved from the payment of compensation to such employe to the extent such compensation is paid under this subsection out of the second injury reserve account of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund

Such employer in order to obtain the benefits of this subsection shall file with the board a petition of agreed facts in the manner provided in section four hundred eleven of this act and thereafter the procedure shall be the same as in other cases except that the board may in its discretion act on such petition without a hearing

For purposes of this subsection a "major permanent injury" shall mean all permanent injuries set forth in clause (c) of Section three hundred four exclusive of loss or loss of use of one or more fingers or toes not amounting to loss of or loss of use of hand or foot

Section [307] 305 In case of death compensation shall be computed on the following basis and distributed to the following persons

1 If there be no widow nor widower entitled to compensation compensation shall be paid to the guardian of the child or children or if there be no guardian to such other persons as may be designated by the board as hereinafter provided as follows

(a) If there be either one or two children [thirty-three] thirty per centum of wages of deceased but not in excess of [seven] twenty-five dollars [and fifty cents] per week

(b) If there be three children [forty-four] forty-five per centum of wages of deceased but not in excess of [ten] twenty-five dollars per week

(c) If there be four children [fifty-five] sixty per centum of wages of deceased but not in excess of [twelve] twenty-five dollars [and fifty cents] per week

(d) If there be five or more children [sixty-two and one-half] sixty-five per centum of wages of deceased but not in excess of [fourteen] twenty-five dollars per week

[(e) If there be six or more children sixty-five per centum of wages of deceased but not in excess of fifteen dollars per week]

2 To the widow or widower if there be no children forty-four per centum of wages but not in excess of [ten] twenty-five dollars per week

3 To the widow or widower if there be one child [fifty-five] fifty-nine per centum of wages but not in excess of [twelve and a half] twenty-five dollars per week

4 To the widow or widower if there be two or more children [sixty-two and one-half] sixty-five per centum of wages but not in excess of [fourteen] twenty-five dollars per week

[4½ To the widow or widower if there be three or more children sixty-five per centum of wages but not in excess of fifteen dollars per week]

5 If there be neither widow widower nor children entitled to compensation or if the widow widower or children are not receiving the maximum compensation payable under this act then to the father or mother if dependent to any extent upon the employe at the time of the accident twenty-five per centum of wages but not in excess of [five] twelve dollars per week Provided however That in the case of a minor child who has been contributing to his parents the dependency of said parents shall be conclusively presumed and provided further That if the father or mother was totally dependent upon the deceased employe at the time of the accident the compensation payable to such father or mother shall be forty-five per centum of wages but not in excess of [ten] seventeen dollars per week but the provisions of this paragraph in connection with other provisions of this section shall not be deemed to require the payment of compensation in excess of twenty-five dollars per week in any one case

6. If there be neither widow widower children nor dependent parent entitled to compensation or if the widow widower children or dependent parents are not receiving the maximum compensation payable under this act then to the brothers and sisters until the age of eighteen if actually dependent to any extent upon the decedent for support at the time of his death fifteen per centum of wages for one brother or sister and five per centum additional for each additional brother or sister with a maximum of twenty-five per centum such compensation to be paid to their guardian or if there be no guardian to such other person as may be designated by the board as hereinafter provided but the provisions of this paragraph in connection with other provisions of this section shall not be deemed to require the payment of compensation in excess of twenty-five dollars per week in any one case

7 Whether or not there be dependents as aforesaid the reasonable expense of burial not exceeding one hundred and fifty dollars which shall be paid by the employer or insurer directly to the undertaker (without deduction of any amounts theretofore paid for compensation or for medical expenses)

Compensation shall be payable under this section to or on account of any child brother or sister only if and while such child brother and sister is under the age of [sixteen] eighteen unless such child brother or sister is dependent by reason of mental or physical disability in which case such compensation shall be paid to or on account of such child brother or sister until he or she reaches the age of eighteen or for five hundred weeks which ever is the longer period No compensation shall be payable under this section to a widow unless she was living with her deceased husband at the time of his death or was then actually dependent upon him for support No compensation shall be payable under this section to a widower unless he be incapable of self-support at the time of his wife's death and be at such time dependent upon her for support The terms "child" and "children" shall include stepchildren and adopted children and children to whom he stood in loco parentis if members of decedent's household at the time of his death and shall include posthumous children Should any dependent of a deceased employe die or remarry or should the widower become capable of self-support the right of such dependent or widower to compensation under this section shall cease Provided however That upon remarriage of any widow other than a nonresident alien widow the compensation of such widow shall continue as hereinbefore provided for one-third of the period during which compensation then remains payable to her If the compensation payable under this section to any person shall for any cause cease the compensation to the remaining persons entitled thereunder shall thereafter be the same as would have been payable to them had they been the only persons entitled to compensation at the time of the death of the deceased

The wages upon which death compensation shall be based shall not in any case be taken to exceed [twenty-four] thirty-nine dollars per week nor be less than [twelve] eighteen dollars and fifty cents per week

This compensation shall be paid during [three] five hundred weeks and in the case of children entitled to compensation under this section the compensation of each child shall continue after said period of [three] five hundred weeks until such child reaches the age of [sixteen] eighteen at the rate of [seventeen and one-half per centum of wages but not in excess of three dollars and seventy-five cents per week if there be one child twenty-seven and one-half] thirty per centum of wages but not in excess of [six dollars and twenty-five cents] ten dollars per week if there be one or two children [thirty-eight and one-half] forty-five per centum of wages but not in excess of [eight dollars and seventy-five cents] twelve dollars per week if there be three children [fifty] sixty per centum of wages but not in excess of [eleven dollars and twenty-five cents] fifteen dollars per week if there be four children and [fifty-five] sixty-five per centum of wages but not in excess of [twelve] seventeen dollars and fifty cents per week if there be five children or more [and sixty per centum of wages but not in excess of thirteen dollars and seventy-five cents per week if there be six children or more] The board may if the best interest of a child or children shall so require at any time order and direct the compensation payable to a child or children or to a widow or widower on account of any child or children to be paid to the guardian of such child or children or if there be no guardian to such other person as the board as hereinafter provided may direct If there be no guardian or committee of any minor dependent or insane employe or dependent on whose account compensation is payable the amount payable on account of such minor dependent or insane employe or dependent may be paid to any surviving parent or to such other person as the board may order and direct and the board may require any person other than a guardian or committee to whom it has directed compensation for a minor dependent or insane employe or dependent to be paid to render as and when it shall so order accounts of the receipts and disbursements of such person and to file with it a satisfactory bond in a sum sufficient to secure the proper application of the moneys received by such person

Section [308] 306 Except as hereinafter provided all compensation payable under this article shall be payable in periodical instalments as the wages of the employe were payable before the accident

All compensation payable under this article shall be paid only to employes or their dependents or their guardian or such other persons as may be designated by the board

Every employer or his insurance carrier shall file promptly with the department an original standard check voucher receipt in such form as shall be prescribed by the department for each payment of compensation made under this act

Any person copartnership association or corporation who or which violates any of the provisions of this section shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay for each violation a fine of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than twenty-five dollars ($25.00)

Section [309] 307 Wherever in this article the term "wages" is used it shall be construed to mean the money rate at which the service rendered is recompensed under the contract of hiring in force at the time of the accident [and] except that in the case of a minor permanently disabled the term "wages" shall be construed to mean the probable earning power such minor would have had at the age of twenty-one under normal conditions The term "wages" shall not include gratuities received from the employer or others nor shall it include amounts deducted by the employer under the contract of hiring for labor furnished or paid for by the employer and necessary for the performance of such contract by the employe but shall include board and lodging received from the employer Whenever the employe receives board and lodging as a part of his wages the board shall be rated at fifty cents per day and board together with lodging shall be rated at one dollar per day for the purpose of computing wages In seasonable occupations the employe's weekly wages shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which he has earned from all occupations during the year immediately preceding the accident unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employe in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings In continuous employments if immediately prior to the accident the rate of wages was fixed by the day or hour or by the output of the employe his weekly wages shall be taken to be five and one-half times his average earnings at such rate for a working day and using as a basis of calculation his earnings during so much of the preceding six months as he worked for the same employer Provided however That if the employe regularly and habitually worked more than five and one-half days per week the weekly wage shall be found by multiplying his average earnings for working day by six six and one-half or seven according to the customary number of working days constituting an ordinary week in his occupation or trade Where the employe is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers his wages from all employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation

In cases where the employe has been in the employ of the employer less than one full week and by reason of the shortness of time during which the employe has been in the employment of the employer or the nature of terms of the employment it is impracticable to ascertain the average weekly wages as hereinbefore provided the average weekly amount which during the six months previous to the injury has been earned by other persons employed by the same employer under similar contracts of hiring or if there are no persons so employed by other persons employed by other employers under similar contracts of hiring under similar conditions shall be taken as the basis for the ascertainment of the weekly wages of such employe

Section [310] 308 Compensation under this article to alien dependent widows and children not residents of the United States shall be two-thirds of the amount provided in each case for residents and the employer may at any time commute all future instalments of compensation payable to alien dependents not residents of the United States by paying to such alien dependents the then value thereof calculated in accordance with the provisions of section three hundred and [sixteen] fourteen of this article Alien widowers parents brothers and sisters not residents of the United States shall not be entitled to any compensation

Non-resident alien dependents may be officially represented by the Consular officers of the nation of which such alien or aliens may be citizens or subjects and in such cases the Consular officers shall have the right to receive for distribution to such non-resident alien dependents all compensation awarded hereunder and the receipt of such Consular officers shall be a full discharge of all sums paid to and received by them.

Section [311] 309 Unless the employer shall have actual knowledge of the occurrence of the injury or unless the employe or some one in his behalf or some of the dependents or some one in their behalf shall give notice thereof to the employer within [fourteen] thirty days after the accident no compensation shall be due until such notice be given or knowledge obtained but if the employe or other beneficiary shall show that his delay in giving notice was due to his mistake or ignorance of fact or of law or to his physical or mental inability or to fraud misrepresentation or deceit or to any other reasonable cause or excuse then compensation shall be allowed unless the employer shall show that he did not know and by reasonable diligence could not have learned of the accident and that he was prejudiced by the delay in which case he shall be relieved to the extent of such prejudice [and unless such knowledge be obtained or notice given within ninety days after the occurrence of the injury no compensation shall be allowed] It shall be presumed that the employer had notice of any injury within the period prescribed in this section and the burden of proof shall be upon the employer to show otherwise

Section [312] 310 The notice referred to in section three hundred and [eleven] nine hereof shall be substantially in the following form

To (name of employer)

You are hereby notified that an injury of the following character (.....) was suffered by (name of employe injured) who was in your employment at (place) while engaged as (kind of employment) on or about the ( ) day of ( ) Anno Domini ( ) and that compensation will be claimed therefore

Date Signed ( )

But no variation from this form shall be material if the notice be sufficient to inform the employer that a certain employe by name received an injury the character of which is described in ordinary language in the course of or resulting from his employment on or about a time specified and at or ne r a place specified

Section [313] 311 The notices referred to in section [three hundred and two and section] three hundred and [eleven] nine hereof may be served personally upon the employer or upon the manager or superintendent in charge of the works or business in which the accident occurred or by sending them through the registered mail to the employer at his or its last known residence or place of business or if the employer be a corporation either foreign or domestic then upon the president vice-president secretary or treasurer thereof Knowledge of the occurrence of the injury on the part of any of said agents shall be the knowledge of the employer

Section [314] 312 At any time after an injury the employe if so requested by his employer must submit himself for examination at some reasonable time and place to a physician or physicians legally authorized to practice under the laws of such place who shall be selected and paid by the employer If the employe shall refuse upon the request of the employer to submit to the examination by the physician or physicians selected by the employer the board may upon petition of the employer order the employe to submit to an examination at a time and place set by it and by the physician or physicians selected and paid by the employer or by a physician or physicians designated by it and paid by the employer and if the employe shall without reasonable cause or excuse disobey or disregard such order he shall be deprived of his right to compensation under this article The board may at any time after such first examination upon petition of the employer order the employe to submit himself to such further examinations as it shall deem reasonable and necessary at such times and places and by such physicians as it may designate and in such case the employer shall pay the fees and expenses of the examining physician or physicians and the reasonable traveling expenses and loss of wages incurred by the employe in order to submit himself to such examination The refusal or neglect without reasonable cause or excuse of the employe to submit to such examination ordered by the board either before or after an agreement or award shall deprive him of the right to compensation under this article during the continuance of such refusal or neglect and the period of such neglect or refusal shall be deducted from the period during which compensation would otherwise be payable

The employe shall be entitled to have a physician or physicians of his own selection to be paid by him participate in any examination requested by his employer or ordered by the board

Section [315] 313 In cases of personal injury all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within [one year] two years after the accident the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation payable under this article or unless within [one year] two years after the accident one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof In cases of death all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within [one year] two years after the date of death the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation under this article or unless within [one year] two years after the date of death one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof Where however payments of compensation have been made in any case or an employer has failed to report to the department the occurrence of an injury to his employe as required by law said limitations shall not take effect until the expiration of [one year] two years from the time of the making of the last payment or the filing of such report as the case may be

Section [316] 314 The compensation contemplated by this article may at any time be commuted by the board at its then value when discounted at five per centum interest with annual rests disregarding the probability of the beneficiary's death upon application of either party with due notice to the other if it appear that such commutation will be for the best interest of the employe or the dependents of the deceased employe and that it will avoid undue expense or undue hardship to either party or that such employe or dependent has removed or is about to remove from the United States or that the employer has sold or otherewise disposed of the whole or the greater part of his business or assets Except as provided in section three hundred and [ten] eight hereof and in this section no commutation of compensation shall be made

Any person partnership association or corporation who or which shall commute or attempt to commute any compensation directly or indirectly in violation of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) or to undergo imprisonment for a period of not more than six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court

Section [317] 315 At any time after the approval of an agreement or after the entry of the award a sum equal to all future instalments of compensation may (where death or the nature of the injury renders the amount of future payments certain) with the approval of the board be paid by the employer to any savings bank trust company or life insurance company in good standing and authorized to do business in this [State] Commonwealth and such sum together with all interest thereon shall thereafter be held in trust for the employe or the dependents of the employe who shall have no further recourse against the employer The payment of such sum by the employer evidenced by the receipt of the trustee noted upon the prothonotary's docket shall operate as a satisfaction of said award as to the employer Payments from said fund shall be made by the trustee in the same amounts and at the same periods as are herein required of the employer until said fund and interest shall be exhausted In the appointment of the trustee preference shall be given in the discretion of the board to the choice of the employe or the dependents of the deceased employe Should however there remain any unexpended balance of any fund after the payment of all sums due under this act such balance shall be repaid to the employer who made the original payment or to his legal representatives

Section [318] 316 The right of compensation granted by this article of this act shall have the same preference (without limit of money) against the assets of an employer liable for such compensation as is now or may hereafter be allowed by law for a claim for unpaid wages for labor Provided however That no claim for compensation shall have priority over any judgment mortgage or conveyance of land recorded prior to the filing of the petition award or agreement as to compensation in the office of the prothonotary of the county in which the land is situated Claims for payments due under this article of this act shall not be assignable and (except as provided in section five hundred and one of article five hereof) shall be exempt from all claim of creditors and from levy execution or attachment which exemption may not be waived

Section [319] 317 Where a third person is liable to the employe or the dependents for the injury or death the employer shall be subrogated to the right of the employe or the dependents against such third person but only to the extent of the compensation payable under this article by the employer Any recovery against such third person in excess of the compensation theretofore paid by the employer shall be paid forthwith to the employe or to the dependents and shall be treated as an advance payment by the employer on account of any future instalments of compensation

Section [320] 318 (a) If the employe at the time of the accident is a minor under the age of eighteen years employed or permitted to work in violation of any provisions of the laws of this Commonwealth relating to minors of such age compensation either in the case of injury or death of such employe shall be double the amount that would be payable to such minor if legally employed but such additional compensation shall not exceed that provided for in case of legal employment may be referred to as "additional compensation"

(b) The employer and not the insurance carrier shall be liable for the additional compensation Any provision in an insurance policy undertaking to relieve an employer from such liability shall be void

(c) Where death or the nature of the injury renders the amount of future payments certain the total amount of the additional compensation subject to discount as in the case of commutation shall be immediately due and

payable It shall be deposited subject to the approval of the board in any savings bank trust company or life insurance company in good standing and authorized to do business in this [state] Commonwealth

Where the amount of the future payments of compensation is uncertain the board shall upon the approval of the agreement or the entry of an award determine as nearly as may be the total amount of payment to be made and the additional compensation so calculated shall immediately upon such determination become due and payable by the employer The amount may be redetermined by the board and any increase shall then become due and payable and any excess which shall be shown to have been paid shall be returned to the person paying the same Upon determination of the amount due it shall be deposited as above provided Payments of compensation out of deposits shall be made to the employe or dependents as payments of other compensation are made Provided however That the board may in its discretion and upon inquiry as in cases of commutation accelerate such payments

(d) The provisions of the foregoing paragraph (c) shall not apply to employers who are exempted by the [Bureau] department from the necessity of carrying insurance

(e) Possession of an employment certificate duly issued and transmitted to the employer in accordance with the provisions of the child labor law and receipt thereof duly acknowledged by him shall be conclusive evidence to such employer of his legal right to employ the minor for whose employment such certificate has been issued

(f) The possession of an age certificate duly issued and transmitted to the employer by the school authorities of the school district in which a minor resides shall be conclusive evidence to the employer of the minor's age as certified therein

[(g) If neither party has elected not to be bound by the provisions of article three of the act to which this act is an amendment in the manner prescribed by section three hundred and two of said act they shall be held to have agreed to be bound by the provisions of this act and to have waived any other right or remedy at law or in equity for the recovery of damages for injuries occurring under the circumstances herein described]

Section 321 (a) In the case of an employe who dies as the result of an injury received in the course of or resulting from his employment and who leaves no dependents entitled to receive not in excess of five hundred dollars compensation under this act the employer or his insurance carrier as the case may be shall pay the sum of one thousand dollars $1,000) to the department In order to enforce payment of such sum the department shall have power to file with the board a claim for the same in like manner as any claim for compensation may be filed under this act

(b) One-fourth of any amount received under this section by the department shall be paid by it into the Federal Rehabilitation Fund of the State Treasury through the Department of Revenue which amount shall be credited to a ledger account to be known as the industrial rehabilitation account All moneys credited to the industrial rehabilitation account are hereby appropriated to the department for all expenses incurred by the department under the rehabilitation laws of this Commonwealth for the rehabilitation of injured employes who are entitled to compensation under this act and who are as a result of their injuries totally or partly incapacitated for remunerative employment in the line of employment they were employed at the time of injury

(c) The remaining three-fourths of any amount received by the department under this section shall be paid by it into the State Workmen's Insurance Fund of the State Treasury through the Department of Revenue which amount shall be credited to a ledger account to be known as the second injury reserve account All amounts credited to the second injury reserve account are hereby appropriated to the department for the payment of the compensation provided in Clause (g) of section three hundred and four of this act

Whenever at the end of any fiscal year of the Commonwealth the total amount credited to the second injury reserve account shall exceed a sum equivalent to three times the average annual incurred liability of the account to employes or their dependents during the three preceding fiscal years the surplus amount shall upon requisition of the department be transferred to the Federal Rehabilitation Fund and credited to the industrial rehabilitation account in such fund All amounts so transferred shall be available and are hereby appropriated to the department for the same purposes for which moneys credited to such account are appropriated by subsection (b) of this section

Whenever an agreement or a supplemental agreement is disapproved by the department the employer shall pay to the employe compensation on the basis of such agreement to such extent as the agreement would if approved require compensation on the basis of such agreement shall be paid until such time as the employer's liability for compensation is finally determined under the provisions of this act Any payments made by an employer in accordance with such agreement shall discharge pro tanto his liability for such compensation as may be subsequently determined to be due the employe under the provisions of this act

An employer who shall fail to mail or deliver to the department two copies of any agreement or supplemental agreement within thirty days after such agreement or supplemental agreement is executed by the claimant shall upon conviction thereof in a summary preceeding be sentenced to pay a fine of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) for each such failure

Section 410 If after any accident the employer and the employe or his dependent concerned in any accident shall fail to agree upon the facts thereof and the compensation due under this act the employe or his dependents or the department for and on behalf of such employe or his dependents whenever an agreement or supplemental agreement has been disapproved by the department or it shall otherwise deem it to be in the interests of justice to do so may present a claim for compensation to the board All allegations contained in the claim petition must be separately and specifically admitted or denied by the defendant Claimant shall have a right upon a petition to the referee and his order thereon to inspect the premises where the claimant alleges the injury was received

Whenever any claim for compensation is presented to the board other than claims of nonresident alien dependents and is finally adjudicated in favor of the claimant the amounts of compensation actually due at the time the first payment is made after such adjudication shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum per annum beginning fourteen days after the date of the accident and such interest shall be payable to the same persons as the compensation is payable.

In case any claimant shall die before the final adjudication of his claim the amount of compensation due such claimant to the date of death shall be paid to the dependents entitled to compensation or if there be no dependents then to the estate of the decedent

Section 411 Whenever the employer and the employe or his dependent shall on or after the [tenth] seventh day after any accident agree on the facts on which a claim for compensation depends but shall fail to agree on the compensation payable thereunder they may petition the board to determine the compensation payable Such petition shall contain the agreed facts and shall be signed by all parties in interest The board shall fix a time and place for hearing the petition and shall notify all parties in interest As soon as may be after such hearing the board shall award or disallow compensation in accordance with the provisions of this act

Section 412 If any party shall desire the commutation of future instalments of compensation he shall present a petition therefor to the board

Section 413 The board or a referee designated by the board may at any time review and modify or set aside an original or supplemental agreement upon petition filed by either party or by the department with the board or in the course of the proceedings under any petition pending before such board or referee if it be proved that such agreement was procured prior or subsequent to the effective date of this act by the fraud coercion or other improper conduct of a party or was founded upon a mistake of law or of fact

The board or referee designated by the board may at any time modify reinstate suspend or terminate an original or supplemental agreement or an award upon petition filed by either party with such board upon proof that the disability of an injured employe has increased decreased recurred or has temporarily or finally ceased or that the status of any dependent has changed Such modification reinstatement suspension or termination shall be made as of the date upon which it is shown that the disability of the injured employe has increased decreased recurred or has temporarily or finally ceased or upon which it is shown that the status of any dependent has changed [Provided That except in the case of eye injuries an agreement or an award can only be reviewed modified or reinstated during the time such agreement or award has to run if for a definite period and except in the case of eye injuries no agreement or award shall be reviewed or modified or reinstated unless a petition is filed with the board within one year after the date of the last payment of compensation with or without an agreement]

The board or referee to whom any such petition has been assigned may subpoena witnesses hear evidence make findings of fact and award or disallow compensation in the same manner and with the same effect and subject to the same right of appeal as if such petition were an original claim-petition.

The filing of a petition to terminate or modify a compensation agreement or award as provided in this section shall operate as a supersedeas and shall suspend the payment of compensation fixed in the agreement or by the award [in whole or] to such extent as the facts alleged in the petition would if proved require except that the filing of a petition relative to a change in the disability of an injured person shall not act as a supersedeas unless such petition contains an affidavit by a physician that he has examined the claimant a percentage estimate of the extent of disability according to a schedule which shall be fixed by the board and that the petitioner in his opinion is entitled to the relief prayed for in the petition

Section 414 Whenever a claim-petition or other petition is presented to the board the board shall by general rules or special order either direct it to be heard by one or more members of the board or assign it to a referee for hearing Provided however That petitions presented under section four hundred and eleven and four hundred and twelve shall be heard by one or more members of the board

The [secretary] department shall serve upon each adverse party a copy of the petition together with a notice that such petition will be heard by the board or the referee to whom it has been assigned (giving his name and address) as the case may be and if the petition shall have been assigned to a referee shall mail the original petition to such referee together with copies of the notices served upon the adverse parties

Section 415 At any time before an award or disallowance of compensation or order has been made by a referee to whom a petition has been assigned the board may order such petition heard before it or one or more of its members or may reassign it to any other referee Unless the board shall otherwise order the testimony taken before the original referee shall be considered as though taken before the board or substituted referee

Section 416 Within ten days after a copy of any petition has been served upon any adverse party he may file with the secretary of the board if the petition has been directed to be heard by the board or with the referee if the petition has been assignd to a referee an answer in the form prescribed by the board

Every fact alleged in a petition not specifically denied by an answer so filed by an adverse party shall be deemed to be admitted by him But the failure of any adverse party or of all of them to deny a fact so alleged shall not preclude the board or referee before whom the petition is heard from requiring of its or his own motion proof of such fact

Section 417 As soon as may be after the twelfth day after notice that a petition has been directed to be heard by the board has been served upon the adverse parties thereof the board shall fix a time and place for hearing the petition If a petition be assigned to a referee he shall twelve days after notice that such petition has been assigned to him has been served upon the adverse parties fix a time and a place for hearing the petition Such hearing shall not be less than five nor more than fourteen days after the mailing of notice thereof by the referee The secretary of the board if the petition has been directed to be heard by the board or by one or more of its members or the referee to whom the petition has been assigned shall serve upon all parties in interest a notice of the time and place of hearing and shall serve upon the petitioner a copy of any answer of any adverse party

Section 418 The board if a petition is directed to be heard by it or by one or more of its members or the referee to whom a petition is assigned for hearing may subpoena witnesses order the production of books and other writings and hear evidence and shall make in writing and as soon as may be after the conclusion of the hearing such findings of fact conclusions of law and award or disallowance of compensation or other order as the petition and answers and the evidence produced before it or him and the provisions of this act shall in its or his judgment require the findings of fact made by the board in any petition heard by it or by one or more of its members or upon a hearing de novo shall be final except as hereinafter provided and the findings of fact made by a referee to whom a petition has been assigned or any question of fact has been referred under the provisions of section four hundred and nineteen shall be final unless the board shall under the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-five of this article grant a hearing de novo or a rehearing

Section 419 The board may refer any question of fact arising under any petition including a petition for commutation heard by it to a referee to hear evidence and report to the board the testimony taken before him or such testimony and findings of fact thereon as the board may order The board may refer any question of fact arising out of any petition assigned to a referee to any other referee to hear evidence and report the testimony so taken thereon to the original referee

Section 420 The board or a referee if it or he deem it necessary may of its or his own motion either before during or after any hearing make an investigation of the facts set forth in the petition or answer The board or referee with the consent of the board [may] shall whenever it shall be deemed in the interest of justice to do so appoint one or more impartial physicians or surgeons to examine the injuries of the plaintiff and report thereon or he may employ the services of such other experts as shall appear necessary to ascertain the facts The report of any physician surgeon or expert appointed by the board or by a referee shall be filed with the board or referee as the case may be and shall be a part of the record and open to inspection as such

The board shall fix the compensation of such physicians surgeons and experts which when so fixed [shall be paid out of the sums appropriated to the Department of Labor and Industry for the maintenance of the department and] shall be taxed as part of the costs of the proceedings [to be repaid to such department by either party or both as the board may direct If any sum so taxed shall not be paid by the party directed to repay the same may be collected as costs are now collectible] and shall be paid by the employer to the physician surgeon or expert If any employer shall fail to pay such cost promptly the physician surgeon or expert may proceed to collect the same in the manner provided in this act for the collection of awards of compensation

Section 421 All hearings before the board or one or more members thereof or before a referee shall be public

The official stenographic notes taken at a hearing shall be transcribed and a copy thereof furnished to the employer and the claimant the cost of which shall be taxed as a cost of the proceedings and shall be paid by the employer If any sum so taxed is not paid by the employer the same may be collected as costs are now collectible

The board or a referee shall assess against each employer or claimant five dollars ($5.00) for each postponed or continued hearing held at the request of such employer or claimant but may if it shall be deemed to be in the interest of justice to do so waive any such amount assessed against any claimant

Section 422 Neither the board nor any of its members nor any referee shall be bound by the technical rules of evidence in conducting any hearing or investigation but all findings of fact shall be based only upon competent evidence

If any party or witness resides outside of the Commonwealth or through illness or other cause is unable to testify before the board or a referee his or her testimony or deposition may be taken within or without this Commonwealth in such manner and in such form as the board may by special order or general rule prescribe The records kept by a hospital of the medical or surgical treatment given to an employe in such hospital shall be admissible as evidence of the medical and surgical matters stated therein but shall not be conclusive proof of such matters

Section 423 Any party in interest may within twenty days after notice of a referee's award or disallowance of compensation shall have been served upon him take an appeal to the board on the ground (1) That the award or disallowance of compensation is not in conformity with the terms of this act or that the referee committed any other error of law (2) that the findings of fact and award or disallowance of compensation was unwarranted by the evidence or was procured by fraud coercion or other improper conduct of any party in interest The board may upon cause shown extend the time provided in this article for taking such appeal or for the filing of an answer or other pleading

In any such appeal the board may disregard the findings of fact of the referee and may examine the testimony taken before such referee and if it deem proper may hear other evidence and may substitute for the findings of the referee such findings of fact as the evidence taken before the referee and the board as hereinbefore provided may in the judgment of the board require and may make such disallowance or award of compensation or other order as the facts so found by it may require

Section 424 Whenever an appeal shall be based upon an alleged error of law it shall be the duty of the board to grant a hearing thereon The board shall fix a time and place for such hearing and shall serve notice thereof on

As soon as may be after any such hearing the board shall either sustain or reverse the referee's award or disallowance of compensation or make such modification thereof as it shall deem proper

Section 425 Whenever an appeal shall be taken on the ground that the referee's award or disallowance of compensation was unwarranted by the evidence or because of fraud coercion or other improper conduct by any party in interest the board may in its discretion grant a hearing

de novo before the board or one or more of its members or assign the petition for rehearing to any referee designated by it or sustain the referee's award or disallowance of compensation If the board shall grant a hearing de novo it shall fix a time and place for same and shall notify all parties in interest

As soon as may be after any hearing de novo by the board it shall in writing state its findings of fact and award or disallow compensation in accordance with the provisions of this act

Section 426 The board upon petition of any party and upon cause shown at any time before the court of common pleas of any county [return day of any appeal to the Superior Court] of this Commonwealth to [whom] which an appeal has been taken under the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-seven of this article shall have taken final action thereon may grant a rehearing of any petition upon which the board has made an award or disallowance of compensation or other order or ruling or has sustained or reversed any action of a referee the time for taking appeals shall be suspended pending the determination of the first petition for rehearing in those cases in which such petition is filed within twenty days from notice of decision of the Workmen's Compensation Board [but such rehearing shall not be granted more than one year after the board has made such award disallowance or other order or ruling or has sustained or reversed any action of the referee] If the board shall grant a rehearing of any petition from [the board's] its action on which an appeal has been taken to and is pending in the court of common pleas of any county of this Commonwealth under the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-seven of this article the board shall file in such court a certified copy of its order granting such rehearing and it shall thereupon be the duty of such court to cause the record of the case to be remitted to the board [Provided however That nothing contained in this section shall limit or restrict the right of the board or a referee designated by the board to review modify set aside reinstate suspend or terminate an original or supplemental agreement or an award in accordance with the provisions of section four hundred thirteen of this article]

Section 427 Any party may appeal from any action of the board on matters of law to the court of common pleas of the county in which the accident occurred or of the county in which the adverse party resides or has a permanent place of business or by agreement of the parties to the court of common pleas of any other county of this Commonwealth Such appeal must be brought within twenty days after notice of the action of the board has been served upon such party unless any court of common pleas to which an appeal lies shall upon cause shown extend the time herein provided for taking the appeal The party taking the appeal shall at the time of taking the appeal serve upon the adverse party a written notice thereof setting forth the date of the appeal and the court in which the same is filed and shall file either with his notice of appeal or within thirty days thereafter such exceptions to the action of the board as he may desire to take and shall specify the findings of fact if any of the board or of the referee sustained by the board which he alleges to be unsupported by competent evidence

Upon filing of the notice of an appeal the prothonotary of the court of common pleas to which the appeal has been taken shall issue a writ of certiorari directed to the [Workmen's Compensation Board] board commanding it within ten days after service thereof to certify to such court its entire record in the matter in which the appeal has been taken The writ so issued shall be mailed by the prothonotary to the [bureau] department at Harrisburg together with a copy of the exceptions The board shall within ten days after such service certify to such court its entire record in the matter in which the appeal has been taken including the notes of testimony

Any court before whom an appeal is pending from any action of the board may remit the record to the board for more specific findings of fact if the findings of the board or referee are not in its opinion sufficient to enable it to decide the question of law raised by the appeal

If the court of common pleas of any county of this Commonwealth shall affirm an award or order of the board or of a referee sustained by the board fixing the compensation payable under this act the court shall enter judgment for the total amount stated by the award or order to be payable whether then due and accrued or payable in future instalments If such court shall sustain the appellant's exceptions to a finding or findings of fact and reverse the action of the board founded thereon the court shall remit the record to the board for further hearing and determination in which the procedure shall be the same as that hereinbefore provided in this article in the case of a petition presented to the board except that the board may order that any part of the testimony taken in the original proceedings may be considered as though taken in such further hearing

The prothonotary of any court of common pleas to which an appeal has been taken from the board shall send to the board a certificate of the judgment of the court as soon as rendered with a copy of any opinion which may be filed in the case and within five days shall give notice of such judgment and the date thereof by registered mail to each attorney-at-law appearing in the case at the address given by the attorney in the pleadings and if no attorney-at-law has appeared by registered mail to the party or parties not represented by counsel At the end of the period hereinafter allowed for an appeal from the judgment of the court the record of the board shall be remitted to it by the prothonotary unless an appeal shall have been taken to the Superior Court as hereinafter provided If such appeal shall be taken the record shall be remitted to the board by the prothonotary on its return from the appellate court

Any party may appeal to the Superior Court from the judgment of the court of common pleas within thirty days after entry of said judgment irrespective of the amount involved Such appeal shall be taken and prosecuted in the same manner and form and with the same effect as is provided in other cases of appeal to the Superior Court and the record so certified shall contain all that was before the court of common pleas Any appeal from the action of the board to [a court of common pleas and from it to the Superior Court shall take precedence over all other civil actions The judgment of the Superior Court shall be final unless an appeal therefrom is allowed by the Supreme Court as in the cast of other judgments of [that tribunal] the Superior Court

Section 428 At any time after the approval of a compensation agreement or after an award or order has been made by the board or referee the department the employe or dependents entitled to compensation thereunder may file a certified copy of the agreement and the order of the board approving the same or of the award or order with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county and the prothonotary shall enter the total amount of compensation stated in the agreement award or order to be payable to the employe or his dependents whether then due and accrued or payable in future instalments as a judgment against the employer or other party liable under such agreement or award Such judgment shall be a lien against property of the employer or other party liable under such agreement or award and execution may issue thereon forthwith

Whenever after an accident any employe or his dependents shall have entered into a compensation agreement with his employer or shall file a claim petition with the board he may file a certified copy thereof with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county The prothonotary shall enter the amount stipulated in any such agreement or claimed in any such petition as judgment against the employer If the agreement be approved by the board or compensation awarded as claimed in the petition the amount of compensation stipulated in the agreement or claimed in the petition shall be a lien as of the date when the agreement or petition was filed with the prothonotary Pending the approval of the agreement or the award of compensation no other lien which may be attached to the employer's property during such time shall gain priority over the lien of such agreement or award but no execution shall issue on any compensation judgment before the approval of the agreement or the award of compensation on the said petition

If the agreement be disapproved or after hearing compensation shall be disallowed the employer may file with the prothonotary of any county in which the petition or agreement is on record as a judgment a certified copy of the disapproval of the agreement or disallowance of compensation and it shall be the duty of such prothonotary to strike off the judgment

If the amount of compensation claimed be disallowed but another amount awarded the compensation judgment shall be a lien to the extent of the award as of the date of filing the petition with the prothonotary with the same effect as to other liens and the same disability to issue execution thereon as if the compensation claimed had been allowed In such cases the prothonotary shall make such modification of the record as shall be appropriate

If the compensation payable under any agreement or award upon which judgment has been entered under the provisions of this section shall be modified suspended reinstated or terminated by a supplemental agreement executed under the provisions of section four hundred and eight or by an award or order made under the provisions of section four hundred and thirteen any party to such judgment at any time after such agreement has been approved by the board or after the expiration of the time allowed for an appeal from the award or order may file with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county in which such judgment is on record a certified copy of such supplemental agreement award or order and it shall thereupon be the duty of the prothonotary to modify suspend reinstate or satisfy such judgment in accordance with the terms of such supplemental agreemental agreement award or order

Execution may issue by first filing with the prothonotary an affidavit that there has been a default in payments of compensation due on any judgment for compensation entered prior to the approval of the compensation agreement or an award on petition as soon as such agreement shall have been approved or such award made as evidenced by the aproval of the board of the award or by a certified copy thereof

Execution shall in all cases be for the amount of compensation and interest thereon due and payable up to the date of the issuance of said execution with costs and further execution may issue from time to time as further compensation shall become due and payable until full amount of the judgment with costs shall have actually been paid

Section 429 If any party against whom a compensation agreement award or other order fixing the compensation payable under this act has been filed of record in any county of this Commonwealth in accordance with the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-eight of this article or against whom judgment has been entered by the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county on any award or order of the board or a referee shall at any time present to the board receipts or copies thereof certified by any referee showing the payment of compensation as required by the agreement or award in full to the date of presentation to the referee the board shall issue a certificate to such party in the form prescribed stating the extent to which the judgment on the agreement or award has been reduced Upon the presentation of such certificate to the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county in which such agreement or award has been filed of record as a judgment or in which judgment on an award has been entered by the prothonotary of the court of common pleas it shall be the prothonotary's duty to mark such judgment satisfied to the extent of the payments so certified and upon the presentation to such prothonotary of a certificate issued by the board under the provisions of section three hundred and [seventeen] fifteen of this act it shall be the duty of the prothonotary to mark such judgment fully satisfied

Section 430 The lien of any judgment entered upon any award shall not be divested by any appeal If however the party appealing from the award shall file with the board a bond in such amount and in such form as the rules and regulations of the board shall direct the appeal shall pending its decision excuse the payment of so much of the compensation as is contested therein but if the final decision on appeal shall sustain the award it shall be the duty of the employer by whom such award is payable to make payments of compensation as from the date of the original award If on appeal the award is sustained as to a part it shall be the duty of the employer by whom such part is payable to make payments as from the date of the original award In case the award is annulled on appeal it shall be the duty of the prothonotary of any county in which such award has been entered as a judgment to mark it satisfied

Section 431 The cost of the prothonotary for entering the amount of compensation as provided in this act or making a modification of the record or marking the judgment satisfied shall be allowed taxed and collected as upon a confession of judgment on a judgment note

Section 432 It shall be the duty of the prothonotary of [each court of common pleas and of the Supreme and Superior Court of the Commonwealth to make a monthly report to the board of the disposition of all appeals taken to such court under the provisions of this article

Section 433 A document on file in the [bureau] department or with the board or any referee or part of the record of any proceedings taken under Articles III and IV of this act shall be proved by a copy thereof certified by the chairman of the board and attested by the secretary of the board under seal of the board.

Section 434 A final receipt given by an employe or dependent entitled to compensation under a compensation agreement or award reciting that the disability or dependency has terminated shall be prima facie evidence of the termination of the employer's liability to pay compensation under such agreement or award Provided however That the board or a referee designated by the board may at any time set aside a final receipt upon petition filed with the board if it be proved that such receipt was procured by fraud coercion or other improver conduct of a party or is founded upon mistake of law or of fact or upon erroneous judgment on the part of the employe of his ability to work

Section 435 Any hospital institution physician surgeon or other person who has furnished surgical medical dental and nursing services hospital treatment artificial appliances medicines and supplies for which the employer is made liable under the provisions of this act shall be deemed a party in interest and have standing before the board or any referee designated by the board and the courts of this Commonwealth to present a claim for remuneration for such services hospital treatment artificial appliances medicines and supplies and have the same heard and determined and shall be entitled to receive an award for such remunerations Any such claimant shall be entitled to enforce any such award in the same manner as claimants of compensation are entitled to enforce awards of compensation

Section 436 The board or a referee designated by the board or any court of this Commonwealth in granting an award of compensation to an injured employe or his dependents or in affirming or modifying and affirming such an award or in reversing the disallowance of such an award shall in addition to such compensation include in such an award or judgment expert's fees if any and reasonable attorney's fees for professional services if any rendered by an attorney-at-law to such employe or his dependents in any such proceeding payment of which may be enforced in the same manner as the payment of an award may be enforced under the provisions of this act

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill provides that the Workmen's Compensation Board shall be increased from three members to five members, an additional expense to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania of at least seventeen thousand dollars per year. I cannot possibly understand what prompts the introduction of this bill. The Workmen's Compensation Board has been efficiently managed with three members on that Board. We are supposed to be economizing in State government. For no good reason except for the possible creating of two additional jobs for two worthy persons this bill merely adds an unnecessary expense to the Commonwealth.

The bill also provides that of the five members, two shall be lawyers and one shall be a doctor. If it is the desire of the sponsor of this bill to have a lawyer and a doctor upon the Board that may or may not be a good idea, but it can readily be accomplished by amending the present act and providing that one of the members of the Board shall be a lawyer, and one a doctor and one a layman, but it is not necessary to put the Commonwealth to an additional expense.

I do not know whether or not the present Workmen's Compensation Board has requested two additional members or whether or not they feel that they are unable to handle the situation which has been well handled in the past by three members of the Board. I, therefore, ask the membership of this House in the interest of economy in the State government not to create two additional plums at the expense of the taxpayers of Pennsylvania, and I will ask you to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, the reason for introducing this bill and changing the Workmen's Compensation Board from three to five members should be obvious to everyone. From what I can understand, the claims before the Workmen's Compensation Board at the present time are in a very congested condition, and it takes from two to three and sometimes five years before a man who is entitled to compensation will finally be compensated.

The last Governor appointed a committee to study the legal and practical aspects of Workmen's Compensation and insurance, and in their recommenation they recommend that this should be increased and that the referee should come under the Department of Labor and Industry, which they do according to this act.

This bill is an administration measure and is only designed to try to assist people who have claims under the Compensation Act. It may be called plums or anything else but a dollar spent in the right direction is a wisely spent dollar. I am going to ask you to vote for this bill because it is going to help the laboring man all the way through.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tumelty.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tumelty, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TUMELTY. I will try to answer, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, when the gentleman says this is an administration measure, may I ask him just what he means by that?

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I mean that this is a measure which the administration as far as I know is back of it,—the present administration.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean that the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is in favor and recommends the passage of this bill?

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I have not been in touch with the Governor, but it came down from the regular channels, and I imagine yes.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tumelty?

The Speaker. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tumelty, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask who the gentleman means then by the administration?

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I mean the Democrats who were elected at the last election.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman of the Democrats who were elected in the last election, to which particular democrats does he give the credit for the introduction by him of this bill?

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I presume this bill originated at some kind of a conference between the workmen's Compensation Board and the Department of Labor and Industry.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, in other words when the gentleman says that he presumes, he doesn't know and he has not got the slightest definite knowledge at this particular moment whether or not this did so originated or did not so originate, is that correct?

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, so that when the gentleman says it is an administration measure, that is what he thinks, that is what he would like it to be, but he is not sure?

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I feel pretty sure about it.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tumelty.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, when the gentleman says he feels pretty sure, I take it that that necessarily indicates that there is some doubt in his mind, and that he is unwilling to state to this House on his word that that is correct.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, there isn't any doubt in my mind but I refuse to commit myself and say that there is for fear that the gentleman from Philadelphia might have some loop-hole that he is trying to trip me up on.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask is it or is it not an administration measure.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, to the best of my knowledge this is an administration measure.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, from whence does the gentleman get his knowledge?

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, from the democratic caucus.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, does every bill that is decided on in the democratic caucus, the democratic caucus being in favor of it, constitute in his mind an administration measure.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, the democratic caucusses are to a certain extent confidential. We would have to wait until hell froze over before we would violate that confidence.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I did not ask about the Democratic Caucus until the gentleman mentioned it.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman, from Luzerne, Mr. Yourishin, will state his point of order.

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker, the question before the House is House Bill No. 1904, and not as to whether it is an administration measure or otherwise.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tumelty.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tumelty, permit himself to be further interrogated.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know whether or not the present Workmens Compensation Board, consisting of three men who were elected in November upon the Democratic ticket have requested two additional members upon their board?

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer that question but I believe that they had some kind of understanding with the Department of Labor and Industry before this bill was originated.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, so that as far as the gentleman from Philadlephia knows there has been no request made by the Workmen's Compensation Board that they be provided with two additional members; is that correct?

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, as far as I know that is correct, but I still think it is a good idea.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it seems to be a happy faculty when bills are sponsored by the Democratic Membership in order to assure its passage to voice the sentiment and make the expression "it is an administration measure." I have heard it done too often in this House, where as a matter of fact it is not a Democratic administration measure.

The remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia as to whether or not it is or is not an administration measure ought to convey to every man who has heard it the fact that he is not sure whether it is or not and I cannot help but direct the attention of the House that there is right now at this very moment on the floor of this House a member of the Workmen's Compensation Board, and it would have been a very easy matter for the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tumelty, to find out whether or not the present Workmen's Compensation Board feels that it needs two additional members. There is nobody better qualified in the whole Commonwealth to tell you whether they need two additional members properly to administer the Workmen's Compensation Laws than the present Workmen's Compensation Board and I think it is very loose practice on the part of the Democratic majority and I think it is a careless and reckless manner of presenting bills.

I further decry the use of the words to put through a measure, "it is an administration measure" in order to get it across. It seems to me that where we are spending the taxpayer's money that the least the sponsor of such measure should do is to ascertain whether it is an administration measure or not.

Right at the present moment you are voting upon this extra expense without a single possible argument that there is any reason for it. There hasn't been a bit of evidence, there hasn't been anything said to you, to indicate that there is any need of additional members on this Board. The statement that it takes from two to three years for claims to be disposed of by the Compensation Board is so ridiculous, so incorrect, that to make answer to it would be dignifying the most erroneous statement made on the floor of this House. I say to the members of this House that where you are creating jobs today and where you are taking money out of the coffers of the Commonwealth you ought to stop, look and listen, and if you stop, look and listen and if you examine the records of the Compensation Board, you will find that three men are just as capable of sitting down to hear and determine the facts as five men. There is no use plugging up with two extra places for two mannikins but to use three men who are well able to administer justice. I believe that the present Workmen's Compensation Board is a capable board, and I do not think they need any help. I think if they were asked whether they needed help or not, they would say "no." I think that you are treading upon dangerous ground when for no reason whatever, you are sponsoring such legislation. I am not going into the question of putting referees under the Department of Labor and Industry and taking them away from the Compensation Board, except to say this, that it seems that you are lacking confidence in your own board, and that you do not seem to have the proper confidence in the Workmen's Compensation Board, because you do not want to trust them under this bill. You won't let the referee who acts under them and to whom they must report to make decisions be responsible to that board. You are going to take that responsibility away, put it in the Department of Labor and Industry. You cannot accuse me in this argument of arguing politics because they are both Democratic, the Department of Labor and Industry and the board, but it is a ridiculous provision, and for these reasons and for the reasons that the gentleman from Philadelphia has uttered in his explanation of this bill, I ask you to vote against it.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I can say that this is an administration measure because I gave the bill to Mr. Tumelty and asked him to introduce it. It was passed upon by the Democratic Caucus, and it is designed to correct conditions existing today and during the last few years where it took from three to five years before some of the persons who were injured could get compensation because of the congested condition of the Board's docket. With five members the work will be carried on in the individual meetings.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2015, entitled:

An Act authorizing cities boroughs and towns to construct acquire own operate and control water-works and gas works and appurtenances thereto and to sell water and gas both within and without their corporae limits and conferring the power of eminent domain to acquire property for such purposes

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MORAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, whether or not the word "town", as used repeatedly in the act, means a township or village or what.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, It means towns, cities, or boroughs.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, whether or not the word "town" as used in this act means townships or a community?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I don't know what your word "town" means.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, what he means by the word "town" in the act. This interrogation is not meant as a joke. I know of no particular subdivision in Pennsylvania called a "town". In New York State they term a township a town. I would like to know whether or not this means a township or whether it refers to a village, an unincorporated town of some sort.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I understand that in Columbia County, you have a place called a town.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, is that what the gentleman referred to especially as an incorporated town, such as they have in certain cases

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, in Columbia County, yes.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, apparently there is only one or two such incorporated towns in the Commonwealth. Was it the intent of the act to mean township?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, the intent of the act is to allow towns, townships, boroughs, and municipalities anywhere in the state as a subdivision.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, on page two of this act, line fourteen to line seventeen the act reads: "That no city borough or town shall acquire by purchase or condemnation any publicly or privately owned waterworks or gas works and the appurtenances thereto located in any other city borough or town except with the approval of a majority of the qualified voters of the city borough or town, in which the property to be acquired is located."

Mr. Speaker, under this bill, would it not be impossible for the city of Pittsburgh, for example, to acquire a water supply from a private concern back in the country somewhere if the voters of a little township in which that water supply were located chose to obstruct the City of Pittsburgh in its efforts to acquire a water supply, is that not right?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman wants to put it that way, yes.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny County, whether or not that is what the act says?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, it says that the majority of the voters in each town, borough or township or city, borough or town, that is what it says in the act.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I find nothing in this bill to prevent two cities or boroughs or towns, as the case may be, from entering into competition with one another without any regulation whatever, in the territory between those cities or towns. What is the intention of the sponsor of the bill as to regulation of possible competition between cities in a wide open situation such as this creates?

Mr. MORAN. My answer to that question, Mr. Speaker. would be that I do not think it would happen.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the sponsor of the bill why he thinks it would not happen, if two cities both chose to go into the intervening territory, which they have a right to do under this bill?

It happens in the case of a private company. Why would it not happen in the case of a municipality?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to Mr. Kanes question, I would say that private companies are out for profit, where the municipality owed plants would not be out for profit, and this bill would probably ring the rates where they should be for the people that buy gas and water.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, in case a city under this bill extended its service without any regulation into the surrounding territory or into the adjacent cities or anywhere in the State which the bill permits, who will bear the loss of that municipal plant that undertook, in case it turns out to be a loss, the people served or the city which happens to undertake it?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, the city that undertook the building of this plant, of course.

Mr. KANE, Mr. Speaker, in other words, if the city of Butler would go out into the surrounding county owing to the urgency of some administration there that they serve the rest of the community and they would lose a lot of money doing so, the residents of the city of Butler would have to bear the entire expense, is that right?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, they would be responsible for the expense therefor, if they want to go to the expense in the first place, and therefore I think they should stand it.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I do not see in this bill any provision of any kind with regard to who shall manage or who shall regulate or who shall construct these water plants or gas works, where they go outside the limits of the city which is intending to own them. Can the sponsor of this bill tell me whether or not if a city goes out into another town, the people of that other town have anything to say about the rates charged or the service rendered?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would say that that is a part of the set up, and a majority of the people in the town that builds the water plant vote for it, and if the people in another town want to buy from them they also vote for that, so in buying I would say that they accept the rates. They are in line with the other towns.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I have no further questions to ask, but I would like to speak on this bill. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it seems to me that this bill is typical of a type of bill which is sometimes drawn up on the spur of the moment by those who do not understand the business over which they are legislating and the problems which are involved in the practical application of the subject on which they are seeking legislation. There is nothing in this bill as now drawn, no matter what the intention may be, which would prevent two cities from entering competition to acquire the water supply in some outlying district, and for the one hundred or perhaps fifty voters in that outlying township, where the plant happens to be located, from holding up those two cities, or either one of them, for any price that they chose. This bill, it seems to me, because of the political constituencies where the plant is located, is a legal option without term of years to condemn at the pleasure the gas works or the water works located in that political subdivision. It seems to me that to subject other political subdivisions to the dictation of perhaps almost extortion, of the political bosses of some of these small neighborhoods, where these water supplies might be located, would be the most foolish type of legislation.

We have in our county among others, a number of very fine supplies of water, many of them owned by private companies and located near the boarders of the county. I have in mind one place where the number of registered voters in the township is not over two hundred, and where the number of votes cast at many elections does not exceed 50. It is hard for me to believe that the Legislature of Pennsylvania would want to subject some other community which wished to acquire a water supply to secure the approval of a majority of that little underpopulated district in which that water supply is located.

There is another feature to this bill which is very bad. That is briefly, this bill is what might be termed a confidence shaker. If there is anything that this country is suffering from at the present time, if there is anything which is holding back recovery it is the absolute insecurity of the investments of all kinds. If we are ever to see our way out of this depresson, we might as well recognize the two fundamental principles on which alone recovery can be based under the capitalistic system. The first of these is that only private employers in tremendous volume can take up a large number of the unemployed. The second is that private employment will only resume in large volume, when it can do so safely and profitably. You cannot expect recovery as long as bills of this type are going to be threatened. It will deprive them of their investments, especially when, as in this case, they shake the confidence of the person who now has the investment. They are not solving any problem for anybody but merely creating new problems. It must be recognized that the Legislature can grant power to do certain things, but it is equally true that the Legislature cannot by law grant the ability or the integrity to carry out those things.

People who are always clamoring for government control of everything must surely realize that they have a rather childish conception of government. Government is in turn controlled by politics, and government control, therefore, must at all times suffer both from the evils of political control and the evils of indirection. It is indirect political control. There is nothing in this bill which establishes any other control of these enterprises than common ordinary politics. Not only that, but it throws open the doors for the politicians of one locality to extend their domain of business into any part of the state of Pennsylvania. There is only one restriction, that is the politician of some other neighborhood has the first crack at this industry. I say to you, ladies and gentlemen, that there are a couple hundred million dollars in the state of Pennsylvania which would go back into private investments, an amount equal to or larger than the Governor's entire budget, which would be spent employing people usefully, profitably and continuously if a lot of this type of legislation were definitely and finally killed and disposed of.

This bill is bad for two reasons, it establishes a bad principle, that the communities can go out and compete with one another in the intervening districts in public utility enterprise without the regulation of anybody, and the second one is that it establishes operation of every water pipe and every gas works in the state of Pennsylvania in favor of the particular place it happens to be located, not in favor of the people which it serves. It is absolutely wrong and I ask you to vote against this bill.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am very much surprised to hear a member of this House get up and oppose a bill of this nature. I can understand that big utility companies would oppose a measure of this kind but I cannot believe that a man would get up here representing the people and say that the people in general were opposed to this kind of a measure, because public opinion today is absolutely opposed to big utilities and they want their own utilities. I believe that we are going to give them to them. If you do not do it this session they are going to get it the next session.

I would like to say in answer to the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Kane, in regard to putting the people back to work, the more plants that you have in the country, the more work you will have for the people to work at. You will have more machinery to build instead of centralizing all of your big utility plants in one big plant and furnishing all the municipalities with their power, their water or their gas, and then they charge any price that they want. If we operate our own plants we would probably pay no more than we are paying today for water from the big utilities, at the same time that amount of money will cover all our taxes, and that is practically true in this Commonwealth, in several places where municipalities will own and operate not only their own water and gas plants but also their own electrical light plants and I ask the members of this House, if you are not in favor of the big utilities, to vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, in the face of the statements from the gentleman from Allegheny, I suppose that I ought to rise with a certain amount of shrinking and trembling at the charges hurled against the great utilities of Pennsylvania in their desire to stifle legislation. It is always easy to attack a piece of legislation with glittering generalities. It is always easy to take a bill and say that this bill stands for a certain principle or a certain idea, and, based upon that statement to urge the passage of that measure, notwithstanding the things that are printed upon the pages of the bill. But to those of us who have been trained in these halls and particularly to those of us who are trained in the legal profession, a bill does not particularly represent the idea or the principal as much as it represents the words that are printed in it to carry out that idea or that principle.

I do not believe that there are many members of this House who will refute the idea that the municipalities have the right and they do have the right under the present law. There is no doubt of that, the right to construct and own and to operate their own gas and their own water plants. I am in accord with that idea if it can be properly carried out. But there is a danger in this bill, that while you are rapping at one side with the idea that you were going to do something to reduce the rates, that you were going to do something to put money into the coffers of particular municipalities, on the other hand, while you are trying to do that, you may be cutting holes in the bottom of the taxpayers' pockets, and that instead of putting money into the treasury of the municipality you may be causing a loss. Of course, there are municipalities in Pennsylvania that have made a success of municipal ownership. Of course, there are municipalities in the United States that have made a success of municipal ownership, but, my friends, this question, as was the question in the bill last night, that we fought over concerning the registration of voters, it is the personal equation that counts, not the question of legislation. Wherever municipal ownership has been successful, you will find that it has had a high priced management, that it has been free from graft, it has been willing to charge up against the rates charged to the consumers all the items that should be charged. But here there is no restriction upon a municapilty going into the general field of supplying water and gas; not to its own taxpayers who have to foot the bill, but go outside of their municipal limits and selling these commodities to people in the outside territory. That requires a degree of skill; that requires a high degree of management and it requires degrees of engineering. It is bad enough that the people in the local community are going to foot the bill for the municipally owned plant, if it does not happen to be operated at a profit, but when it goes out into the field in competition outside of their own limits they are going far afield from the idea of municipal ownership of their own public utilities. I think the great defect in this is not only that, but it gives them the opportunity to go outside, which entails to the taxpayers the cost, and it gives them the opportunity to go off without any hindrance in competition with other established industries, utilities, if you like. After all, those utilities are owned by their stockholders, and the bondholders have an interest in them, and the employees of those utilities, Mr. Moran, have an interest in that too, and in their jobs, just the same as men who might hope to get jobs from these municipally owned plants. They have a vested interest in that too. There is nothing that the public has an interest in. The rate payers in that district may be vitally affected by the entrance of the competing utility into the field. That would reduce the amount of gas and water consumed by the consumers of the privately owned utilities. It would vitally affect the rates. Therefore, there ought to be put into the bill, if this bill is to be passed, a provision with regard to the submission of that question to the Public Service Commission, because if "A" community decided to build its own gas plant and then goes down into "B" and "C" communities and they are already served by a privately owned utility, the rates of "B" and "C" may be vitally affected by that, and it will not reduce rates, but it will mean an increase in the receipts and a loss to the taxpayers in "A" community that builds its municipally owned plant. Let me give you a concrete example of the defects in this bill. As to the gas supply of manufacturers in the city of Chester, under this bill: if the municipal authorities in Chester decided to buy the gas plant and only sell this supply within the city of Chester, they cannot draw upon the rest of the supply in Delaware County, and by supplying the gas in the city of Chester, it would have to be brought in from some other place and it would have to be bought in Delaware County outside of the city of Chester, which would cause an increase in the rates to the people in Delaware County.

Another illustration, based upon what my good friend, Mr. Moran, has said, with the large amount of the supply of water in Delaware County, one of our townships in our country rural districts, if it were sought to secure their supply of water under this bill, the little township that may have nine hundred votes in that township may prevent them from securing the water.

There has been talk in Philadelphia of going up to the Pocono mountains to secure water. It might be possible for a small group of people in the Pocono mountains to defeat the object of Philadelphia in securing that supply of water, that is a mere handful of people, for a great metropolis of two million people. It is for this reason that this bill is bad. It is not because it promotes municipal ownership. It creates a burden upon the taxpayer that I don't think this Legislature has the right to impose at all, and I don't think this Legislature has the right to give any group of officials the right to impose it upon their people.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, if he has read the bill?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I have.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, if he understands this to be an enabling act?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, yes sir.

Mr. MORAN. The gentleman also understands from the reading of the bill, no municipality can hold or operate a plant or build a plant without the majority vote of the people of that municipality.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I do not so read the bill. I would be obliged if the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, would read the sections of the bill that so provide.

Might I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia to permit me to offer an explanation which I think will save his time and the time of the House?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed, if the statement is short. The gentleman from Allegheny has the floor for the purpose of interrogation.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I will yield the floor to the gentleman from Delaware.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, on page two line fourteen the gentleman undoubtedly refers to the words "No city, borough or town shall acquire by purchase or condemnation any publicly or privately owned water works or gas works and the appurtenances thereto located in any other city, borough or town except with the approval of the majority of the qualified voters of the city, borough or town in which the property to be acquired is located." That is the provision to which I just referred.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, that is right. Now, I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Speaker, one question. May I ask the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, whether or not he is interested in any way in the public utilities?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, at the request of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, I won't raise the point of order that these questions are becoming impertinent?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I will withdraw the question.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have no hesitency in answering the question of the gentleman from Allegheny. I have heard these questions answered a number of times during this session. I believe they are entirely out of order and not in keeping with the spirit of interrogation in this House. However, in order that there may be no misunderstanding or no thought that I am trying to duck the issue, I want to say to the gentleman from Allegheny I neither represent, either as a lawyer nor in any other capacity, nor do I own or have any shares of stock or bonds in any public utility in the State of Pennsylvania or any place else.

MOTION TO POSTPONE BILL

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was not agreed to.

Legislative Journal.

Session 1935. 131st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 18. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, MAY 1, 1935 No. 55

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, May 1, 1935.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Pro Tempore John G. Homsher) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O God, who art mindful of Thy children everywhere, reveal Thy mercy unto all men and remember, in Thy great good will, those for whom we now make intercession.

Remember Thy church which Thou has purchased of old. Peace be within her walls and prosperity within her palaces.

Remember Thy mercy and Thy truth toward the House of Israel, and let all the ends of the earth see the salvation of our God.

Remember our Nation and our Commonwealth which Thou hast established. Give wisdom and power from above to Thy servants on whom Thou hast laid the burden of authority, especially the President of the United States and the Governor of our State. Bind together the whole body of the Commonwealth in the unity of brotherhood.

Remember all the persecuted and afflicted; speak peace to troubled hearts; strengthen the weak, confirm the strong; instruct the ignorant, deliver the oppressed, relieve the needy that hath no helper; lead us all by the waters of comfort and the ways of righteousness to Thine everlasting rest, to the honor of Thy name. Amen.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. President, I merely wish to draw the attention of the members of the Senate that the public hearing that was announced for two weeks from last evening, at 8:00 o'clock in the evening, is in connection with the "Bill-board" bill. I have received, as Chairman of the Judiciary Special Committee numerous requests for a hearing, and it is manifestly impossible to answer them all. If the Senators from their respective districts will announce in the local press that this hearing is for two weeks from yesterday (May 14th), at 8:00 o'clock in the evening, it will save me, as Chairman, from answering all these communications as to when the public hearing is to be held.

RECESS

Mr. REED (Dauphin). Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 2:15 P. M.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

NAME OF WILLIAM PENN TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE ELECTORS OF HALL OF FAME

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 15, 1935.

Whereas William Penn as Proprietary came to Pennsylvania and organized the provincial and local government sat as first Governor on the Provincial Council Assembly and Courts exemplifying in these executive and legislative functions the principles of democracy which have had perpetual embodiment not only in the sovereign State he founded but in the Nation as well evidenced his statesmanship by promoting

1 The idea of religious toleration practiced on a greater and grander scale than ever before where the oppressed of all nations should have freedom and the opportunity to worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience

2 The establishment of a real democracy as seen in his various frames of government the latest of which the Charter of Privileges of one thousand seven hundred and one served the colony for seventy-five years and the new Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania of one thousand seven hundred and seventy-six is largely modeled upon it

4 Humane and just treatment of criminals particularly in the infliction of capital punishment

5 The suggestion of one central mint and a common value of coin throughout the American colonies

6 The settlement of the boundaries with France so as to give England the South side of the Saint Lawrence and the Great Lakes which settlement eventually established the present northern boundaries of the United States

7 The idea of federation of the colonies with suggestions which later were embodied in the Constitution of the United States

8 The idea of a Parliament of Nations

Therefore be it

Resolved That this Assembly in session this fifteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five endorses the submission to the Electors of the Hall of Fame for Great Americans the name of Pennsylvania's first Governor William Penn statesman for a place in such Hall of Fame Recommending to the Electorate honorable consideration of his contribution to the political thought of his time rarely if ever equaled

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 957, entitled:

An Act providing for the selection of jurors to serve in the several courts in counties of the first class providing for the organization of a board for superintending and managing the drawing and selecting of jurors and prescribing its powers and duties conferring powers and imposing duties and liabilities on the sheriff imposing duties on registration commissioners and prescribing penalties

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 112, as follows:

An Act relating to the relief of the burden of local taxation making an appropriation out of the Motor License Fund providing for the allocation thereof to cities incorporated towns boroughs and townships prescribing the time manner basis and purposes for and upon which said money shall be allocated and reallocated and paid specifying the uses for which said moneys may be expended and imposing powers and duties upon the Department of Highways the Auditor General State Treasurer and on cities boroughs towns and townships and officers thereof and providing penalties

Whereas There are one hundred and eight thousand miles of streets and roads in Pennsylvania and

Whereas The users of the said one hundred and eight thousand miles of streets and roads pay in the form of gasoline tax and motor license fees approximately seventy million dollars per annum and

Whereas The seventy million dollars thus collected from the users of all the streets and roads in the Commonwealth are being expended on only the thirty-five thousand miles of roads on the State system and

Whereas The remaining seventy-three thousand miles must be built and maintained primarily from funds raised through local taxes on real estate and

Whereas Because of the heavy traffic on the seventy-three thousand miles of city borough town and township roads and streets the local public officials are unable to keep the said roads and streets in a fit condition for the safety and convenience of the traveling public without further adding to the burden of the local taxpayer and

Whereas The cities towns boroughs and townships comprising the Commonwealth are in dire need of relief from the burden of local taxes and

Whereas An appropriation allocated to cities towns boroughs and townships of the Commonwealth will aid in reducing the burden of the local taxpayer and result in the improvement of the streets and roads for the safety convenience and economical operation of motor vehicles therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That this act shall be known and may be cited as the "Municipal Tax Relief Act"

The Heavens above declare the glory of God and the firmement showeth forth His handiwork. Day unto day uttereth speech and night unto night showeth knowledge. We thank Thee, Heavenly Father, for the spring season and for the hope or renewal of the new life that it will bring. We pray Thee that our spirit may experience that hope of new life that is guaranteed in Thy word; They that wait on the Lord shall renew their strength, they shall mount up on wings like eagles, they shall run and not grow weary, they shall walk and not faint. Bless us as we face the duties of this Session, and we pray Thy blessings upon the Speaker and the members of this House and their families and their friends. Through Jesus Christ our Lord and for His sake, Amen.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 25, 1935.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur) That there is hereby established the Joint Legislative Commission on Interstate Cooperation, whose function it shall be to perfect the participation of this State in the Council of State Governments, for the purpose of establishing and maintaining governmental machinery to facilitate communication, negotiation, understanding, and cooperation between the State of Pennsylvania and the other states of the Union, both regionally and nationally;

The Commission shall report to the Governor and to the Legislature on the first day of each regular legislative session, and at such other times as it deems proper. Its members shall serve without compensation, but they shall be paid their necessary expenses in carrying out their obligations under this resolution. It may employ a secretary and such other assistants as are needed in the performance of its duties, or it may share the expense of such employment with similar commissions of other states. An item of appropriation shall be inserted in the general appropriation law to pay such expenses and secretarial and clerical assistance;

The five members of the Committee on Interstate Cooperation of the Senate;

The five members of the Committee on Interstate Cooperation of the House of Representatives, and

Five officials of the State named by the Governor, one of whom shall be designated by him as the chairman of the Commission;

The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall forthwith communicate the text of this measure to the legislature of each of the other states of the Union, with the respectful request that each legislature shall enact a measure similar to this resolution, thus establishing a similar commission with like duties and powers, and thus joining with this State in the common cause of reducing the burdens which are imposed upon our citizens by governmental confusion, competition, and conflict.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

RESOLUTION NO. 123

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up Resolution No. 123, Printer's No. 814.

In the House of Representatives, April 15, 1935.

Whereas, William Penn as Proprietary came to Pennsylvania and organized the provincial and local government; sat as first Governor on the Provincial Council, Assembly and Courts, exemplifying in these executive and legislative functions the principles of democracy which have had perpetual embodiment not only in the sovereign State he founded, but in the Nation as well; evidenced his statesmenship by promoting:

1. The idea of religious toleration practiced on a greater and grander scale than ever before, where the oppressed of all nations should have freedom and the opportunity to worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience.
2. The establishment of a real democracy as seen in his various frames of government, the latest of which, the Charter of Privileges of 1701, served the colony for seventy-five years, and the new Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania of 1776 is largely modeled upon it.
3. Just and fair dealings with subordinate peoples.
4. Humane and just treatment of criminals, particularly in the infliction of capital punishment.
5. The suggestion of one central mint and a common value of coin throughout the American colonies.
6. The settlement of the boundaries with France so as to give England the South side of the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes, which settlement eventually established the present northern boundaries of the United States.
7. The idea of federation of the colonies with suggestions which later were embodied in the Constitution of the United States.
8. The idea of a Parliament of Nations.

Therefore be it

Resolved, That this Assembly, in session this 15th day of April, 1935, endorses the submission to the Electors of the Hall of Fame for Great Americans the name of Pennsylvania's first Governor, William Penn, statesman, for a place in such Hall of Fame. Recommending to the Electorate honorable consideration of his contribution to the political thought of his time rarely, if ever, equaled.

And it is hereby

Resolved Further, That the Governor of the Commonwealth be requested to forward forthwith a copy of this Resolution to "The College of Electors of the Hall of Fame," Dr. Robert Underwood Johnson, Director, 745 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

ELECTRICAL ROLL CALL SYSTEM

Mr. HARMUTH offered a resolution and asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk for the information of the House as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 1, 1935.

Whereas, It appears from experience in other states in the Union that the installation of an electrical roll call system in the legislative bodies of said states has proved entirely desirable and practical; and

Whereas, Because of its large membership, a great part of the time of the Pennsylvania House is taken up in roll calls; and

Whereas, It appears that the installation of an electrical roll call system would not only result in a great saving of time in the conduct of the business in the House of Representatives in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, but would result in a substantial saving of money to the taxpayers of the State; therefore, be it

Resolved, That an electrical roll call system be installed by the Department of Property and Supplies in the chamber of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania before the next Session of the General Assembly, such system to be substantially of the same kind and character as that which has heretofore been installed in the Capitols of Virginia, Wisconsin, Louisiana, Nebraska, Iowa, Texas, California, and West Virginia, all of which have adopted and installed an electrical roll call system; be it further

Resolved, That an item of appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies, sufficient to pay for the installation of said system, be included in the General Appropriation Bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Are there objections? The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted. The resolution will be filed with the Clerk under the rules.

RESOLUTION

RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 445 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. SCHROPE offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted.

In the House of Representatives, April 29, 193.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), that House Bill No. 445, Printer's No. 154, entitled "An act supplementing the act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred fifty-eight) entitled 'An act establishing a State employes' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing State employes defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon the heads of departments in which State employes serve excepting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties' by providing additional credit for service and prior service for State employes who were formerly employed as teachers principals or superintendents in the public school system of the Commonwealth," be recalled from the Governor for further consideration.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

SYMPATHY EXTENDED ON DEATH OF HON. CLYDE KELLY

Mr. WEISS offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted.

In the House of Representatives, May 1, 1935.

Honorable Clyde Kelly, legislator, statesman, newspaper editor and author, is dead as the result of an unfortunate accident;

In 1900 he founded the "Braddock Leader," later uniting it with the "Daily News" and "Evening Herald" under the name of "The Daily News Herald." He was elected as a member of the House of Representatives of this Commonwealth in 1910, and to Congress in 1912, in which body he served continuously for more than twenty years. During his long and memorable service in Congress he became the author of many postal laws and was known as the "father of the air mail laws." His three works in the field of literature—"Machine-Made Legislation," "Community Capitol" and "U. S. Postal Policy" are well known and standard texts;

In his public career he served the people of his community and this State ably and with distinction, and his passing leaves a void in his community that must remain unfilled; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House extend its profound sympathy to the members of the family of the Honorable Clyde Kelly, that this resolution be spread upon the Legislative Journal, and that a copy thereof be sent to the family of Honorable Clyde Kelly by the Chief Clerk of this House.

RESOLUTION NO. 136

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 136, Printer's No. 812.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 18, 1935.

Whereas, It is the opinion of many persons that a great part of the market for Pennsylvania bituminous coal has been lost by reason of high freight rates and the depreciation of foreign currencies, which make possible low price labor in those countries and lower cost of water transportation; and

Whereas, Railroads and other carriers involved would be largely compensated for any reduction in rates by the increased volume of bituminous coal which would be shipped as a result of restored markets for this commodity; and

Whereas, The House of Representatives has made every endeavor to uphold standards of working conditions and wages of the mining industry of Pennsylvania, which must inevitably suffer if the serious reductions of the bituminous market should continue and increase; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint seven members of the House of Representatives to constitute a committee, as non-political as possible, whose duty it shall be to investigate the cost of transportation from the bituminous producing regions of Pennsylvania to consumption points in maritime Canada and New England, and the seaports of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania; and that if said committee find that high rates have materially reduced or will materially reduce the market for Pennsylvania bituminous coal in competition with coal produced in Great Britain or other foreign countries or in competition with fuel oil selling at unreasonably low prices due to world wide over-production of cheap grades of crude oil to endeavor to secure lower freight rates to the markets above mentioned by negotiation with carriers involved and if necessary by requesting the Interstate Commerce Commission to revise and reduce such transportation rates as are within their jurisdiction; and be it further

Resolved, That said committee make its report to the House of Representatives at the present session of the Legislature; and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases.

RESOLUTION NO. 72

Mr. CANNON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 72, Printer's No. 833.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 27, 1935.

Whereas, The Northeast Section of the City of Philadelphia being an important section of the industrial Northeast District of Philadelphia; and

Whereas, The City of Philadelphia has on its files a complete survey together with a comprehensive plan for the rehabilitation of Frankford Creek; and

Whereas, There is need for an adequate highway from the Northeast Section of Philadelphia to the center of the city, therefore, the opening of Aramingo Boulevard and the repaving of Aramingo Boulevard and the repaving of East Lehigh Avenue B Street to Richmond Street and is still being requested; and

Whereas, The serious pollution of the Delaware River exists along the banks and docks due to the low capacity of the sewage disposal plant in the Forty-fifth ward, therefore, the said Northeast Section is still on the map seeking improvements necessary; and

Whereas, Employment still sought by those in distress, the projects requested would grant an opoprtunity to obtain domestic happiness by granting employment for the person willing to work.

Resolved, That the rehabilitation of the Frankford Creek, the opening of Aramingo Boulevard, the repaving of Aramingo Boulevard and Lehigh Avenue, and the enlargement of the city sewage treatment plant, be included in the inventory of the public projects as an economic value in this community in addition creating employment urging the Pennsylvania State Public Works administration to approve these projects; be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Pennsylvania State Public Works Administration by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. CANNON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

Amend as follows page 1, line 11, by striking out after the word "Avenue," the word "and" and insert in lieu thereof, the word "from"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution as amended?

It was adopted.

STATEMENT BY MR. BERNHARD

Mr. BERNHARD asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. SPeaker and members of the House, for the past three and one-half months I have listened to members talking about millions of people in Pennsylvania starving or who will starve if we do not pass certain tax measures. I have listened to statements from the Governor's office and from Washington stating that Federal Relief Administrator Hopkins would stop relief money for Pennsylvania if the Pennsylvania Legislature would not soon pass tax measures that would prove to him that Pennsylvania is willing to do its share in supplying funds.

The Democratic majority in the House state that the Governor's Tax program is the only program while the Republican Senate states, "May be so, but we doubt it."

We have spent all this time on temporary relief and have used but very little time in considering just why this elusive recovery is still "around the corner."

We who are labor representatives have our ideas just why we can not catch up with elusive bird. Let us go back to the period of the World War when we sent the able-bodied men to France. We were immediately confronted with a shortage of labor in this country. We were confronted with the fact that it was necessary to conscript members of the so-called weaker sex to perform work that was formerly done by men. Those who were here during the 1933 Session will remember a bill that was introduced that had for its purpose the prohibiting of women working in foundries. Even then there continued a shortage of labor.

The next step was the invention of machines to take care of this shortage. Then the war came to an end and an army of men returned to take their station in life. In many cases men replaced women in industries, but, not so with the machine. We still continued to invent labor-saving machines and devices that had for their purpose the easing of the burden of those who toil. A very good thought, but which has now turned out to be labor eliminating machines and devices. It has become an inhuman "Frankenstein" that is throttling labor instead of easing the burdens.

Let us go back a few short weeks when we were discussing bills that had a direct bearing on this question, namely, the "Train Limit" and "Full Crew" bills, the enormous big engines and the excessive long trains. A majority of the members of this House were ignorant as to just what was intended in the provisions of these two bills and the facts in connection with same. Many members came to me to explain just what we had in mind. This is just a very sample of what we mean by the machine, and the machine age.

Let us see some of the machines that are displacing labor. As we come and go from our homes over the highways we see huge road-building machines that mix the concrete, levels it out and smooths it out and on this as operators we probably find two men. A few years past we probably would have seen fifty men doing a similar job. What has become of the other forty-eight men? What has become of the thousands of men in my game that have been displaced by the use of big engines and excessive long trains.

Let us take the textile workers. Just a few years ago we had weavers who, if they could handle three or four looms, were considered wizards. Today we have weavers who handle from twenty to twenty-four automatic looms. What has become of the other odd eighteen or twenty weavers.

We go into a cafeteria and wait upon ourselves. We put a nickle in the slot and out comes a piece of pie. What has become of the waiters that have been displaced? We dial our own 'phone numbers. There are hundreds of similar cases.

We have no intention of asking you to do away with the machine. But we would like to bring to you the concrete facts so that you will be in a position to know what we have in mind.

As a representative of Labor I had introduced a bill on January 14 known as House Bill 64, that has for its purpose a study of this vital question, and to bring facts to the attention of the next session of the Legislature. Again I want to state that we do not want to do away with the machine, but, if the machine is displacing labor, and that labor can not be absorbed in some other industries it behooves us to take some action such as taxing that machine to a certain extent to help take care of labor that has been displaced for a certain length of time and in equalization of work.

I need not go into these facts any further. I have talked to the Chairman of this Democratic controlled committee on a number of occasions. I have also talked with members of the sub-committee, but without result. It still is in committee. I had in mind at one time to ask for a discharge of committee from further consideration of this bill. But I have changed my mind. I just want to call to your attention that labor is vitally interested in this bill, and that labor believes that the machine is a vital factor in this age of depression, and that we will not have complete recovery until such a time as we do give this important question lots of study.

That is just why this bill was drafted and introduced. It still lies dormant in committee. The responsibility is yours. It is worthy of your consideration. The Committee on State Government will please take heed.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILLS NOS. 450, 1021 AND RESOLUTION 79

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 30, 1935.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed the following:

House Bill No. 450, Printer's No. 753, entitled, "An act to amend section two of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws four hundred eight), entitled 'A supplement to the twenty-fourth section of an act entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation approved the seventh day of June one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine amending the twenty-fourth section by providing for the payment by the State Treasurer of one-half of the two per centum tax on premiums paid by foreign fire insurance companies to the treasurers of the several cities and boroughs within this Commonwealth' as amended providing for payments to relief fund associations of fire departments and fire companies of cities boroughs and townships which afforded fire protection to near or adjacent boroughs and townships."

House Bill No. 1021, Printer's No. 481, entitled, "An act to amend section three of the act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred one) entitled 'An act authorizing the State Highway Department the Public Service Commission counties cities boroughs and townships to purchase or condemn by the right of eminent domain free and unobstructed view over and across at certain highway railroad and railway intersections and curves so as to prevent and permit removal of interference with and obstruction of the vision of users of said highways and providing for the use of such lands in such manner as not to interfere with a free and unobstructed view' by providing for condemnation proceedings and assessment of damages."

Resolution No. 79 of the House of Representatives and Senate urging the administrative authorities in charge of the printing for the Commonwealth to be printed on stationery envelopes and other desk materials used by the various branches of the State Government in printing shops that can furnish the Allied Printing Trades Council Label or Typographical Union Label and that such labels be displayed thereon.

GEORGE H. EARLE.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Venango will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to explain my absence yesterday. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, since we came down here Monday I have undergone an attack of quincy, and it is very difficult for me to speak. Yesterday I was out all day. I understand that during my absence House Bill 104 was under consideration, and the question was raised as to some members ducking the vote on this bill. I just desire to state that I did not duck a vote on this bill but that it was impossible for me to be in my seat at that time. Had I been here I should have voted "No" on House Bill No. 104.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2489, entitled:
